AWAIT F.D.R. MOVE ON MINES

Beef Ration Slashed from 35 to 26 Oz.

NEW SCALE SET TO FORCE SHIFT IN MEAT DIET

Program Effective for 28 Days.

Beef eaters will eat other foods or leave the dinner table hungry in the 28 days starting Sunday as the result of increases in beef ration point values as much as 37½ per cent by the office of price administration, the third official meat, fats, fish, and cheese ration chart disclosed last night.

Consumers who limit their meat dishes to beefsteaks or certain roasts will find their weekly meat ration is 22 to 26 ounces, compared with the 35 ounce per week average allotment anticipated last fall by the OPA.

Revision Effective Sunday.

The revised ration point table becomes effective next Sunday and expires July 3. It contains point value increases of 1 to 4 points a pound for 44 meat cuts, and reductions of mostly 1 point a pound for 32 other cuts, predominantly the variety meats.

The housewife will have to pay 3 points a pound more for porterhouse, T-bone, rib, sirloin, round, and flank steak. If she buys a pound of boneless sirloin or round steak for each member of her family, she will use up 12 points, or 75 per cent of each one's weekly allotment of 16 points.

Major Changes in Brief.

Major changes in the new ration chart, in addition to the increased point values, include:

1. Inclusion of canned evaporated and condensed milk, with a one point a pound value. Rationing of canned milk started yesterday.

2. Creamed soft cheeses — cream cheese, neufchatel, and creamed cottage cheese containing more than 5 per cent butterfat—are added to the rationed cheeses at 3 points a pound.

3. Canned crabmeat, sea herrings, sea mussels and miscellaneous canned fish are eliminated. Canned fish point values generally are raised. 1 point a pound.

Dealers Charge Confusion.

Addition of canned milk to the meat ration list and further manipulation of point values were assailed by John A. Kotal, secretary-treasurer of the National Association of Retail Meat Dealers in Chicago. He said the meat industry's demand that dairy, fish, and other foods be separated from meat have been ignored by OPA.

"Adding new foods to the meat ration list deprives the housewife of red stamps with which she is attempting to buy meat for her family," Kotal said. "The OPA is continuing to confuse the rationing program with unnecessary complexities. A simplified system of granting coupons for a specified number of pounds or ounces of meat could do the trick without this periodic juggling of the ration points.

"What's the good of raising the beef point values if butchers in many communities can't get beef anyway? All that the OPA has accomplished is to overwhelm butchers with petty details that require 40 million man hours a year in counting ration stamps, keeping records, and tearing stamps out of customers' books."

OIL EXECUTIVES TRY HANDS AS BUCK PRIVATES

Fort Belvoir, Va., June 2 (AP).—Greeted by an army band playing "This Is the Army, Mr. Jones," 72 oil industry executives arrived at this army post today to don fatigue outfits and live a day with the soldiers who are fighting a war powered largely by the gasoline they produce.

Brig. Gen. Edwin H. Marks, commanding general at Fort Belvoir, told the visitors they would eat, sleep, maneuver, and go thru field exercises with regular enlisted troops of the engineer replacement training center here.

"But," he warned, "we are not any of us as young as we once were, and I don't want you to do anything unless you feel up to it."

PASS TAX BILL AMIDST BLASTS AT ROOSEVELT

Unity Undeserved, Says Vandenberg.

TAX BILL EXPLAINED. What will be deducted from weekly pay envelopes and the amounts of "forgiveness" on 1942 income taxes are shown in tables on page 11.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 2.—Amid criticism of President Roosevelt and the treasury department for lack of coöperation and intrusion in a legislative matter, the senate today passed and sent to the White House the new pay-as-you-go income tax legislation including a 20 per cent withholding tax beginning July 1.

The chamber's approval of a compromise conference agreement, allowing at least 75 per cent abatement of 1942 tax liability for everybody and full 100 per cent forgiveness in the lower brackets, marked the end of one of the bitterest congressional controversies of recent history.

Vote Overwhelming.

Passage on a final roll call was by the decisive vote of 62 to 19, with 31 Republicans and 31 Democrats overwhelming opposition from 17 Democrats, 1 Republican, and 1 Progressive.

Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] told his colleagues that the G. O. P. members of the conference committee had signed the report on the legislation "in behalf of war unity—which the administration always demands but too frequently neglects to encourage or deserve." The conferees were faced, he explained with the choice of a compromise between the house and senate bills or no legislation at all.

The senate approved measure contained the Ruml skip-a-year plan allowing complete abatement of 1942 taxes for every one in order to achieve currency while the house bill provided only partial forgiveness on a sliding scale.

Asks Future Coöperation.

"To the President and the treasury I respectfully recommend a greater willingness to play 'team ball' with congress in meeting our further fiscal emergencies," Vandenberg said.

According to an announcement made from the house floor yesterday, before that chamber approved the bill Mr. Roosevelt has indicated he will sign the measure after which it will become law, representing the most drastic revision of the income tax system in its 30 year history. It will enable all individual taxpayers to become current in two years without the compulsion of paying two years' taxes in one.

GERMANS HURL 500 WARPLANES AT KURSK BASE

LONDON, June 3 [Thursday] (AP).—The Germans hurled 500 planes against the big central Russian base of Kursk yesterday in five attacks, losing 123 of them, the Moscow radio announced early today. The Russians reported losing 30 defending fighters in the series of battles.

Announcement of this display of axis sky strength caused immediate speculation on German intentions at a time when allied observers were seeking the answer to two questions—the reason for a delay in the expected summer German offensive in Russia, and the disposal of the major part of the carefully husbanded axis air fleet.

Casualties and an undisclosed amount of damage were acknowledged by the Russians at Kursk, which is a feeder point for Red army units long threatening Orel to the north and the southern approaches to Bryansk to the northwest.

Moscow's midnight communique had little to say of other action, mentioning only scattered engagements from the Caucasus to the Leningrad sector, and reporting without details that "fighting continued" in the German held Kuban bridgehead of the Caucasus.

MANEATER IN THE MAKING

GRIL, 4, FOUND IN CHEF'S ROOM

Taken from Her North Side Home.

BULLETIN.

Nancy Parker, 4 years old, 111 Bellevue place, was found shortly before 2:30 o'clock this morning, a kidnap victim, in a room at 1377 East 57th street. Hyde Park police arrested a man identified as Howard Jacquith, 42 years old, a chef, who was last seen with her on the near north side about 7 p. m. Nancy did not appear to have been harmed, police said. The rescue of the girl resulted from clews obtained by a Tribune reporter.

Police and neighbors were searching the near north side and Oak street beach early today for Nancy Parker, 4 years old, of 111 Bellevue place, who has been missing from home since 3 p. m. yesterday. She was seen later, however, in the neighborhood at 6:30 p. m. in the company of an elderly woman.

Nancy, who was 4 May 11, was wearing a pink dress, black patent leather slippers, and white socks. She is 3 feet tall and blue eyed, with blonde curly hair. Her father, Frank Parker, is in an officers' training school at the air base at Fresno, Cal. In private life he was an insurance salesman.

Leaves Home on Tricycle.

According to the child's mother, Mrs. Leona Parker, Nancy left home about 3 p. m. on her tricycle. She was in the habit of riding around the block, but usually stayed near home, her mother said. No alarm was felt until she failed to return about 6 p. m. Then her tricycle was found abandoned near the house.

Search was begun, and neighbors reported seeing her in company of an elderly woman near a florist shop at Rush street and Bellevue place. A later report placed the child in a near-by restaurant.

Knows Own Address.

"Nancy knows her own name and address, and so wouldn't be lost," said Mrs. Parker. "She's intelligent enough to have told someone where she lived if that were the case. We've inquired of all our friends and neighbors in hopes she might have been with one of them overnight, but no one saw her."

Mrs. Parker has three other children, Patricia, 13; David, 10, and Freddie, 8.

Farmer Raises Bumper Crop of 12 Sons for War

Clarksdale, Miss., June 2 (AP).—The draft called Sherman Jenkins' sons one at a time until it took all 12. Jenkins, 65 year old tenant farmer, told of his contribution to the war while paying his taxes at the Leflore county sheriff's office. His boys range in age from 19 to 39 years.

Mother Drowns Two Sons and Self on Rowboat Ride

Mrs. Libby Gamson Corren, 34 years old, a physician's wife, drowned her two small sons and herself in Lake Michigan yesterday, a half mile off 74th street, where she had rowed in a boat rented from two school boys.

She left a note at her home, 7650 Crandon avenue, asking forgiveness for her act, and declaring that she and the children were ill and that "it is impossible for me to go on any longer."

Her husband, Dr. Herman Corren, also 34, who has offices at 4655 Michigan avenue, collapsed three times in the Grand Crossing police station where police took a statement from him before sending him home. He said he was "mystified" by the tragedy and unable to account for his wife's act.

Drag Lake for Bodies.

Coast guardsmen, who for about nine hours had dragged the lake for the three bodies, gave up the task at 9 p. m. They found the boat, with Mrs. Corren's purse and some children's clothing, afloat in the lake, its oars dangling. Police said they believed Mrs. Corren pushed her sons, Allan, 2, and Jay, 4, into the lake and jumped in after them.

Mrs. Freda Lappe of 7720 Prairie avenue, a sister of Mrs. Corren, said she had been distraught over Allan's health, altho Dr. Corren said the child had only a minor ailment he described as a bronchial cough.

Mrs. Lappe said Allan had had a temperature for two months. She said she had been going to Mrs. Corren's home for several weeks to prepare food and take care of the children because Mrs. Corren was too ill to do the work. She said that Dr. Corren and his wife were very happy and had had no marital trouble.

Maid Quits Her Job.

Mrs. Corren's maid, Mrs. Lulu Smith, Negro, 6330 Rhodes avenue, confirmed the sister's account of Mrs. Corren's anxiety over Allan. She said she quit work at the Corren home Tuesday because Mrs. Corren had been so distraught. She last saw her at 8 p. m. Tuesday, she said. Mrs. Corren was sitting in the kitchen, her head between her hands, gazing at the wall, she said.

Dr. Corren told police his wife had been suffering from lack of sleep, but that she gave no indication of her intentions when he talked to her at 11 a. m. yesterday.

Mrs. Corren and her two sons appeared about 11:30 a. m. yesterday at the 74th street beach. There she shouted to John Hirsch, 13, of 2614 East 73d street, and Frank O'Neil, also 13, of 7370 South Shore drive, who were rowing off the beach in a small boat owned by O'Neil's brother, Billy, 12.

Rents Boat from Boys.

Mrs. Corren asked them where she could rent a boat "to give her children a ride," the boys said. Finally she rented their boat for $1. They warned her not to go out too far because of an off-shore breeze.

"Does the water get deep fast here?" O'Neil said she asked him. He replied that it did. He said Mrs. Corren, who was wearing a dark suit, did not appear nervous or flustered. The oldest child was dressed in an overall type sun suit.

The boys, who were enjoying a holiday from their parochial school, grew alarmed when Mrs. Corren rowed a half mile out in the lake, and ran to the Beach and Tennis club, 7401 South Shore drive. They asked club attendants to telephone the coast guard and attempted to set out in pursuit of Mrs. Corren in a club boat drawn up on the beach.

Hirsch said he saw Mrs. Corren beating the water with an oar and saw only one child in the boat. He said he and O'Neil borrowed binoculars at the club but were unable to see clearly because of the distance.

While the two boys were searching for oarlocks for the club boat it is believed that Mrs. Corren and the children disappeared over the side.

JAPS TO EXPAND PRODUCTION OF WAR MATERIALS

New York, June 2 (AP).—Calling the war situation "extremely grave," Premier Hideki Tojo has ordered a major overhaul of the Japanese industrial structure, a Tokio broadcast said tonight.

"The demands for increased production of vital war materials have become extremely urgent and important," the broadcast said.

The Japanese cabinet was reported to have approved a master reorganization blueprint calling for the consolidation of all production and the expansion of undeveloped war industries.

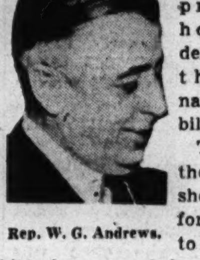
Ex-Legislator of Rumania Interned as Spy, Say Nazis

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The German radio said in a broadcast yesterday that Constantin Bursan, former Liberal member of the Rumanian chamber of deputies and friend of former Premier George Tatarescu, had been arrested and interned in the Bucharest military prison on a charge of having made contact with British and American agents. The broadcast said Bursan was shadowed on trips to Istanbul where he ostensibly was engaged in negotiations for ships to transport several thousand Rumanian Jews to Palestine.

Mine Tieup Spurs Bill to Ban Strikes

BY WILLIAM MOORE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Rep. W. G. Andrews.

Washington, D. C., June 2.—Gravely stirred by the peril in which the coal strike has placed the war program, the house began debate today on the Smith-Connally anti-strike bill.

The temper of the house was shown when efforts were made to keep the bill, bitterly opposed by labor leaders, from being brought out on the floor. The members voted 211 to 163 to accept the military affairs committee's unanimous approval of the bill and bring it to a vote without delay.

In the debate that followed, the administration was rebuked for interference with the bill and with previous similar legislation, particular attention being accorded the objections made to the bill by the war and navy departments, the maritime commission and other government agencies.

Administration Hit.

Rep. Walter G. Andrews [R., N. Y.], ranking minority member of the committee, charged that representatives of the government agencies made their protest after meeting at the request of Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, and expressed the opinion that the objection would not have been made without her influence.

Rep. Dewey Short [R., Mo.] told the house the bill would not have been necessary if the executive branch had stood firm against strikes.

"The President," he said, "has the power to stop strikes. Why does he fail to act? Could it be the half million dollars raised by John L. Lewis for the 1936 campaign?

"Who's U. S. Boss?"

"If some people were as interested in winning the war as in a fourth term, we should not be debating this bill today."

Who is the boss of the United States; is it John Lewis or President Roosevelt?" today inquired Sen. Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] in a statement.

Byrd said that Mr. Roosevelt had used "brave words" on May 2 when he called for resumption of mining and when he took over the mines.

"What hidden power has John L. Lewis so that he, and he alone, can defy the government of the United States in an hour of the greatest peril this nation has ever faced?" demanded Byrd.

The anti-strike bill, embodying the Connally bill, already passed by the senate, forbids strikes or lockouts in plants producing articles for the war effort until the disputants have had a 30 day "cooling off" period. That is, employés would be forbidden to put a strike into effect until 30 days after voting to strike and notifying the secretary of labor of their purpose and their reasons.

Requires Financial Data.

The bill would also ban labor terrorists from using threats or violence and prevent "stranger picketing," picketing by nonemployés, or by labor leaders not affiliated with the disputing local union.

Labor unions would be required to file with the national labor relations board financial statements, the names of their officers, and the number of members.

Should the war labor board take jurisdiction over a labor dispute which it finds threatens the war program the board, under the bill, would have power to maintain the status quo—forbid a strike or lockout while it retains jurisdiction.

ASKS 8TH GRADE EDUCATION RULE FOR LAWMAKERS

Springfield, Ill., June 2 (AP).—A bill to require Illinois legislators to have an eighth grade education was introduced today in the house by Rep. J. S. Mundy [D., Marshall].

Mundy said he knew of two legislators within the last 10 years who could neither read nor write. "One," he added, "got himself elected three times."

Mundy said the only requirements now are that a legislator be 21 years old, a citizen, and a resident of his district.

SEEKS WAY OUT IN TALKS WITH ICKES AND WLB

Lewis Hits Board for 'Illegal' Act.

Washington, D. C., June 2 (AP).—President Roosevelt was authoritatively reported tonight to be prepared to order the nation's striking coal miners tomorrow to go back to work at current rates of pay pending settlement of their demands thru peaceful channels.

Wayne L. Morse.

Such action, if taken, would fully sustain the war labor board's position in the coal wage controversy with John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers.

Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes, as fuel administrator and government operator of the mines, may be directed at the same time to have all mine properties open and to make work available on a given day specified by the President, informed sources said.

F. D. R. Gets All Data.

The President tonight received a full report on the strike at a conference lasting more than an hour and a half. At the conference were James F. Byrnes, war mobilization director; Ickes, seven members of the war labor board, and Abe Fortas, undersecretary of the interior.

Ickes, it was reported, advocated offering the miners $1 a day immediately as a settlement of their portal-to-portal [underground travel] pay demand. It was understood the proposal was rejected on grounds it would be a circumvention of the WLB and the generally accepted processes for settling labor disputes.

Principals Are Silent.

All the conferees brushed aside inquiries from reporters, and Presidential Secretary Stephen Early said "there is nothing to say."

The case landed at the White House in a bitter exchange of words between the war labor board and John L. Lewis, leader of the 500,000 idle miners.

The board, calling a halt to further collective bargaining until the strike ceases, turned the case over to the President, declaring that the United Mine Workers were flouting the law of the land and the "no strike" pledge.

Then the White House made public a letter from Wayne L. Morse, public member of the board, to President Roosevelt, asserting:

"This strike has no parallel since Pearl Harbor insofar as a reckless and wanton disregard of the no strike agreement is concerned.

No Parallel in History.

"Viewed from the standpoint of its damage to the war effort and its serious threat to the maintenance of government by law and order, this strike probably has no parallel in American history. . . .

"It is the opinion of the war labor board that the fundamental issue in this case involving the supremacy of law is perfectly clear and must be met by the government."

Lewis hit back with a charge that the war labor board was acting illegally, a charge recalling recent hints that he might bring action against it under the Wagner labor relations act. He said the WLB's order calling off negotiations was in conflict with the Wagner act, legalizing collective bargaining, and was a "malicious interfering action, designed to prolong the controversy."

Fate of Policy at Stake.

"On June 1," he added, "Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes, custodian of the coal mines under order of the President, telegraphed the coal operators and the UMW instructing them to reach a speedy conclusion of the negotiation of a new agreement in order to insure the continuous production of coal. The UMW is in support of and in compliance with this request."

The labor board left no doubt that it considered the fate of the government's whole war time labor policy was at stake in the current struggle. In a statement, it cited that it had repeatedly directed that coal production should continue thruout the negotiations, yet the miners had kept alive the threat

ARGUMENTS BAR WAY TO UNITY OF FRENCH GROUPS

De Gaulle, Giraud Group Decides to Meet Today.

ALGIERS, Algeria, June 2 (AP).—The six man executive committee headed jointly by Generals Charles de Gaulle and Henri Giraud decided tonight to meet tomorrow and declare itself the governing body of all French territory outside axis domination.

Adm. Emile Museller.

Heated arguments between the two French blocs striving for unity caused the collapse of plans to formalize the existence of the committee today, but after further conversations a definite agreement was reached for holding the session tomorrow morning.

This decision apparently meant that De Gaulle had yielded in his demand that a purge of some Giraud officials, whom he regards as pro-Vichy, be carried out beforehand.

Produces Strange Situations.

The political maneuvering has produced some strange situations.

Today, for instance, Vice Adm. Emile Museller, who once was placed under house arrest by De Gaulle when he broke with the Fighting French leader, found himself a deputy to Giraud and as such charged with maintaining security here—in other words the forces under him were guarding De Gaulle's movements.

Marcel Peyrouton, former Vichy minister of the interior and Giraud appointed governor general of Algeria, is the central figure in one clash between De Gaulle and Giraud.

Yielding to Fighting French pressure, Peyrouton yesterday submitted his resignation to both De Gaulle and Giraud, but the unexplained timing of his letters caused repercussions.

De Gaulle Releases News.

De Gaulle received Peyrouton's note before midnight, promptly accepted it, assigned him to a colonial captaincy in the infantry of Syria—Fighting French territory—and then released the news.

Hours later Giraud also received Peyrouton's resignation note since he is co-president of the new executive committee and will alternately preside with De Gaulle.

Giraud told Peyrouton to remain temporarily in his post as governor-general of Algeria, thus countermanding the De Gaulle assignment to Syria.

Giraud not only told Peyrouton to stay on his job, but followed thru with the appointment of Adm. Museller, regarded as a bitter foe of De Gaulle.

Allied Envoys' Aims.

Besides De Gaulle and Giraud, the other four members thus far appointed to the executive committee are Andre Philip and Rene Massigli, members of De Gaulle's Fighting French national committee, and Gen. Alphonse-Joseph Georges and Jean Monnet from Giraud's camp.

Three members will be added later, including Gen. Georges Catroux, liaison officer approved by both groups.

American Minister Robert Murphy and British Minister Harold MacMillan tonight gave their views on the situation. MacMillan said their joint program in North Africa sought to use Africa as a point of further attacks on the axis, to help local authorities on economic problems, and to aid French elements toward unity and establishment of a régime to serve until France is liberated.

RESPECT HUMAN RIGHTS IN BOMB WAR, POPE ASKS

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The Rome radio quoted Pope Pius XII. in an address to the college of cardinals on his name day yesterday as exhorting the belligerents to respect the laws of humanity in the air war.

"We who since the beginning of the conflict have done all that was in our power to induce the belligerents to respect the laws of humanity in the aerial war now believe it to be our duty to exhort them once more to observe these laws," the radio quoted him.

"Every word addressed by us to the competent authorities and every allusion made by us in public should be seriously considered in the interest of the victims, so as not to render their situation—even unintentionally—more serious and more insupportable."

100 SACKS OF SPUDS STOLEN.

Carl Franks of Marengo, McHenry county, reported to police yesterday that a truck loaded with 100 sacks of potatoes purchased in the Randolph market and valued at $475 had been stolen from Aberdeen and Randolph streets while he was eating his lunch. He said a boy he had hired to drive the truck was missing.

FEAR U.S., WINNER OF AFRICAN WAR, IS LOSING PEACE

Feel De Gaulle Triumphs in Political Battle.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 2.—Deep concern was expressed in high official circles today that the United States is losing the peace in Africa altho it won the war there.

Gen. Henri Giraud, American sponsored commander in chief, apparently is losing the struggle for leadership of the French empire to Gen. Charles de Gaulle, British sponsored leader of the Fighting French forces, it was said.

Observers here feel that a victory for De Gaulle will put the British rather than the Americans in the saddle in Africa, altho the military campaign there could not have been successful without American initiative.

Military Circles Unconcerned.

In military circles there was little concern over the outcome of the struggle for the political control of North Africa. It was said that the primary American objective was the defeat of the axis forces. Now that this objective has been accomplished, a high officer said, it is of little moment from the military standpoint who rules Africa.

The state department has had almost no voice in African politics, altho it has been blamed for the sponsorship of Adm. Jean François Darlan, since assassinated, and Gen. Giraud.

Adm. Darlan was set up by Gen. Eisenhower in what has since been recognized as a political master stroke which saved many American lives and sped up the conquest of the Nazi Afrika Korps.

The establishment of Giraud is generally recognized as the work of President Roosevelt and the White House palace guard, including Harry Hopkins.

Hint Agreement Goes Awry.

It is known that North African politics was on the agenda of the recent Roosevelt-Churchill conference here. It was understood that Churchill, at the request of the President, had agreed to withdraw support from De Gaulle and give Giraud the lead in reorganizing the French empire.

What happened to this agreement is not quite clear, according to high government sources. Either British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden was not advised of the reported agreement or chose to ignore it. Under the British system of government the foreign minister does not necessarily have to act at the direction of the prime minister.

At any length Eden brought Giraud and De Gaulle together. It was reported that the suggestion for a meeting met with no objection from the White House or the state department.

Not until the meeting was well under way did it become apparent to officials here that De Gaulle was coming out on top and then it was too late to do anything, it was said.

Predict U. S. Will Lose.

In the next few days, it was predicted, it will become increasingly clear that Giraud is being pushed out and De Gaulle is taking over with a corresponding loss of American influence in North Africa as a logical result, it was said.

This government probably will take no steps to interfere, it was predicted, but will accept the diplomatic loss without protest, charging the same up to experience.

It was reported that Eden is in Africa and that Churchill had joined him or soon would. It is known that the British are vitally interested in the control of North Africa, because British leaders are aware Britain can no longer control the Mediterranean lifeline in the days of aviation by bases at Gibraltar, Malta, and Egypt, but must have a chain of bases covering the entire sea route.

Giraud Sends 10 Million on Lend-Lease Account

Washington, D. C., June 2 (AP).—Gen. Henri Giraud has sent another check to the lend-lease administration as part payment for essential civilian supplies sent to French North Africa by the United States. It is for $10,000,000; a check for $15,000,000 was received late in April.

Lend-lease Chief Edward R. Stettinius Jr., said essential civilian supplies sent so far to North Africa by this country had an approximate value of $35,000,000.

R.O.T.C. CADET PARADE DRAWS CHEERING CROWD

Tilden Leads Two Hour March Spectacle.

Parading in review before their commanding officer, Maj. Gen. Henry S. Aurand, head of the 6th service command, 11,344 Chicago high school R. O. T. C. cadets yesterday provided an inspiring two hour spectacle for thousands who assembled in Michigan avenue to cheer them.

Headed by the Tilden High school battalion, winner of first place in the military proficiency competition seven times in the last eight years, the parade started from Balbo drive at noon, marched north to Randolph street, and disbanded east in Grant park.

Colors Presented.

Before the parade Gen. Aurand presented the national colors and school flags to Col. Smith A. Funk, cadet commander at Tilden, and Lt. Col. Russell Neff, cadet commander at Senn High school, winner of second place. The colors were the gift of THE TRIBUNE, which coöperated with the Chicago board of education in sponsoring the annual parade.

Turning into Michigan avenue from Balbo drive, the assembly point, the cadets marched two blocks to the Congress plaza in Grant park, where the reviewing stand was located. Across Michigan avenue, windows of the towering Stevens and Congress hotels were filled with soldiers attending the army air forces technical training schools.

Flanking Gen. Aurand in the reviewing stand were Col. William F. Morrison, professor of military science and tactics in Chicago public high schools, Col. William H. McCarty, Lt. Col. C. L. Jordan, United States marines; Col. J. F. Butler, Lt. Col. Samuel D. Ringsdorf, First Officer Doris E. Epperson and Capt. W. M. Dewey, the general's aide.

Also Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE; James B. McCahey, president of the board of education, and Dr. William H. Johnson, superintendent of schools.

Chicago May Be Proud.

"Chicago may well be proud of her R. O. T. C. cadets," said Gen. Aurand. "The parade was excellent and the best junior effort I ever have seen. By their alertness and military bearing the cadets showed that they have taken their training more seriously than before Pearl Harbor."

Dr. Frederick E. Price, principal of Tilden, credited his school's repeated winning of first place to Sergt. Michael Moore, who has been in charge of Tilden cadets, and to the inspiring leadership of Cadet Col. Funk.

"Tilden's victory did not come easily," said Dr. Price. "Those boys worked long and hard to attain their honor. The cadet officers studied and drilled before and after school every day thruout the term."

David M. Davidson, principal of Senn, congratulated Dr. Price on Tilden's victory and promised his school would try even harder next year to take first place. "I feel that the influence of THE TRIBUNE in supporting the R. O. T. C. is a very fine thing," said Davidson.

BRITISH MAKE 2 NAVAL ATTACKS ON PANTELLERIA

American 'Forts' Keep Up Steady Pounding.

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, June 2 (AP).—Shrieking shells from British warships have crashed into harbor defenses of Pantelleria in two heavy bombardments and American Flying Fortresses have delivered coördinated air blows within two days on that nearest Italian outpost to Africa, it was announced today.

In neither of their successful bombardments of the island, which lies 45 miles off the Tunisian coast and 60 miles short of Sicily, did the British suffer casualties.

Shore Batteries Reply.

The harbor area, Italian barracks and batteries of Pantelleria were hard hit overnight on Sunday, Monday, and again yesterday. The first bombardment, said the allied communique, was carried thru without effective opposition. In the second, enemy shore batteries replied weakly.

While Flying Fortresses supported yesterday's surface attack, Pantelleria was raided from dawn to dark without letup. American medium bombers and fighter bombers joining the fortresses in sweeps carried out on the average of every two hours.

Sicily and Sardinia also remained under attack in the unbroken allied air offensive. Heavily damaged were the Italian seaplane base on Stagnone island, off the western tip of Sicily between Trapani and Marsala; shipping in the Sardinian harbors of Terranova, Porto Ponte di Romano, and Porto Torres.

Hoosiers Score at Stagnone.

At Stagnone a considerable number of enemy seaplanes were destroyed or damaged, and three enemy boats were set afire in the harbor.

[The Italians officially acknowledged serious damage to buildings in the Pantelleria bombardment, but claimed damage to a British destroyer by Italian coastal fire. Widespread destruction by allied air raids also was conceded by the Italians, who listed Naples as one of the cities attacked again.]

BRITISH SHIPPING TO BE BUILT UP AFTER WAR, COMMONS TOLD

LONDON, June 2.—An admission that the British post-war shipping policy "does not depend upon ourselves alone, but must be discussed with other nations," was made by P. J. Noel Baker, parliamentary secretary of the ministry of war transport, in the house of commons today. Emanuel Shinwell, Laborite, asked him if he were aware "of statements recently made by members of the United States maritime commission "that at the end of the war the American mercantile marine will be the largest and fastest in the world, and whether any action has been taken to maintain the position of the British mercantile marine in preparation for the post-war situation.

Baker admitted that he had seen the statements and said:

"In shipbuilding, as in other spheres, the productive resources of this country and the United States have been jointly applied to the greatest advantage to the war effort, and I am glad to have this opportunity of expressing the gratitude we all feel for the magnificent contribution made by the United States by its astonishing output of merchant ships. We are resolved that after the war Britain shall continue to serve the world with a large and efficient merchant navy."

R. A. F. ATTACKS 11 LOCOMOTIVES AND 14 VESSELS

LONDON, June 2 (AP). — British fighter planes shot up 11 locomotives and 10 barges and destroyed an armed trawler and damaged three in sweeps today over northern France and off the Dutch coast.

Five British planes were lost.

Ten persons were believed killed in an East Anglian town bombed early today by German aircraft. Four were killed in one street, a great section of which was shattered by one bomb. British Spitfires downed one of the invaders. The German communique identified the Nazis' target as Margate, on the southeast coast. It also said the Isle of Wight was attacked.

TELLS OF ALLIES' PERIL AT FAID AND KASSERINE

Thompson Traces Course of Two Battles.

[This is the fifth of a series of stories by The Tribune's war correspondent, John Thompson, on the allied campaign in North Africa. Thompson became the world's first parachute reporter when he accompanied American paratroops into Tunisia. He followed thru the campaign until the axis surrender at Cape Bon.]

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Copyright: 1943: By The Chicago Tribune.]

January saw the hope of an American offensive go down the drain under the impact of the German attack into the Ousseltia valley. February found the allies reeling against the ropes of defeat when the axis smashed thru the American lines from Faid to Kasserine in a break-thru which almost lost the campaign for us.

Marshal Erwin Rommel, the "desert fox," was now in Tunisia with the bulk of the Afrika Korps troops he had saved from Libya. He was in full command of the axis Tunisian forces, and he was ready to take a great gamble. He took it boldly and he very nearly won.

Rommel's Lines Shorter.

Every one had expected some sort of a major axis push. Gen. Kenneth A. N. Anderson, British 1st army commander who at that time was in charge of all allied troops in Tunisia, was frankly worried. He knew that until Gen. Bernard Montgomery's 8th army could get into Tunisia, the axis would have a preponderance of men and material.

Rommel's supply lines, altho under constant attack by sea and air across the narrow Sicilian channel, were far shorter than our own which extended back thru Constantine to Algiers, Oran, and Casablanca. Rommel's forces could travel on interior roads, closely knit together.

That Rommel would take advantage of this superiority seemed inevitable. The question was where would he strike? Our lines were thin and lightly held. We had no reserves. Everything was in the window; nothing on the shelves.

Two Opinions on Threat.

Gen. Anderson's advisers believed the major thrust would come again from the Pont-du-Fahs gateway, as it had on Jan. 18. The intelligence officer for the American 2d corps gave his estimate of the situation to the corps commander, Maj. Gen. Lloyd R. Fredendall [now a lieutenant general commanding the American 2d army at Memphis, Tenn.] .

This estimate took into account the enemy's troop concentration at Kairouan and in the Sfax area. It told of aerial reports of heavy truck and motor vehicle movement from the north. It concluded that the enemy attack would come thru Faid pass.

At this time the American troops were strung out along an extensive front from Gafsa in the south up thru the French central sector and far into the British 1st army sector in the north. There were no available reserves.

Attack Comes from Faid.

Before dawn, on Sunday, Feb. 14, while the air was still chilled from a cold night, and while the dew glistened on the bunch grass, the Germans attacked from Faid. One force came thru the pass. Another darted out of the smaller pass just south of Faid. And a third started up the road from Maknassy toward Sidi Bou Zid.

Within a few hours it was apparent that the Germans were coming with about 120 tanks, the bulk of two crack panzer [armored] divisions: the 10th, veterans of Poland, France, and Russia, and the 21st, bulwark of the Afrika Korps. With them came armored halftracks filled with panzer grenadiers, Italian infantrymen, and, of course, numbers of 88 mm. guns and other field pieces.

Our only forces in the immediate area consisted of two battalions of infantry from the 34th division, a battalion of the division's artillery and combat command A of the 1st armored division, which had had its battle baptism at Faid two weeks before. The 34th division is composed largely of troops from Iowa, and others from Wisconsin and Minnesota.

U. S. Positions Overrun.

One infantry battalion was atop Djebel Ksaira, a Gibraltar-like crag south of Faid, overlooking the pass as well as the road from Maknassy. The other was on another peak, Djebel Lessouda, between Faid and Sidi Bou Zid, and our armor was between Sbeilta and Sidi Bou Zid.

The Ksaira position was quickly cut off, and later, after a fight, the battalion surrendered when its supplies were exhausted. The artillery battalion near Lessouda was overrun by tanks and lost every gun but not until each piece had been knocked out or spiked.

About half the infantry on Lessouda went down fighting, and the last word from Lt. Col. Johnny Watters, son-in-law of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr., whose light tanks were trying to cover the Lessouda position, was a message to another artillery unit farther back. He gave his exact coördinates, reported he was surrounded by medium tanks coming in to attack, and told the artillery to lay down on his position, and "Give 'em hell."

Nazi Tanks Attack in V.

CCA [combat command A] had been ordered by Gen. Anderson to charge back up the valley before Faid and relieve the infantry on Ksaira. CCA started with 54 medium tanks, its armored artillery, and a battalion of armored infantry.

All day they battled back and forth.

The Germans would attack with their tanks in an inverted V formation, Marks IIIs. and IVs. on the prongs, the mammoth Mark VI. [Tiger] tanks with their 88 mm. guns at the base, trying to scoop out tanks into the trap to be finished off by the Tigers or by 88 mm. guns hidden in oueds.

Our tankers fought and learned and many died. At the end of the day CCA had 12 tanks left.

That first day cost us 62 officers and 1,563 men.

Second Unit Loses Tanks.

Meanwhile another medium tank battalion had been ordered down from Hadjeb-el-Aouen with the same instructions: attack up the valley and restore the position. It attacked at dawn. By nightfall it was left with four tanks. That was on Feb. 15.

Certain now that this was no diversion but the main attack which he had feared might come from Pont du Fahs, Gen. Anderson called on CCB, the 1st armored division's crack unit, veterans of all the fighting since the landing at Oran.

It arrived on Feb. 16 after a forced march from the Ousseltia valley. But it did not attack. Instead it fell back on Sbeitla. By this time it was apparent that we could not hold our lines.

Withdrawal from Gafsa.

Gafsa had been evacuated on the night of Feb. 14. Altho the troops there probably could have held out for weeks, they would have been completely cut off. A German tank force, after driving northward from Maknassy, had swung south on to the road running down to Gafsa, and threatened that town from the north. However, the 6,000 Americans and French garrisoning Gafsa and El Guetar and much of the French civilian population were safely evacuated at night.

CCB, after falling back on Sbeitla, repelled a German tank attack by moonlight on the night of Feb. 16, knocking out 20 enemy tanks and losing none of ours. Then, under the direction of the pink cheeked general commanding the 1st division, who had never been able to use his troops as a division, CCB covered the retreat as the Americans pulled back into the hills.

A Successful Retreat.

With the exception of Bataan and Corregidor, it was the first big American military retreat since the Civil war. And it was carried out successfully.

It was a ticklish moment. Gen. Fredendall told this correspondent that 48 hours from the time the retreat started would tell the tale.

But Rommel did not press his advantage. Thru rain and snow we got what was left back into the mountains and prepared to defend them.

Prepare to Defend Passes.

There were four passes, one at the west, one at Darnaia, the Kasserine gap, and the Sbiba pass north of Sbeitla.

Then Rommel struck again, on Feb. 19, and once more the fate of the campaign trembled in the balance. He came against Kasserine pass with regiments of infantry. He laid down the heaviest artillery barrage so far seen in Tunisia. Then he followed with masses of tanks.

The west side of Kasserine gap was held by a battalion of combat engineers who had never been under fire before. On the east side was a battalion of tired infantry from the 1st division which had been fighting all up and down the line without relief.

Into Kasserine Valley.

The Germans came thru. They overran the engineers, who suffered very heavy casualties. They infiltrated our infantry positions, forcing this battalion to retreat. It was Feb. 20 and Rommel was thru the pass and into Kasserine valley, or "Kerosene valley," as the doughboys called it.

Rommel could strike north toward Thala, from which one road led to Tebessa and another north to Le Kef, behind the British lines. He could strike up the west side of the valley from which another Tebessa road opened.

A battalion of 1st division field artillery and another battalion of its infantry were rushed over the mountains to this west side. Meanwhile, Rommel struck up the east side with about 75 tanks, heading toward Thala.

Check a Lighter Threat.

When the Germans had pushed thru the gap, Gen. Anderson had sent a brigade of his British 6th armored division, some artillery, and some infantry to try to stop Rommel. At the same time British and American troops were checking another, but lighter German threat, coming thru the Sbiba pass.

British Valentine and Crusader tanks met the German tanks inside the pass, but couldn't stop them. Our allies fought bravely but were forced back step by step 19 miles to within two miles of Thala. And there on Feb. 21 the tanks were stopped. They were stopped by artillery, the barrage of about 50 British field guns and the massed fire of every gun from the American 9th division which had been called up from the rear when we were trying to round up every reserve available.

Fredendall Diverts Armor.

Gen. Fredendall had gone over to Thala that day to see how serious the threat was. He had, meanwhile, ordered up CCB, which was on our extreme right flank, and CCB was just rolling into Thala when the general found the tanks had been stopped. They had been stopped there but already were rumbling west across the wide valley toward the other road leading to Tebessa.

Gen. Fredendall stopped CCB's general, outlined the new situation, and in a few minutes CCB was turned about, heading back down into the valley along the western side. And CCB arrived in time. Not only CCB, but our air force.

Chicagoan Foils Nazis.

Planes hammered the valley from stem to stern. Our armored infantry repulsed the panzer grenadiers. Our artillery emplaced along the western mountain range kept firing despite attacks by Stukas [dive bombers]. Tough Italian troops infiltrated into some of our mountain positions, but the American infantry held on to its foxholes and later drove out all they did not kill or capture.

And CCB stopped the enemy's tanks. Lt. Col. Henry E. Gardiner of Chicago, who commanded the medium tanks, was an old hand at fighting Germans by this time. He refused to be taken in by any of the German lures or tricks.

By late afternoon the battle was over. Rommel had taken the big gamble and almost won. His troops were within an ace of Tebessa, but they missed. And now, as swiftly as he had attacked, he retreated.

Too Fast for Black-Outs.

While our air forces pounded his columns along the Kasserine-Sbeilta road, down to Feriana, and Gafsa, Rommel started to burn those stores he could not take. That night the sky was alight with his blazing depots. His trucks were moving along bumper to bumper, and the lights were on.

After Kasserine it was apparent that the enemy would pull back to the line he had left, the next natural defense position, the Grand Dorsal mountains running down the center of Tunisia.

There's where we found him again, back at Faid, at Maknassy, and this time back at Gafsa.

[To be continued tomorrow.]

RUSH DEFENSES OF MARSEILLES FROM INVASION

BERNE, Switzerland, June 2 (AP).—A Marseilles dispatch to the Tribune De Geneve said today that Marseilles was in "feverish preparations" and living as if it "expected an allied landing from day to day."

The occupation authorities apparently feel that the allies will soon attack the city or the immediate vicinity, which is now being fortified by all possible means, the dispatch said. The defense preparations are accompanied by intensified police operations.

The districts of Lacarau and Estaque, which extend west of Marseilles have been land mined. Prairies and fields surrounding the city are getting the same treatment. The magnificent villas stretching along the coast have been transformed into centers of resistance.

POWDER PUFFS AND DOLLS LEFT BY JAPS ON ATTU

MASSACRE BAY, Attu Island, May 23 [Delayed]—(AP).—Just to settle some rumors which are rife on this island, Americans haven't found any Japanese women on Attu.

If there are any women with the Japanese they must be in the still uncaptured isolated spots.

Among Japanese effects, however, have been found lots of silk handkerchiefs, sometimes decorated with pornographic drawings. The Japs frequently have small dolls and powder puffs among their effects. Officers use the puffs to apply after shaving powder. Some had small silver pellets with a heart on the box, which may have been love potions. One American doctor decided to experiment. He got very sick.

106,516 Civilians Killed or Hurt in Raids on Britain

LONDON, June 2 (AP).—Two civilians were killed or injured in air raids in the United Kingdom during the first three years of the war for every five casualties among the kingdom's armed forces, an analysis of official figures showed today. As of the end of March, the last announced figure, there were 106,516 civilian casualties, including 48,733 killed and 57,783 injured.

BEARDED LITTLE MAN IN CLOUDS IS YANKS' ANGEL

He Fights Japs While They Sleep.

BY CLAY GOWRAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GUADALCANAL, Solomon Islands, May 23 [Delayed].—When the big moon, the Jap bombers' favorite, floats up over the palm trees of Guadalcanal these May nights, the American fighting men watch it nervously and hope that "the little man with the beard" has his guns ready for action.

This little brown bearded man is more than just another soldier to them. He is the guardian angel who hovers over them in the moonlight and makes it possible for them to get the precious sleep of which the Japanese bombers seek to rob them. The beard? That keeps his face warm in substratosphere flying.

The man with the beard is Maj. Louis R. Kittel, one of Guadalcanal's night flying aces.

Each night he takes off in his heavily armed, twin engined fighter just as the moon begins to rise. When Nip bombers come, he is waiting for them five miles above Guadalcanal. He has not been night fighting very long, but already he has found and shot down two Mitsubishi heavy bombers in one night.

A Boy from the Farm.

Kittel is 27 years old, and from Casselton, N. D. All his life, until he entered North Dakota State college in 1935, he worked on farms. After his graduation, he entered the army air forces, subsyquently serving with pursuit squadrons at Selfridge field, Michigan, and Meridian, Miss.

When the war came, he was sent out to Christmas island with a Bell Airacobra squadron. It was there he first interested himself in night fighting. Recently he and his Airacobra squadron were transferred here. Kittel brought with him, in addition to his Airacobra, the twin engined fighter, "Pat, the Bat."

Learn New Wrinkle.

Night fighting was untried and a new wrinkle to the commanders of Guadalcanal when Kittel arrived. They viewed the impetuous youngster with a jaundiced eye when he asked permission to go up to meet the Jap bombers alone. But Kittel, as he puts it, "pestered himself into the air." He took off by moonlight, without the field lights on, and went up alone to meet the Nips.

"Washing Machine Charlie," the Jap, apparently never dreamed of such opposition. Slowly the Jap drifted in over Henderson air field, paying no attention to the searchlights playing on him. He dropped his bombs, but he never lived to tell about it.

A shadow moved up to within 50 yards behind him and then the bullets from five guns tore thru his left engine. He disappeared in a blast of flame.

"He never saw me," said Kittel, "but I saw him. The searchlights picked him up and I came down on him. I held my fire until I was only 50 yards behind him and then I cut loose with everything. It took just that one burst."

1,500 JAPS DIE, ONLY FOUR ARE CAPTURED IN CAMPAIGN ON ATTU

Washington, D. C., June 2 (AP).—The navy underscored the suicidal nature of Japanese resistance in the Aleutians today with the disclosure that only four prisoners were captured, while a minimum of 1,500 Japanese were killed in the first 20 days of the American drive on Attu Island.

The death toll probably will be increased when final reports are in. The figure represents only bodies counted and takes no account of Japanese who may have been buried by their comrades.

American forces were understood to be continuing mopping up operations today, and despite the enemy's heavy casualties a number of pockets of resistance in the mountainous northeastern end of the island around Cape Khlebnikof still had to be cleaned out.

5 MILLION GRANT MADE FOR WAR HOSPITAL HERE

Lucas Says New Building Will Start Soon.

Construction of new army hospital facilities costing 5 million dollars is expected to begin in Cook county within the next 30 days, Sen. Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.] said in Washington, D. C., yesterday. Sen. Lucas said the war department had authorized expenditure of that amount.

The exact type or location of the proposed hospital was not disclosed by the war department, but Sen. Lucas indicated it probably would be in the vicinity of the Hines Memorial hospital at Broadview. Tho it probably will include some expansion of the Hines hospital, the funds earmarked for the construction will cover in addition a large new unit, the senator added.

Sought for West Side.

The Chicago Medical center has been urging construction of new hospital facilities to care for the wounded of World War II. Efforts have been exerted to have the new veterans hospital located in the city's medical center on the near west side, in the vicinity of Presbyterian, County, and other hospitals.

Dr. J. Roscoe Miller, dean of Northwestern university medical school, said yesterday that a location near the present Hines hospital was too remote from Chicago's outstanding medical facilities.

Club Suggested for Hospital.

He urged acquisition by the government of the Lake Shore Athletic club for a 1,000 bed hospital. This location is close to the Northwestern medical school campus, its hospitals, staffs, and other facilities.

Dr. Miller said that Washington officials last week had assured the medical profession here that no final government decision would be made until the claims of Chicago's medical leaders had been investigated.

PILOT OFFICER, MINISTER'S SON, KILLED AT SEA

The Rev. and Mrs. James W. Clarke of 855 Chalmers place yesterday were notified of the death of their son, Pilot Officer James W. Clarke Jr., 20 years old, in action with the royal Canadian air force over the Atlantic ocean. The Rev. Mr. Clarke is professor of homiletics at the Presbyterian Theological seminary. Pilot Clarke was a native of Grand Mere, Que., and enlisted in the R. C. A. F. two years ago after completing a year of study at the University of Manitoba. He was piloting a flying boat on convoy duty out of Ireland when it was brought down by enemy fire on May 24, Mr. Clarke said, and he was buried on May 29 in Irvinestown, County Fermenagh, Ulster. In addition to his parents he is survived by two sisters and a brother.

MITCHELL FIELD PLANE MISSING ON FLIGHT WEST

Milwaukee, Wis., June 2 (AP).—Lt. Col. Willis Proctor, commanding officer at Gen. Mitchell field, announced today that one of his two motored army transport planes, en route from Colorado Springs, Colo., to Reno. Nev., has been missing since 8 p. m., May 31.

At Colorado Springs Peterson field officers reported 11 men were aboard the plane when it left there.

The plane left here May 27, going to New York, where it apparently was sent on a special mission. Aboard the plane when it left Milwaukee were the pilot, 1st Lt. George Adams of Gunnison, Colo.; the co-pilot, 1st Lt. Earle V. Anderson, whose wife is living in Milwaukee; Corp. Warner L. Corey, son of Maj. Corey of Bolling field, Washington, D. C., and Corp. Albert R. Schneider, New York City.

BRIDGE IN BURMA DAMAGED BY SIX TONS OF BOMBS

NEW DELHI, India, June 2 (AP).—Medium bombers of the 10th United States air force attacked Japanese railroad installations yesterday at Mandalay, damaging storage buildings, rolling stock, and tracks, an American communique said today.

In a blow aimed at Japanese supply lines from Burma into southwestern Yunnan, Liberators dropped six tons of bombs on a suspension bridge across the Shweli river near Loiwing on Monday. The north suspension tower was believed damaged. The announcement said denial of the use of the bridge to the Japanese forces would increase their difficulties in bringing up supplies.

JAPS IN CHINESE TRAP WIPED OUT; 30,000 ARE LOST

Victors Launch Attack on Changyang.

CHUNGKING, China, June 2 (AP). —Chinese troops smashing forward all along the Yangtze front in Central China were declared officially tonight to have annihilated all Japanese remnants surrounded in a Hupeh province sector south of the river and to have launched an attack on the town of Changyang below the main enemy base of Ichang.

Chinese estimates of Japanese casualties in the last few days have run to 30,000.

The Chinese announced that in fighting between May 11 and May 24 more than 5,000 casualties had been inflicted upon the Japanese in the mountainous regions east of Shantung.

Protect Communications.

One of the main accomplishments of the Chinese comeback had been to put an end to a serious threat posed by the invader to communications between Chungking and Hunan province.

Official announcements reported a continuation of effective allied air action. Chinese medium bombers attacked Japanese supply routes in the Yangtze valley near the enemy base of Ichang, dropping tons of bombs without meeting enemy fighter opposition.

Retake Three Towns.

Northeast of Ichang, said a Chinese communique reporting a series of sharp successes in the counter-offensive against the Japanese invader, a number of points were recaptured. In north Hunan province, Chinese forces had regained three towns above the city of Lihsien and in this area, too, it was said the retreating Japanese had bee surrounded and many of them annihilated.

JAPS CLAIM VICTORY.

The Japanese reported they had won a big victory in the sector opposite Ichang, where the Chinese yesterday reported five enemy divisions routed. The broadcast asserted "a crushing offensive" had been carried out in that area against 120,000 Chungking troops "and other enemy forces." From May 19 to June 1, the announcement said, 18,600 Chinese were killed or wounded, 2,628 were taken prisoner, and quantities of war materials were captured while the Japanese "suffered 237 killed in action."

Tokio also claimed that in the area west of Tungting lake the Japanese had "successfully completed operations" and had killed or wounded 36,300 Chinese, taken 5,923 prisoners, and captured various war materials with Japanese loss of only 475 killed.

ALLIES DROP 24 TONS OF BOMBS ON WEWAK BASE

ALLIED HDQ. IN AUSTRALIA, June 3 [Thursday] (AP).—Continuing the attack on New Guinea bases, allied planes dropped 24 tons of bombs yesterday on Wewak, the high command announced today.

This was the third heavy raid since May 28 on Wewak, a supply base 325 miles northwest of Lae, during which 56 tons of bombs have been dropped upon it. Off Timor allied bombs scored a near miss on a 4,000 ton cargo ship.

The Japanese sent 16 planes against a small allied detachment in the vicinity of Wau, 35 miles southwest of Salamaua, causing slight damage and casualties.

BEAT UP, SHOT UP, BUT 'FORT' DOWNS 5 ZEROS

Fights 16 Jap Planes for 35 Minutes.

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, June 1.—A gallant Flying Fortress yesterday outgamed and outgunned 16 Zeros during a running 35 minute battle, and came wobbling home beat up, shot up with cannon shells and machine gun bullets, and with one engine out. But it had shot down five of the Zeros.

The flight was supposed to be a routine reconnaissance mission. Technical Sergt. Lawrence Holmes of New York City, top turret gunner, this afternoon told a graphic story of the encounter.

"We were 50 miles from Salamaua [New Guinea], when we hit dirty weather," he said. "So we headed for New Britain. At about 13,000 feet over the Huon gulf I felt the ship go into a tight left bank. I asked Lt. Evans [Lt. Henry Evans of Eugene, Ore., the pilot] what was up and he said: 'Zeros.'

Fires Guns by Hand.

"As I climbed into the top turret they began coming from a cloud, Indian file: I counted nine and said to myself: 'Holy smokes, will they never stop coming?' Finally I counted at least 16.

"The first Zero made a pass. It caught No. 3 engine, shot it out, and stitched a line of holes right down the bottom of the plane, putting three shells thru the ball turret. Not more than 20 seconds later there was a loud explosion in the cockpit and shrapnel knocked out the machine guns, so I was forced to fire both guns manually until the left one was out altogether.

"Meanwhile I decided my pistol was in the way and was just reaching down to drop it on the floor when an armor piercing bullet ripped up thru the floor, hit the gun, and tore it from my hand.

"A piece of shrapnel stung me in the pants and the co-pilot [Lt. William H. Hazzard Jr. of Birmingham, Ala.] had a piece pass between him and the seat."

All five Zeros were shot down in the first 10 or 15 minutes of the fight, Staff Sergt. Charles R. Williams of Milford, Tex., nailing the first two.

Jap Planes Collide.

"A formation of three kept moving in, one slightly ahead of the rest," he said. "The lead plane moved to the right. My aim was a little high and tracer bullets went into the top of the Jap plane. As he started down, I followed him, but this time my aim was low and then I poured some tracers into the third plane, which was below him. The bottom plane suddenly pulled up in a vertical climb and crashed directly into the plane overhead. Both went down and hit the water. That made me feel a little better."

Holmes, who also accounted for two, said:

"The first one I fired at came in on a dead level pass. I was using only one gun, firing manually. I saw him wobble off, go into a glide, and then the second one was 500 feet above. I got his engine and saw him begin to smoke, with pieces of the plane flying off. Then he peeled off and started down in a 40-50 degree dive, surrounded by a cone of smoke, and heading straight for the water."

The fifth Zero was credited to one of the wounded side gunners.

The plane landed with 35 cannon holes, leaking gas like a fountain, its hydraulic, oxygen, and interphone systems out.

It is named "Spawn of Hell," but one of the crewmen said:

"I think we ran into a spawn of hell."

FIGHT TO FINISH HELD NECESSARY TO DEFEAT JAPS

Utah Senator Doubtful of Tokio Collapse.

Atlanta, Ga., June 2 (AP).—The present day leadership of Japan, says Sen. Elbert D. Thomas [D., Utah] must be utterly destroyed. And that means a fight to the finish, the senator declared in an address to the Georgia Bar association.

Sen. Elbert D. Thomas.

Thomas added there will be no collapse in Japan, and that the war will continue "just as long as the soldiers in command are willing to fight."

Thomas, long a student of Japanese culture, is a member of the foreign relations committee.

"Two cultures," he continued, "have had more to do with the thought and lives of the Japanese than any others. Those cultures are the Chinese Confucianism and the Indian Buddhism. Both of these influences are peace loving. Shinto, the mythological religion of Japan, later under western guidance, turned into a harsh, nationalistic religion and never had a great influence upon the thoughtful of Japan until this time.

No Compromise Possible.

"I say these things to make the point that Japan of today is definitely apostate in its nature, but the leaders of this apostacy must be utterly destroyed or their leadership will persist as the leadership of the steel helmets persisted after the last war in Germany.

"No compromise can be made with present day leadership. From their leaders, an unconditional surrender must be gained and they, themselves, must acknowledge their defeat. The defeat must be crushing, not in the sense that we are to destroy Japanese men, women, and children, and Japanese property, but those who are responsibile for the leading of Japan into her wicked career of the last generation must be humbled, humiliated and put down forever."

Nazi Collapse Likely.

He offered his views as to what "might take place in Europe and what might take place in Japan."

"Germany, since Bismarck's time," he said, "has been a country dominated by the general staff. When professional soldiers see that the game is up, there are but two alternatives—to fight it out and sacrifice to the utmost and remain strong wherever strength can be maintained, or to face the inevitable and allow collapse. In Germany, judging from her history and from her type of military control, I expect collapse."

ALDERMEN SCAN ZONE PLAN FOR CITY TAXI FARE

A city council subcommittee headed by Ald. Bryan Hartnett [12th], which was instructed to work out a plan for group taxicab riding in Chicago, asked John Szumnarski, vehicle license commissioner, yesterday to gather information on the zone plan of taxicab fares.

In the zone system the city would be divided into areas inside of which a passenger would pay a flat fare. If he crossed a zone line he would pay two fares; if he crossed three zone lines he would pay four fares, etc.

It was indicated that Hartnett and several other members of the subcommittee were favorable to some such plan here. Szumnarski was told to study the Washington [D. C.] system and that of any other large cities using it.

Ald. Bernard O'Halloran [18th] told his fellow committee members that cab rates in Chicago were the highest of any large city in the country.

R. A. F. Drops 12,500 Tons of Bombs on Reich in May

LONDON, June 2 (AP).—The R. A. F. bomber command dropped approximately 12,500 tons of bombs on Germany in May, or 1,500 tons more than were loosed over the reich during April, Capt. Harold Balfour, undersecretary for air, told the house of commons today. During all of 1941, the height of Hitler's attempt to bomb Britain out of the war, the Nazis dropped 22,000 tons on England.

Actor Leslie Howard and 16 Feared Shot Down in Plane

Last Word: Attacked

LONDON, June 2 (AP).—A British overseas transport plane with Actor Leslie Howard reported among its 13 passengers was officially declared overdue and presumed lost today after reporting in a final message yesterday that it was being attacked by enemy aircraft while en route from Lisbon to England.

Leslie Howard.

It was apparently the victim of German planes on unusually active reconnaissance along the seldom molested air transport lane.

The names of the passengers and Dutch crew of four were withheld from the British Overseas Airways corporation's announcement of the plane's presumed loss, but Lisbon reports said Howard was aboard.

Women, Children Aboard.

The last communication with the plane was at 11 a. m. yesterday.

Besides Howard, among those reported unofficially to have been aboard were Kenneth Stonehouse, 35, Washington correspondent of Reuters, British news agency, and his wife, and Alfred Chenhalls, London film director and friend of Howard.

Lisbon reports said that three women and two child refugees returning from the United States also were aboard. Air lines officials refused to confirm this, but said some children evacuated from London during the blitz had been returning by air along this route.

Later unofficial reports from Lisbon identified other passengers as a Mrs. Hutcheson and her two daughters, Bertra, 11 years old, and Caroline, 2; Mrs. Cecilia Paton, Cuban-born wife of an Englishman, and T. M. Shervington, said to be a director of the Shell company in Portugal.

Second Plane Attacked.

An unverified report in Lisbon said the craft was shot down over the Bay of Biscay. Other reports said a rough sea would have lessened the passengers' chances of escaping in rubber boats, but a search is being made.

It was the second British civil plane to be reported attacked on the Lisbon run.

In their daily communique, broadcast from Berlin, the Germans said: "Three enemy bombers and one transport were downed by German reconnaissance planes over the Atlantic."

Sketch of Career

Leslie Howard, regarded as one of the outstanding romantic actors of the present generation, achieved success on the stage and screen.

He was a favorite both in England and the United States and the list of Broadway hits in which he appeared was duplicated by the number of motion pictures in which he was starred, notably "The Invaders," "Berkeley Square," and "Romeo and Juliet."

After his successful career on Broadway and in Hollywood, Howard returned to England in 1939 to make several war pictures for the British government. In April of this year it was announced in London that he had added a new string to his bow, that of Britain's cultural envoy to neutral countries. He interrupted work on his latest film to visit Spain and Portugal under the auspices of the British council and with the blessing of other allied nations agencies to lecture about art and education, with particular regard for post-war potentialities.

Served in Last War.

Howard was born April 3, 1893, in London, the son of Frank and Lilian Stainer. He was brought up in the suburbs of London. Educated at Dulwich college, he started out in life as a bank clerk.

He served with the British army in France during the first World war and made his first stage appearance in 1917 following his discharge from the army. After touring the English provinces in "Peg o' My Heart" and "Charlie's Aunt" he made his London debut in a play called "The Freaks."

He appeared in New York for the first time in 1921 in "Just Suppose," which was followed by many Broadway successes, including "The Truth About Blayds," "Aren't We All," "Outward Bound," "Escape," "The Green Hat," "Her Cardboard Lover," "Hamlet," "Berkeley Square," "The Animal Kingdom," and "The Petrified Forest."

American Film Debut in 1930.

Howard made his American film debut in 1930 in "Outward Bound," in which he had starred on Broadway. Other outstanding pictures in which he appeared included "Of Human Bondage," "British Agent," "The Scarlet Pimpernel," "Stand-In," "Pygmalion," "Gone with the Wind," and "The Invaders."

Howard was married to Ruth Evelyn Martin and was the father of one son and a daughter. His family lives near Dorking, Surrey.

He maintained homes in London and Hollywood. He was an ardent enthusiast of polo and as a youth gained fame for his prowess in cricket.

CITY ASKS NEW ICC HEARING ON TRANSIT MERGER

An application for a rehearing of the Chicago traction unification case was filed yesterday in Springfield with the Illinois commerce commission, which rejected May 3 the proposed merger plan supported by the city and Judge Michael L. Igoe of the federal District court.

At the same time the city petitioned the I. C. C. for a reopening of the surface lines fare case with a view to changing its decision, also announced May 3, granting the lines a permanent 8 cent fare.

The unification application was made in almost identical petitions drawn by the city's attorneys and those appointed by Judge Igoe. Their plea, in effect, was that they wished to produce new evidence that had been overlooked in the commerce commission hearings that extended over several months.

OFFICER PRAISES 17 CHICAGOANS WHO SANK SUB

Veterans Never Faltered, Evanstonian Reports.

Bravery and coolness of American sailors under fire were stressed yesterday by Lt. [j.g.] William Kielhorn, son of Capt. and Mrs. Kielhorn of 724 Hinman avenue, Evanston. He was battery officer of the after gun of the coast guard cutter Spencer during the sharp, thrill packed action in the Atlantic several weeks ago in which the Spencer, manned by a crew that included 17 Chicagoans, bombed and gunned a German submarine to destruction.

Lt. William Kielhorn.

"Our men behaved admirably," he said. "Never once did any one of them falter in his assigned duty. They acted like the veterans they were."

The action was basically a hide and seek game on a huge scale. The stake was the safety of a great allied convoy. The story of the conflict was released by the navy yesterday.

U-Boat Detected.

The Spencer, a heavily armed 327 foot ship commanded by Comdr. Harold S. Berdine of Staten Island, N. Y., was running ahead of the convoy one clear, sunny day when suddenly her detecting apparatus, manned by Harold V. Anderson of Kewanee, Ill., picked up the engines of a submerged submarine.

The cutter dashed to the spot and dropped depth charges. She circled and returned, wheeling in front of the approaching convoy, and dropped another series of charges.

Suddenly the U-boat dived under the ships of the convoy and the cutter snaked between them in one of the strangest chases of the war's naval history. As soon as the convoy had cleared, the Spencer unloaded a third series of depth charges.

Congratulations from Convoy.

The submarine surfaced and a gun duel ensued. The Spencer turned to ram the submarine. Then suddenly the German fire ceased. The submarine settled and began to sink. Her crew leaped into the water. The Spencer picked up more than 40 survivors.

Her job done, the Spencer moved up thru the convoy to take her assigned place at the head. Each ship signaled congratulations as she passed.

Speaking of the action itself, Lt. Kielhorn admitted it was a thrilling encounter. "It was so clear, and you could see everything so well," he said.

The other 16 Chicagoans aboard the Spencer in the historic encounter were James Casey, 4007 West End avenue; Charles Reid, 9335 Laflin street; Chester Koldon, 919 North Mozart street; John L. Mess, 4440 Iowa street; Donald F. Berndt, 6215 Cornelia avenue; Thaddeus J. Ganek, 2228 Kirkland avenue; Ralph Greenberg, 3446 Polk street; Elmer E. Steinel, 1001 South Washington street, Park Ridge; Jerome Stone, 5354 North Christiana avenue; Eugene Morris, 15 South Wolcott avenue; Lt. [j. g.] William F. Anderson, 135 South La Salle street; Arnold Diamond, 2423 North Kedzie boulevard; Richard Stratton, 4614 Patterson avenue; Jack Tinnerholm, 1416 Winona street; Francis Trozek, 5348 South Wood street, and Alex Derdzinski, 2702 West 47th street.

Ganek was wounded in the action but has now recovered.

INDIANA PLAYING NO FAVORITES IN NATIONAL RACE

Willkie Getting Nowhere in His Home State.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Indianapolis, Ind., June 2.—Politics for 1944 seems in a somewhat more advanced stage in Indiana than in some other midwest states. The Republican state organization is more harmonized than in many years. Sentiment against the New Deal is stronger than ever.

Statehouse warhorses report that in his home state, Wendell Willkie, 1940 Presidential nominee, seems to be no more a favorite son than he was at the Republican state convention a year ago. At that time Willkie was not mentioned in the platform and leaders pointed out that the Hoosier G.O.P. did not accept him as titular leader of the party.

Scouts who have been traveling the state report that prevailing grassroots sentiment among the farmers is that Willkie is too much like the New Deal and President Roosevelt to suit them.

No Favorites as Yet.

The party organization is picking no national candidates as yet—too early, they say. State Chairman Ralph Gates and others point out that some 14 states will hold their primaries next year ahead of Indiana, and by that time various candidates will have had a chance to show their qualifications and vote getting abilities. So there's no rush about making a choice. Besides, some dark horse might come to the front.

The barometer has gone up and down. Willkie spoke here in February, and his stock apparently went up a notch or two. Later came a wave in favor of Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio who seems to have a lot of friends. Leaders report this subsided considerably because Bricker was neglecting to talk about things the people are talking about. At present there is a surprising amount of talk of Gov. Thomas Dewey of New York.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, too, is much in the conjectures.

Poll Slaps at Willkie.

A poll by the Fort Wayne News-Sentinel of Republican precinct committeemen in the state went strongly against Willkie. Politicians say this let the wind out of any claims by Willkieites that the people are for him and the politicians against, for presinct committeemen reflect popular sentiment in their areas, or they wouldn't be reëlected.

Of all potential campaigns that for Willkie is more active than others. In the party state organization itself, Mrs. Grace B. Reynolds, national committeewoman, is rated a Willkie adherent. She is a friend of Mary Sleeth, manager of Willkie's farms at Rushville and former state chairman of the Republican women's organization. Joseph J. Daniels, 11th district chairman [Indianapolis], is talking Willkie. Alfred Norris, 10th district chairman—the Willkie home district—is said to be for an open door policy, to let the organization decide. Otherwise this state organization is reported predominantly anti-Willkie.

Tarkington on Committee.

A post-war policies council has been formed with John K. Ruckelshaus, an attorney here, as chairman. Among others named on its executive committee are Booth Tarkington, the author; John G. Coulter, defeated for congress last year; Frank S. Reynolds of Cambridge, husband of the national committeewoman; Arthur H. Sapp of Huntington, former international president of Rotary; Elizabeth O. Rogers of Lebanon, ex-state chairman, W. B. Hargrave of Rockville, and Will G. Irwin, former national committeeman, reputed to be richest man in Indiana, an original Willkie man.

Global planning and blueprints embracing views of seaboard internationalists seem to get the bronx cheer from Hoosiers. Last June the Republican state platform did not embrace Willkie's post-war internationalism views, but instead declared war conditions are changing so fast that no man is wise enough to formulate a program for some time in the unpredictable future.

Reiterates World Stand.

A few weeks ago, the state committee reiterated this in an expression on America's post-war policies, which has been given extensive comment. It said:

"The United States government should take its proper place with other nations in such international conferences as may follow this war and should recognize such relationships and obligations to its allies, and with its allies to the other nations of the world, as may be in keeping with the conditions and circumstances as then exist and as are compatible with the common interests of the American people."

The committee opinion was:

"That our country should win the war and then stand firm and enforce our announced policy of unconditional surrender; that the axis powers should then be disarmed and there should and must be no armistice; that when the war is won, our 11 million fighting men and women will again become integral parts of our civil government; that they will return to us fortified by first hand information of conditions in foreign countries and will therefore be thoroly qualified to participate in the formulation of a post-war program to preserve the peace and well being of the world, and that no such post-war program should be determined without the benefit of the knowledge and judgment of our armed forces, and accordingly we believe no political party can or should at this time feasibly engage in the making of detailed permanent commitments on post-war arrangements, but should confine itself to the general principles enunciated in the foregoing paragraph of this resolution."

Agree on One Thing

Washington, D. C., June 2 (AP).—The chairmen of the Democratic and Republican national committees shook hands today and agreed it would be mighty fine if more voters turned out for elections.

Frank C. Walker, the Democrat, and Harrison E. Spangler, Republican, met at a hearing of the senate elections committee, called to consider a bill by Sen. Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.] which would establish uniform voting hours from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m. all over the country in Presidential and congressional elections.

Walker said he indorsed the legislation "heartily." Spangler said he favored anything that would get the voters out.

Mother Appeals for Aid in Finding Missing Son

Billy Isom, 14 year old blond, blue-eyed freshman at Senn High school, 5 feet tall and weighing 100 pounds, disappeared on May 19 after leaving his home at 4756 Magnolia avenue, apparently to go to school. No trace of him since has been obtained by police or other investigators, his mother, Mrs. Harry Johnson, said yesterday in appealing to THE TRIBUNE to aid in the search. The boy's school grades were good, his mother said.

ARENDS NAMED NEW REPUBLICAN WHIP OF HOUSE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 2.—Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois was chosen the Republican whip of the house today by his party's house committee on committees. Congressional leaders say they believe the congressman from Melvin is the first Republican whip from Illinois in the history of congress.

Rep. Leslie C. Arends.

Arends succeeds the late Rep. Harry Lane Englebright of California. The whip's duties are to see that congressmen of his party are present to vote on important issues, to keep them informed and to supply the party leadership with information as to their views. He is an officio member of the party's steering committee.

Political parties have always had whips. It started in the English parliament. General belief as to origin of title: the job once was to whip members of the party into line. Rep. Arends isn't sure. He's having it looked up in the Congressional library.

Tyrone Power Becomes a Second Lieutenant

Quantico, Va., June 2 (AP).—Tyrone Power, motion picture actor, was graduated from the 26th officer candidate class here today and commissioned a second lieutenant in the marine corps reserves. He will receive further instruction in the reserve officers class, after which he will be ready for duty with the troops.

'YOU'LL ACCOUNT TO US!' SOLDIER WRITES LEWIS

Wounded Private Asks End of Strike.

New York, June 2 [Special].—Warning that "those of us who return will ask for a strict accounting," an open letter from a wounded Iowa private lying in a South Pacific hospital today, called upon John L. Lewis to end the coal strike. The letter was read by George Moorad, Columbia Broadcasting correspondent, in a broadcast from Australia.

The writer is Byron M. Edgett of Des Moines, who is recuperating from wounds in an army hospital in New Guinea. Pvt. Edgett sent the letter to Moorad as an open letter to John L. Lewis.

The letter, as read on the broadcast, follows:

"I am a soldier confined to a hospital in New Guinea, divorced from army functions and ability to assist the war effort as a civilian, and I feel even greater futility, with the news from America of the strike of 500,000 coal miners under your domination.

"Should We Strike, Too?"

"Knowing the hard headed, power stricken, selfish attitude you have assumed toward your government, it is with small hope of influencing your actions that this is written.

"In this hospital there are fellows who have spent from a year to 18 months overseas. Some are engineers who went thru the Milne Bay carnage, the Philippines, and Java campaigns. Some are artillery men and air force. About 50 per cent have wives and half this number have families to support. Our average income, including government benefits, is $100 a month.

"Should we strike for higher wages? What would your reaction be in our place?

"Cost Thousands of Lives."

"Living in mud and dust, fighting vermin and mosquitoes, suffering under a blazing sun, and always waiting for equipment—for planes and food—only to read that Americans at home are too concerned with personal welfare to worry about our precarious foothold, still slippery with the blood of our comrades—are we, or are we not entitled to 100 per cent support from our country?

"Would you like to think, Mr. Lewis, that by lengthening the war by a day, a week, a month, you have cost lives of thousands of men, unselfish men? These miners have fathers, sons, and brothers in the service. When they realize that following your dictates will mean that more of their loved ones are not coming home, how will you maintain that you have been their champion?

"So, sir, I say to you, and to all of you, guard jealously those things we have given to your keeping, for one day those of us who do return will call for a strict accounting."

CANTY RECHOSEN AS PRESIDENT OF PRINTERS' UNION

Thomas Canty was reëlected president of Chicago Typographical union No. 16 last night, according to unofficial returns from a runoff poll. He received 1,865 votes against 1,406 for George J. Chiles. Both men are Tribune employés.

Three other runoffs were held. Le Roy C. Milby defeated Robert D. Hogan, incumbent, for vice president, 1,691 to 1,579, according to the returns. E. A. Patzke, a Tribune employé, apparently was reëlected over George Bante for secretary-treasurer by a vote of 1,655 to 1,630, and John J. Pilch was reëlected over Harry M. Wicks, a Tribune employé, 1,750 to 1,524.

The ballot results are unofficial and subject to change with the expected receipt today of some 65 mail-in votes. Only the Patzke-Bante election could be affected, however.

STREET CAR AND TRUCK CRASH.

A score of passengers were shaken yesterday when a street car struck and overturned a motor truck of the Service Transfer company, La Crosse, Wis., at 14th and Clark streets. Sixty gallons of gasoline gushed from the truck's tanks and washed into the sewers.

St. Louis Labor Leader Shot to Death in Home

St. Louis, Mo., June 2 (AP).—The state highway patrol said tonight Buck Newell, business agent for a hoisting engineers' union [AFL] here, was found shot to death in his country home in near-by Jefferson county. Newell's attempts to organize workers on the government financed oil pipe line project at Illmo, Mo., last month were blamed by workers for a labor tie-up which resulted in the calling out of the state militia.

of a paralyzing breakdown of the fuel supply to vital war industries.

"The continuance of negotiations under such conditions could well result in a resort to similar forms of coercive collective bargaining in other vital industries," the board said. "This would completely nullify the no-strike agreement upon which the country depends for an uninterrupted flow of war goods and would shatter the basis upon which our war time labor policy rests. . . .

Challenge to U. S.

"They [Lewis and the UMW] continue to insist upon special treatment and a privileged position. . . .

"They challenge the government of the United States in time of war."

The President's meeting was called against a background of these other developments:

Mine operators met with Lewis and other representatives of the UMW for two hours this afternoon in what at first appeared to be a continuance of contract negotiations in direct defiance of the WLB order. At the conclusion of the meeting, however, it was announced that the meeting was merely a "conference" and no negotiating was involved.

Industry reports said the effects of the stoppage in coal production already were being felt. Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the war production board said "steel production will drop sharply late this week unless a flow of coal to steel plants is maintained, and practical paralysis of the war production program will follow any serious curtailment of coal supplies."

Government officials said plans had been completed to the last detail for a nation-wide dim-out and a drastic cut in railroad service should a continued work stoppage make such actions necessary.

Spreads to Illinois.

The work stoppage spread to a number of American Federation of Labor mines in Illinois with nearly 3,000 members of the Progressive Mine Workers of America employed in eight Macoupin county mines out despite a plea of union officials that they stay at work. In a mass meeting this afternoon, some members of the Gillespie local union No. 1, largest in the PMWA union with a membership of about 2,200, voted to continue their "holiday" indefinitely.

There was lively speculation as to what Mr. Roosevelt might do. In the past, he has ended strikes in various war plants by government seizure and operation of the plants. The mines, however, already are under government operation, having been taken over May 1 and placed under the direction of Secretary Ickes.

At that time Mr. Roosevelt appealed in a radio address for the miners, who had quit work at midnight April 30, to return to their jobs. There was no opportunity to judge the effects of his appeal, for Lewis, just before the President spoke, approved a 15 day truce which subsequently was extended thruout May 31 when the current walkout began.

You May Never Have To Take Another Laxative

Most constipated people might be as regular as clock-work — if they would only quit worrying — stop being nervous — take more exercise — watch their diet — and get up mornings an hour or so earlier to give bowels time to act. But who can or wants to do all this?

So — the next best thing is to keep the bowels working as regularly and comfortably as we can — and that's where good old Espotabs come in. Why?

Because you may take Espotabs at night and expect results in the morning when you get up without waiting around — because they do not move the bowels so violently as to leave you feeling weak and washed-out . . .

AND because they help give the grand, comfortable, satisfying type of movement that makes the spirits soar — and what sour, constipated person could ask for more? Get Espotabs at your druggist today and take as directed. 25¢.

URGES SCHOOLS' PEGGED LEVY BE CUT 4 MILLIONS

Offers List of Economies for Chicago System.

BY JOHNSON KANADY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 2.—Douglas Sutherland, representing the Civic federation, today declared that the Chicago board of education pegged levy should be decreased 4 million dollars—instead of increased 4 million, as the board asks—and suggested economies which he said would make the decrease possible.

Sutherland appeared at an open senate hearing on the 56 million dollar pegged levy proposal and declared that every effort should be made to cut taxes, rather than increase them. No action was taken on the bill.

Suggests School Economies.

Sutherland suggested the following school economies: Adjustment downward of salaries of operating personnel; abandonment of the Chicago Teachers college; merger of three junior colleges with the University of Illinois; establishment of a "real purchasing system"; approval of increased state distributive school funds, and, as a last resort, reduction of the school year by two weeks or a month.

He predicted that passage of the pegged levy, along with others sought by Cook county governments, would bring an $11 tax rate and asserted the tax rate was a major factor in driving people out of the city.

Calls Appeal Bewildering.

Morgan L. Fitch appeared for Chicago real estate interests and termed the pegged levy system contrary to the intent of the constitution.

Frank Bilek, representing the Chicago Civic council, declared small property owners are "bewildered" that the board seeks an increase "when last session they said 52 million dollars was all they ever would ask."

Those who spoke for the bill today were Col. Howard Savage, business manager of the board of education; Ira Turley, president of the Chicago Teachers union, and Miss Frances Kenny, representing the Chicago Teachers federation.

VOTE TO CHANGE RULE ON FILLING MAYOR VACANCY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 2.—Seven downstate Republicans in the Illinois senate joined with Democrats today in voting to give the Chicago city council power to select men to fill any vacancies in the office of mayor, city treasurer, or city clerk without regard to the length of term remaining.

Sen. Thomas D. Keane [top] and Sen. Walker Butler.

The measure, if passed by the house, would require a referendum by Chicago voters before becoming law.

Sen. Thomas D. Keane [D., Chicago] sponsored the measure, which was opposed by a bloc led by Sen. Walker Butler [R., Chicago] who termed the bill an "unwarranted invasion of the right of suffrage of the people of Chicago."

The new bill differs from an existing law pushed thru following the late Mayor Anton Cermak's death, covering only his office.

Wins Injunction

MRS. BEATRICE KAPLAN.

Jacob L. Kaplan, head of an electric sales company at 630 Jackson boulevard, was brought into the Superior court of Judge Joseph Sabath yesterday on a writ of ne exeat issued earlier on behalf of his wife, Beatrice, 429 Melrose street, who is suing him for divorce.

Jacob L. Kaplan.

Kaplan appeared with his head swathed in bandages, the result of an assault by two men the night before when he was taking his mother-in-law to a street car. He said he was not robbed. Police took him to a hospital.

He asked that the ne exeat writ be rescinded and also that he be allowed to see and communicate with his two small daughters. Mrs. Kaplan's bill filed Tuesday, said her husband returned home from New York Monday and beat her with a steel-heeled shoe. Kaplan told Judge Sabath yesterday he wasn't in town on the dates named in her bill in citing his alleged acts of cruelty. Another hearing will be held today.

'DON'T PASS' TAG PUT ON GATEWAY BILLS IN SENATE

Judiciary Unit 12 to 2 Against Plan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 2.—Bills to allow a vote in the party circle to count as a vote for the gateway amendment to the state constitution were virtually defeated in the senate judiciary committee today, 12 to 2.

The committee voted to report the measures out with a recommendation they do not pass. Previously a tie vote was recorded on a motion to put the bills out with a favorable recommendation.

Amendment Peril Told.

The measures, sponsored by Senators Walker Butler [R., Chicago] and Nicholas L. Hubbard [D., Mount Pulaski] would have allowed political parties to indorse constitutional amendments in convention and allow each vote in that party circle to count as a vote for the amendment. Hubbard said that the sponsors planned to use the method only for a vote on the gateway amendment.

David Clark, attorney for the Illinois Manufacturers' association, spoke against the proposals as "dangerous," asserting that the method of amending the constitution should remain difficult, rather than be made easy.

An Old Problem.

The question is an old one, and several resolutions and bills have been introduced this session of the legislature to effect the gateway proposal. One such, sponsored by Sen. Richard J. Daley [D., Chicago] would provide that any one not voting against an amendment would be counted as voting for it. The bill is still in the senate executive committee.

BRANDON HINTS HE MAY QUIT IN RELIEF DISPUTE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 2.—Rodney H. Brandon, state director of public welfare, will continue to fight enactment of laws placing all relief programs under the Illinois public aid commission despite the accepted fact that the measures are administration proposals, he said today at a press conference.

Brandon made clear that there is a definite split between him and Finance Director George B. McKibbin over policy, based on a misunderstanding of budget planning several months ago. He also asserted his independence of Gov. Dwight H. Green in matters of policy concerning the department of welfare and hinted that enactment of the relief bills, already passed by the senate, will result in his resignation.

THREE MEN ROB TAVERN KEEPER.

Three men, two of them armed, robbed Robert Dionisi, 3528 Fifth avenue, of $42 in his tavern at 3566 Harrison street yesterday, he told the police.

BILL TO CREATE STATE PENSION SYSTEM VOTED

Plan Encounters Scant Opposition in House.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 2.—The Illinois house tonight passed virtually without debate the administration's bill to set up a state employés' pension system at a cost of about 2 million dollars a year, shared equally by the state and the workers. The vote was 115 to 4.

Legislative veterans expressed surprise at the ease with which the bill was passed.

Warns Against Burden.

Rep. Henry D. Sparks [R., Shelbyville], only speaker against the bill, warned that the financial burden may prove heavy and urged members to give the matter more serious attention.

"This bill is as far from reason as right is from wrong," he said.

The bill carries $515,000 for benefits and expenses, as a starter. Actuaries consulted by George B. McKibbin, state director of finance, said that the cost to the state would be about double that amount annually when the plan reached peak operation.

Earlier, the house committee on industrial affairs, in an action to increase war production, approved bills to create a war labor standards board with authority to grant exemption from the women's eight hour day law and the one day rest in seven law.

Opposed by Labor Group.

A vote of 17 to 13 put the bills out on the house floor, despite opposition from the Illinois Federation of Labor. Reuben Soderstrom, president, and Victor A. Olander, secretary-treasurer, contended the measures would undo the work of years.

A Congress of Industrial Organizations representative, Robert Travis, pleaded for passage of the bills.

Gov. Dwight H. Green's program to emphasize aid to veterans of this war went forward today. The house executive committee recommended passage of a bill which would replace the state planning commission with the Illinois post-war planning commission.

Describes Bombing Raids in North Africa.

Sergt. Herman Sachnoff.

Home from the North African campaign wearing two decorations and the scars of months of exciting service over that front, Technical Sergt. Herman Sachnoff, 26 years old, 933 East Marquette road, told of the ups and downs of our air forces' big part in the victory.

Sergt. Sachnoff, a radio man, was one of a crew of six that served thruout the African campaign, helping to bomb Rommel and his Afrika corps into flight and eventual defeat. The six remained together until a few days ago, when they were split up and sent to help train new pilots. They outlived four ships, so badly shot up they had to be abandoned after the crew skidded them in.

Sergt. Sachnoff is visiting his parents, Harry and Sadie Sachnoff, and his sister, Doris, 11 years old. He arrived here only four days after military authorities had notified his family he had been wounded in action.

Wounded in Tunisia.

The wound was received on April 20, when Sergt. Sachnoff's group of bombers flew thru a wall of antiaircraft fire in northern Tunisia. A sliver of shrapnel entered his thigh. The same burst set the plane's interior afire.

"I knew I was hit, for I felt the sting," the sergeant said. "My first thought, tho, was to get the fire out. Then I gave my leg first aid and told my commander I could stand it until our mission was completed. So we went over the Germans, unloaded our bombs and got for home." His commander was Maj. Gordon E. Hall of Wapella, Ill.

For this incident Segt. Sachnoff was given the Order of the Purple Heart. He also wears the air medal with three clusters. He received the medal for radioing the position of an American ship downed near the island of Crete, so promptly and accurately that a British torpedo boat rushed out and rescued the crew 20 minutes after their ship hit the water.

Shoot Down Seven Germans.

The experience that stands out most in Sachnoff's memory, he said, occurred about four months ago, some 75 miles south of Sfax in Tunisia.

"We were one of nine planes on a bombing mission," he said. "For some reason our fighter support didn't get to us. Fifteen Messerschmitts dived on us, shooting one of our planes down. That made us mad, and our final score was seven German ships officially and two probables. But it was a tight squeeze and we thought our number was up."

Sergt. Sachnoff admits he's not a nerveless hero. Asked if he was often scared, he replied, "Every time we went up." But he added that there's a spirit at large in the air forces that makes its members eager for more action, however hazardous."

OPA CLOSES GAS STATION 15 DAYS FOR VIOLATIONS

Joseph Tomes, gasoline retailer at 5006 Archer avenue, was characterized yesterday as "a good natured, careless operator" at an office of price administration hearing into charges that he had violated gasoline rationing regulations.

W. M. McFarland, regional OPA chief hearing commissioner in Chicago, suspended Tomes' license to deal in gasoline for 90 days starting at 12:01 a. m. next Monday and stayed the effect of the suspension after 15 days. Tomes will be on probation for the remaining 75 days.

Jack H. Oppenheim, Chicago metropolitan area OPA enforcement attorney, told McFarland Tomes had been careless but had not demonstrated deliberate effort to evade regulations. The OPA accused Tomes of failing to account for 1,204 gallons of gasoline and of selling gasoline without coupons.

A. Bradley Eben, respondent's counsel, told the commissioner that Tomes had sold the gasoline and collected coupons later.

Forty Filipino sailors, mess boys at the Glenview naval air station, took the oath of citizenship yesterday before Judge John P. Barnes and received the commendation of the Glenview commanding officer, Lt. Comdr. Truman C. Benney, who declared they provided "the best food I have ever tasted at any naval station." The 40 range in rank from apprentice seamen to chief petty officers.

What 'Forgiveness' Means to You

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 2.—The following table summarizes the effect of the new tax legislation, which has been approved by congress and sent to the White House, on past and future tax bills for various income brackets. Figures shown are for a married man without dependents.

The first column represents net income before exemptions and the second column shows the 1942 tax bill under the existing law. The third column shows the amount forgiven for each group—complete abatement for those with bills up to $50 and a flat 75 per cent of the 1942 liability for everybody in the higher brackets.

Total for Two Years.

In the fourth column is shown the total income tax bill which must be paid for each of the two years, 1943 and 1944, to meet the current liability and discharge the unforgiven 25 per cent for 1942. Half of the unforgiven tax will be due March 15, 1944, and the remaining half on March 15, 1945.

For the $1,500 bracket with a tax bill of $48—below $50—it will be seen that there is no amount to carry over and the liability in 1943 and 1944 is the same as at present. For the higher brackets shown the increase amounts to 12½ per cent for each of the two years.

In computing these figures it was necessary to assume that there will be no increase in existing tax scales, altho there is no guarantee of this and many members have warned that President Roosevelt's request for 16 billion dollars additional revenue next year is bound to result in heavier burdens for individual income tax payers. However, if taxes are not increased, the bills for the year after the unforgiven taxes have been paid off will revert back to the present levels shown in the second column.

Obligation Remains.

The last column in the table shows the annual liability during the amortization period, including the 5 per cent gross victory tax. Despite the fact that the new withholding tax provides for collection of only 3 per cent of this levy in advance, the taxpayer's obligation remains the same as under existing law. To escape paying the other 2 per cent later he must qualify for credits thru purchase of war bonds, reduction of personal indebtedness, or payment on life insurance premiums, as provided in the law passed last year.

Those from whom the full 5 per cent has been collected in pay roll deductions in the first half of 1943 must qualify for credits in the same manner and then can apply them on their tax bills next March 15.

The table follows:

Net income before exemptions.	1942 tax bill present rates.	Amount forgiven.	Tax bill in '43 and '44 incl. unforgiven amnt.	Total tax bill in '43 and '44 with gross victory tax.
$ 1,500	$ 48	$ 48	$ 48	$ 100
1,800	103	77	116	185
2,000	140	105	158	237
2,500	232	174	261	369
3,200	361	271	406	552
3.300	382	287	430	582
5,000	746	560	839	1,086
10,000	2,152	1,614	2,421	2,945
15,000	4,052	3,039	4,559	5,361
20,000	6,452	4,839	7,259	8,338
25,000	9,220	6,915	10,373	11,730
50,000	25,328	18,996	28,494	31,241
100,000	64,060	48,045	72,068	77,592
250,000	194,000	145,500	218,250	232,108
500,000	414,000	310,500	465,750	493,497
1,000,000	854,000	640,500	960,750	1,006,750
2,000,000	1,736,000	1,296,500	1,946,750	2,016,750
5,000,000	4,374,000	3,280,500	4,920,750	5,046,750

Any one wanting to figure out his exact liability can do so simply by taking 75 per cent of his 1942 tax bill, which represents the amount he is forgiven for last year under the legislation. Taking half the remaining 25 per cent and adding it to his 1942 tax bill will show how much he will have to pay by March 15, 1944, if rates are not raised in the meantime.

HOW PAY-AS-GO TAX WILL AFFECT WEEKLY WAGES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 2.—The new pay-as-you-go income tax bill contains tables designed to enable employers and employés to determine the amount of pay roll deductions necessary to cover the 20 per cent withholding tax starting July 1. Different tables have been computed for various pay periods ranging from one day to a month.

Following is the official table for a weekly pay period of various incomes showing the deductions for different dependency statuses:

At least...	But less than...	Single person.	MARRIED No dept.	1 dept.	2 depts.	3 depts.
....	$10	......	......	......	......	......

$200	or over—20 pct. of the excess over
$200	plus	37.60	35.20	34.00	32.80	31.60

The treasury, it was learned, has already started printing of the tables and other forms which must be distributed thruout the country before the withholding tax goes into effect. Employers are given the choice of using the tables or making exact percentage calculations of the tax. Most are expected to follow the table, however.

In any event the new law is expected to pile vast amounts of bookkeeping work on employers, especially accounting departments of large firms, in making the deductions, paying the money to the government every quarter, and furnishing each employé with a receipt showing how much has been withheld.

DEMPSEY'S WIFE VISITED TRAINER IN ROOM, 2 SAY

Hotel's Ex-Employes Heard in Case.

White Plains, N. Y., June 2 (AP).—Two former hotel employés testified today that Hannah Williams Dempsey frequently visited rooms occupied by Benny Woodall and his sister, Mrs. Jackie Griffin.

Woodall, former trainer of Lew Jenkins, lightweight boxing champion, and Jenkins have been named co-respondents in an action brought by Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion and now a coast guard lieutenant commander, in which he seeks divorce and custody of two minor daughters. Allegations of a counter suit by Mrs. Dempsey have not been made public.

Tell of Hotel Visits.

The two witnesses, Michael Sidoriak, 23 years old, coast guardsman stationed at Dempsey's base at Manhattan Beach and a former employé of the Hotel Woodrow in New York, and Anna Boyuka, former housekeeper, testified they had seen Mrs. Dempsey go to the hotel's 10th floor "on three or four occasions." They said that when Mrs. Dempsey arrived Mrs. Griffin would leave the rooms and stay in the lobby for a time.

The trial was resumed after a ruling by Supreme Court Official Referee J. Addison Young that Mrs. Dempsey's nervous condition would not require further postponement.

Dr. William Moore Kelly, appointed to examine Mrs. Dempsey, testified she was suffering "fright and apprehension," and her own physician, Dr. William Friedman, testified she was in a state of nervous exhaustion. Referee Young said that if the case was adjourned until a future time "she would be as nervous then as she is now."

Identifies Their Pictures.

Sidoriak, under direct examination by Arthur F. Driscoll, Dempsey's attorney, identified pictures of Mrs. Dempsey and Woodall and testified he had seen her step into his elevator, go to the 9th floor and "walk up to the 10th floor," where Woodall had his room. He added that "Mrs. Griffin would go down to the lobby when Mrs. Dempsey was there," and would remain "about 20 minutes."

Under cross-examination by Gerald Donovan, Mrs. Dempsey's attorney, Sidoriak said he had talked to Dempsey about the case at Manhattan Beach and that he had been instructed to appear at the trial by "a clerk in Adm. Collins' office."

Mrs. Boyuka testified that "on three or four occasions" she saw Mrs. Dempsey enter room two on the 10th floor.

PUT QUARANTINE AGAINST RABIES ON LAKE COUNTY

All of Lake county was placed under a rabies quarantine yesterday by Dr. C. E. Fidler, chief veterinarian of the state department of agriculture. The action was taken at the request of the county board of supervisors and representatives of all the townships. The town of Barrington, which lies partly in Lake county, has been quarantined since May 18. Joseph P. Welch, chairman of the county board, said complaints have been made that packs of dogs are running wild. Under the quarantine order, law enforcement officials have the right to kill all dogs which are not penned or leashed.

COUNTRY'S NEW WAR MATERIAL WOE: TOO MUCH!

Can't Ship It All; Eye Shift to Civilian Goods.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 2.—Lack of balance in war production, particularly in the overproduction of many ordnance items, reportedly has become a major problem of the war economy.

War production board officials are reported making plans to reconvert some war plants to civilian goods production to halt the accumulation of huge stores of war materials, which cannot be used because of the want of shipping and other reasons.

Observers say tanks, trucks, guns, and ammunition are being turned out faster than they can be sent to battle fields.

Altho tons of bombs are being loosed over Germany, they, too, are being turned out faster than they can be shipped. Various other ammunition items are accumulating.

Step Up Plant Capacity.

Within the last year the nation's manufacturing capacity has been stepped up tremendously. Peace time industries have been converted almost entirely to war production, and large numbers of plants have been constructed.

At one time there was a critical machine tool shortage. Now the country has enough such tools and capital equipment.

The current acute problem is to keep civilian economy running so that war production can be kept functioning and inflation dangers may be cured. It is vital that transportation of war workers should not break down and that items essential to civilian morale keep flowing.

Plan Civilian Goods Shift.

WPB officials are said to be studying the entire production program with a view toward shifting some plants to civilian goods production, which, it is felt, was cut too severely in the early days of the war and must be boosted to avoid a breakdown of the home economy.

Already officials have ordered some revisions of schedules, resulting in layoffs and plant shutdowns in some areas. It is felt that the way to avert heavy layoffs and shutdowns is to put the plants to the manufacture of certain essential civilian goods.

However, it was emphasized that any change in schedule would not mean a large increase in the number of civilian items produced. The emphasis would be on heavy items such as railroad equipment.

Few Items Face Shortages.

While overproduction is the general rule on many war items, there are some which reportedly still face acute shortages. The principal war bottleneck is shipping, and this is due almost as much to the lack of marine engines as to the submarine campaign.

Ship hulls are moving at a satisfactory rate, but the propelling machinery and various other marine engines are lagging. If there were a sufficient number of marine engines, the speed of merchant ships could be stepped up so as to enable them to elude any subs.

As it is, ships are getting only enough propelling machinery to enable them to do six to nine knots an hour. To raise the speed to 12 or 14 knots, so that ships could outrun subs, would take twice the machinery installed at present.

OFFICIAL TABLE OF CONSUMER POINT VALUES FOR MEAT, FATS, FISH, AND CHEESE

No. 3—Effective June 6, 1943

The same point value per pound shall be charged for an item whether it is fresh, frozen, cured, or smoked. This does not apply, however, to bacon items. Nor does it apply to a product which is dry salt cured, washed, peppered, and hung from 10 to 30 days before smoking, smoked and hung until it is at least 5 months old. Such items are sometimes called "Country cured," "Southern cured," "Virginia cured," "Georgia cured," etc., and have a point value two (2) points higher per pound than the fresh cuts from which they are prepared.

This table contains most of the items usually bought by consumers. Some of the items not shown here, but occasionally bought by consumers, may be bought at the point values listed in your dealer's copy of the Official Table of Trade Point Values.

Points may be charged only for items shown on either the Official Consumer or Trade Point Value Table. No foods covered by Ration Order 16 may be sold or transferred without points.

Your dealer will weigh and determine the point value of your purchase. The point value will not be figured again if you have him change the form (such as boning, grinding, dicing) of the item you bought.

POINT VALUES FOR OUNCES

In general, the points charged for an item equal the weight in pounds times the point value per pound. Use the figures below if your purchase of any item is not in an exact number of pounds. A fraction of a point for the item is dropped if it is less than one-half (½) point; if the fraction is more than one-half (½) point, a full point is charged.

Fractions of exactly one-half (½) on two or more items you buy from a retailer in a single purchase are added together. If your total purchase results in a fraction of one-half (½), a full point is charged. Zero point values shown below apply only when the weight of the item purchased exceeds one pound. At least one point must be charged for any item, no matter how small the purchase.

In the case of canned meat, canned fish, evaporated or condensed milk and pre-packaged cheese, each can, jar, or package is a separate item. However, only 1 point is charged for two or more of these items purchased together if their combined fractional point values total one point or less.

CAPT. BOWMAN OF WOLVERINE IS FETED AT DINNER

Capt. Roscoe L. Bowman, commander of the aircraft carrier Wolverine in Lake Michigan for the last seven months, was honored last night at a dinner given in the Lake Shore club by officers of the ship prior to his departure for combat duty at sea. Comdr. Charles L. Lee, until recently executive officer on the combat carrier Charger, will succeed Capt. Bowman today.

Capt. Bowman, who entered Annapolis when 17 years old and later became one of the academy's football heroes, was graduated in 1921. He became an airplane pilot in 1923 and for the last 20 years has been associated with naval aviation, much of the time as a seaplane or torpedo plane pilot. In the seven months he commanded the Wolverine, Capt. Bowman was responsible for more than 1,000 flyers who qualified for flight deck landing.

Comdr. Lee is a native of Pennsylvania and was graduated from Annapolis in 1924. Now 41 years old, he has had service aboard virtually every carrier the navy has had. He returned only recently from duty aboard the Charger in combat zones.

MARINE EMPLOYE DROWNS.

Havana, Ill., June 2 [AP].—Clarence Miller, 43 years old of Creve Couer, an employé of the United States steamer Comanche, was drowned early today, apparently in a fall from the boat, officers reported.

ALL'S CONFUSION AS CANNED MILK RATIONING OPENS

Rationing of canned milk got under way in Chicago yesterday with a maximum of confusion and uncertainty. Altho rationing took effect Tuesday at midnight, most retailers thruout the Chicago area are without official information and many stores still are selling canned milk without requiring ration points.

Officials of the National Association of Retail Grocers tried unsuccessfully to obtain exact information on the latest rationing order yesterday and, lacking that, sent out a "warning notice" to its members that such an order had been issued but that a few days would be required before clarifying explanations are received from Washington.

Meanwhile confusion spread in retail establishments. Many retailers, who read in THE TRIBUNE that the rationing order had been issued, immediately required ration points with all purchases of canned milk. Others, in the absence of any official order or information, continued to sell canned milk without points.

AFL Rubber, Plastic Union Wins Bargaining Rights

Local 20911 of the Rubber and Plastic Workers' union, AFL, won bargaining rights in an election yesterday at the Chicago Molded Products corporation, 1020 North Kolmar avenue, which is engaged in war production. George J. Bott, regional director of the national labor relations board, said the AFL affiliate received 56 per cent of the votes as against 32.5 per cent for the Independent Plastic Workers' Union of America, which had been bargaining agent for the last three years. Votes for no union totaled 11.5 per cent.

DUPLICATE BIDS FOR NO. 3 BOOKS START OPA QUIZ

Volunteers at work in five city high schools preparing war ration books No. 3 for distribution reported yesterday that some residents of the seven states in the midwest office of price administration region had sent in duplicate application forms. Raymond S. McKeough, regional OPA administrator, said doubtless most of these persons submitted the duplicates in ignorance of regulations, but the OPA will investigate all cases to make certain that no one is trying to get excess ration books. McKeough warned that only one application should be submitted and said the OPA master filing system permitted easy detection of duplications.

O'CONNELL GETS 1-15 YEAR TERM; PLANS APPEAL

Lawrence J. O'Connell, 38 years old, former chief securities examiner of the Illinois industrial commission, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski to serve 1 to 15 years for embezzlement of bonds and cash deposited with the commission. O'Connell, charged with misappropriation of $54,000, was convicted by a jury last April 2 after having been acquitted in his first trial.

The question whether the commission has authority to accept deposit of cash and bonds from Illinois firms who elect to be self-insurers under the state workmen's compensation law will be made the basis of an appeal to the Supreme court, Simon Herr, O'Connell's attorney, said after the court had overruled a motion for a new trial. Stay of execution was granted to permit an appeal.

How many soldiers can you find in this picture?

Just as the chameleon owes its life to its ability to change its color to imitate its surroundings, the lives of soldiers may often depend on concealment... on "camouflage" of their bodies.

You know how the Commando blackens his face for his night raids, but did you know that this facial camouflage is now being carried even further—into use for soldiers in the desert and jungle?

We of Coty are proud to have been chosen as an organization to make these CAMOUFLAGE CREAMS for the fighting men of America and the United Nations, and into their production we have carried our world-wide experience in the creation of cosmetic creams.

We're making black for Commandos; green, brown, and other shades for desert or jungle fighting. And this complete CAMOUFLAGE of face and hands as well as the uniform may mean the difference between life and death in many circumstances.

We're putting the resources of our international organization, and especially of our American and British laboratories, into this work for the United Nations, and we're specially glad that our experience and background fit us for such tasks. In this work we have been aided greatly by the research of our laboratories in Rio de Janeiro, Mexico City and other branches of our far-flung organization. This work for the United Nations combines ideally with our international research into creations that mean so much to the comfort and morale of our women.

All of us in the Coty laboratories here and in England know that from the women of the United Nations have come our progress and prosperity.

So it is particularly comforting to be able to do all we can to help save the lives of their loved ones.

$300,000 BACK PAY TO BE GIVEN ELEVATOR MEN

Agreement to Affect 2,500 Workers.

Back pay totaling more than $300,000 will be paid to 2,500 members of the Elevator Operators and Starters union under an agreement announced yesterday by Martin Dwyer, supervisor of the union, and Charles Cranston Spray, attorney for the Building Managers' association of Chicago.

The payments will be made under a contract between the association and the union, signed May 4, and retroactive to July 1, 1942, when the former contract expired. Several disputes which have arisen since the new contract was signed remain to be arbitrated, and arrangements have been made to adjust the back pay when these disputes have been settled.

Daniel D. Carmell, attorney for William L. McFetridge, president of the Building Service Employés International union, will go to Washington today to ask the war labor board to reappoint Judge Joseph Burke as a referee to iron out remaining difficulties. Judge Burke served as a special examiner for the WLB last spring when the new contract was being negotiated.

Workers Get Increase.

Judge Burke's decision, subsequently approved by the WLB, granted the workers a 15 per cent wage increase, minus a previous $10 a month raise. This increased their top pay scale from $155 to $166.75 a month.

The Building Managers' association then asked the WLB to set up an alternative hourly wage scale to protect the buildings from possible penalties of the wages and hours act. The petition was referred to Judge Burke, who fixed a rate of 79 cents an hour for a 40 hour week with time and a half pay for more than 40 hours of work.

The union objected to this scale on the ground that workers in certain buildings, who normally work 48 hours a week, would be penalized unduly if they took time off. Such men would, in effect, lose a day and a half's pay if they took one day off.

Straight Pay for Subs.

In an effort to adjust this inequity, Judge Burke ruled that substitute workers supplied by the union would receive straight pay for a day's extra work, while the men they replaced would receive half a day's pay.

Another problem then arose, affecting union members employed in 11 buildings where the regular work week has been less than 48 hours. Judge Burke submitted this to the WLB for an interpretation of what these buildings should pay. Carmell argued they should pay $166.75 monthly for the same number of hours' work as the former contract provided.

Solution of this matter still awaits decision by the WLB. Judge Burke said last night that if he is reappointed referee, he is confident that all remaining difficulties can be settled quickly.

RADIOS OF HIGH AND LOW DEGREE FILL NAVY NEEDS

"A ham's heaven!" That's what Lt. Comdr. W. C. Eddy called the first fruits of the navy's search for 10,000 old radio sets to be used in its radio and radar training program. Comdr. Eddy is the officer in charge of the naval radio training program embracing 13 schools.

The whole story of radio broadcasting from crystal set days to radar is reflected in the results of this drive. More than 100 sets are pouring in each day. But that's only the beginning.

Half a million school children are busy in the Chicago area hunting thru attics and basements for old receivers and parts.

Meanwhile, more than receivers are being received. Piles of parts, much of it brand new, are coming in. Several complete amateur transmitter rigs have been donated. Ultra violet ray and diathermy apparatus, pinball machines, and gambling devices are adding to the mountain of wood and metal being piled up at the naval armory in Chicago.

FOOD PARLEY GIVES YARDSTICK OF DIET FOR ALL

Hot Springs, Va., June 2 (AP).—The allied nations food conference set up today a proposed "yardstick" of diet and charged governments with responsibility for helping the less fortunate citizens toward achievement of that nutritional level.

It proposed at the same time that all nations inaugurate educational programs in "eating for health."

The well fed citizen, the sample diet stated, would consume between 228 and 250 quarts of milk and between 228 and 276 eggs every year, plus about 900 pounds of other foods selected according to their nutrition values.

Foods listed in the sample yardstick include, besides milk and eggs, starch-rich tubers, roots, fruits; mature leguminous seeds and nuts; vitamin C rich fruits; leafy, green, yellow vegetables; other vegetables and fruits; meats, fish, poultry; sugars, and fats.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Mrs. George Schmidt, 4514 North Paulina street.]

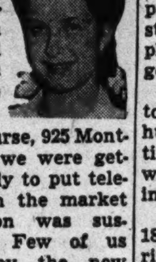
THE QUESTION.

What product will you welcome most after the war?

WHERE ASKED.

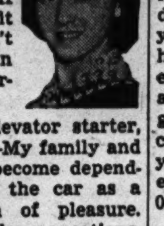
Grant park.

THE ANSWERS.

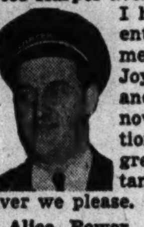


Isabel Reich, student, 3460 Orange avenue—Before the war aviation didn't mean so much to me personally, because I couldn't afford it. Now I look forward to the time when air transportation and small private planes will be within the reach of every one.

Dolores La Vallie, nurse, 925 Montrose avenue—Just as we were getting ready to put television on the market production was suspended. Few of us can enjoy the new F-M radios. These two products interest me immensely and I'll be glad when we can use them.



Mrs. Irving Lipkin, housewife, 3507 Adams street—There is no item of clothing that can make me feel as well dressed as can a pair of good nylon hose. If my stockings don't fit or look neat, I can't get much interested in my general appearance.



Joseph Toscano, elevator starter, 6033 Harper avenue—My family and I had become dependent on the car as a medium of pleasure. Joy rides, vacations, and week-end trips are now out of the question. It's going to be great to fill up the tank and drive wherever we please.

Alice Power, 3740 North Oriole avenue—I welcome the day when we will be able to restock our pantry shelves. It would be wonderful to have a big supply of imported foods, not because it's a hardship to do without these things, but because it would mean the sea lanes were open.

Ann Davis, radio assembler, 5009 Lake Park avenue—It will be a happy day when we begin converting vital materials into items we would have been enjoying under normal circumstances. Air conditioning equipment, for one thing, would provide more pleasant working conditions for many.

FIRST TRIBUNE AWARD WINNER TO QUIT POLICE

Three policemen, one of them the first man to win THE TRIBUNE's $100 monthly award for bravery, will retire this month, having reached the compulsory retirement age of 63 years. They are Capt. John J. McGinnis of Rogers Park district, Sergt. William H. Beehan of Summerdale district, both of whom retire June 10, and Patrolman John L. Kinney, lockupkeeper of Burnside district, who retires June 15.

Sergt. W. H. Beehan.

Capt. McGinnis, who lives at 6300 Wayne avenue, joined the force in 1906, was cited for bravery in a city council resolution for capturing the two slayers of a policeman, and in 1918 shot and killed George Raymond, a man wanted for murder and a friend of George [Bugs] Moran. He was police bodyguard to such notables as Georges Clemenceau, premier of France; Edward Windsor of England, and Presidents Taft, Harding, Wilson, and Theodore Roosevelt.

Sergt. Beehan, who lives at 4506 Beacon street and is unmarried, won the first Tribune award for shooting Howard White, who had broken into a candy plant in 1920. He also captured a mail train bandit who stole $240,000 in 1919.

Woman Dies of Injuries from Motorcycle Crash

Mrs. Alice Alvina Selles, 33 years old, wife of Henry Selles, 834 Clay street, Woodstock, died in St. Joseph's hospital, Elgin, yesterday of injuries suffered four days before when a motorcycle on which she was riding with her husband collided with another motorcycle on highway 47 near Elgin.

CHEEKS OF TAN WILL BE MADE AT ALGONQUIN

First Group Will Go to Camp June 25.

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

There is great activity out at Camp Algonquin, the United Charities' vacation ground on the rippling Fox river, 43 miles northwest of Chicago.

Boats are being painted. Screen doors and windows are being repaired. Swings are being fastened to sturdy boughs. Vegetables are being planted and tiny chicks, ducks, geese, and lambs are arriving.

Camp Algonquin is getting ready to welcome its summer visitors, the hundreds of needy children and tired mothers who would not otherwise find relief from the sweltering city sidewalks.

On June 25, the first trainload of 180 children and mothers will arrive. The tight, pinched faces of the youngsters and the strained, weary attitudes of the mothers will give way to sun tanned cheeks and relaxed smiles before the first two weeks of the camp's season are over.

First Time for Many.

It will be the first time that many of the children have ever seen a country sky or a glistening river.

Camp Algonquin has been furnishing these vacations to the underprivileged of the city for 34 years. Many of the camp facilities have been made possible by readers of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, who annually contribute to the Camp Algonquin fund sponsored by The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. Last year $1,235 was contributed by generous readers, and more than $10,000 by the charities organization.

Before the camp closes on Aug. 31, more than 1,500 children and women will have been given two weeks of carefree days. One hundred and eighty undernourished youngsters will have spent five weeks acquiring healthy tans in Harlowarden, the health building unit of the camp.

Forty-six Counselors on Duty.

Forty-six counselors will watch over the youngsters. In charge of the camp will be kindly Mrs. Astrid Save, who has directed the vacation grounds for years.

Despite all these preparations, Camp Algonquin looks once more to readers of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE to make these vacations a success. Each child will cost the camp more than $6 a week due to the rising cost of food prices, Mrs. Save said yesterday.

This war year THE TRIBUNE asks its readers to be more than generous. Contributions will be gratefully acknowledged in these columns. They should be sent to The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., Tribune Tower, Chicago.

MOVE TO IMPORT ROCKFORD LABOR DRAWS PROTEST

Rockford, Ill., June 2 [Special].—A move by the war man power commission to bring from 100 to 150 Negro families here to fill a labor shortage in foundries is being vigorously opposed by the Rockford city council, the Winnebago county housing authority, officers of several labor unions, and residents of the area where the Negroes are to be housed in a federally owned trailer camp just south of the city.

Several hundred residents of the Morris Kennedy and Dock River school districts, in which the camp is located, have sent protests to federal public housing officials in Washington, to United States Senators Wayland Brooks and Scott Lucas, to Gov. Dwight Green, and to Rockford district representatives in the legislature.

Members of the Winnebago county housing authority recently expressed unanimous objection "to the influx of any more colored people into our community or into any of the housing projects under our management."

Wire Trouble in West Breaks Radio Programs

Line trouble somewhere west of Denver caused the interruption last night of several chain radio programs originating on the west coast, notably the Eddie Cantor show and the Kay Kyser quiz program. National Broadcasting officials said the lines went out and this was corroborated by the telephone company, but the cause was not known to officials here.

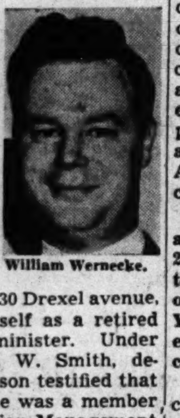
WERNECKE GOOD PREACHER, TRIAL WITNESS SAYS

Member of Sect Recalls Defendant's Sermon.

Preaching talents of William Bernard Wernecke, former official of the German-American bund, were praised by a witness yesterday as the defense opened its case in Wernecke's trial on draft evasion charges before a jury in the court of Federal Judge John P. Barnes.



William Wernecke.

The witness was Martin Carlson, 79 years old, 930 Drexel avenue, who identified himself as a retired Swedish Baptist minister. Under questioning by W. W. Smith, defense attorney, Carlson testified that from 1940 to 1942 he was a member of the Allied Christian Management Army, the religious sect in which Wernecke claims to be an ordained minister.

Calls Sermon Good.

Carlson said he frequently discussed religion with the defendant, and heard him preach one sermon.

"It was a good one," the witness affirmed.

Asked how Wernecke's preaching ability compared with other ministers, Carlson said:

"I would say his ability is equal to 80 per cent of the present ministers."

The witness was shown a document purporting to be Wernecke's ordination certificate. He said he signed it as dean of the Christian Ministry college, an organization which had an office at 82 West Washington street.

Didn't See Ordination.

Under cross-examination by Assistant United States Atty. Richard G. Finn, Carlson admitted he was not present at the ordination service.

The witness admitted that last August he made a statement to agents of the federal bureau of investigation that the college existed only on paper.

At the morning session the government placed on the stand Raymond Joseph Healy, 29, of 338 West North avenue, who testified he visited the defendant several times in 1940 at Wernecke's farm near Wadsworth. Healy quoted Wernecke as saying: "We must find ways and means of preventing the [army] induction of national socialists," and said Wernecke outlined plans for founding a church in which all national socialists could claim to be ministers and thus escape the draft.

Recalls Religious Stand.

Another witness, Mrs. Irma Strope, 1710 Clybourn avenue, now a war plant inspector, testified she discussed religion with Wernecke while she worked on his farm.

"He told us that religion was just a theory and nothing to believe in," she said. "He said that Hitler had no religion and he [Wernecke] didn't believe in it either."

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with queries.]

STOCK CONTROL OFFICERS.

This is the fourth of a series of items describing opportunities for commissions in the navy supply corps. Civilians between 28 and 50 years of age with a broad administrative knowledge of stock control in large industrial plants or department stores and who know inventory control, stock control thru perpetual inventory, and fluctuating demands may be considered for commissions as assistants to supply officers at major naval stations. A college education is desirable, especially if the formal training included accounting, business administration, etc., but three or more years of experience in a executive position as outlined above is essential. Apply, Office of Naval Officer Procurement, Board of Trade, Chicago.

B. E. L. asks: "Can you suggest a likely place in service for a man 27 years old, who has been an interior decorator, window dresser for one of the largest stores in New York, Chicago, etc.? I've also had extensive art and commercial art courses."

ANSWER: You might consider a camouflage assignment in the army engineers corps, which has offices at 332 South Michigan avenue, where you may receive a preinduction interview. You also might consider the army air forces specialists. We have a special sheet of instructions and an application for those writing in for the air corps specialists assignment. Send a stamped, self addressed envelope.

D. K. S. writes: "I married in 1940 and have a child born in June, 1941. I am manager of a wholesale bakery and because of the acute shortage of workers, I have been forced to take over virtually all of the work as buyer, shop superintendent, sales manager, accountant, etc., and even some skilled work in the bakery. I was under the impression that this work is classed under 'food processing' and as such would entitle me to deferment, since I am a father, too. Yet my Chicago draft board has put me in 1-A.

ANSWER: We checked with selective service headquarters about why you were reclassified to 1-A and here is the response: "Because you were married before Dec. 8, 1941, and your child was born before Sept. 15, 1942, you are now entitled to a 3-A classification, that is, if you are maintaining a bona-fide family relationship in your home with your child. The only exception would be if you were engaged in an activity or occupation which has been declared 'non-deferrable.' Wholesale bakeries are considered essential activity and therefore your board should not reclassify you on the grounds of a non-deferrable activity. We suggest you seek the assistance of the government appeal agent of his board."

Week of June 13 Slated as 'Anti-Litter Week'

Mayor Kelly yesterday designated the week of June 13 to June 19 as "Anti-Litter week" for the city and particularly for the parks. The Chicago park district requested the campaign in anticipation of record crowds in the parks this summer because of rationing of gasoline. George J. Ehmann, maintenance supervisor for the parks, estimated that 250 men and women are employed full and part time in picking up papers and litter in the parks at a cost of more than $125,000 per year.

FARMERS WORK AROUND CLOCK TO SPEED CROPS

Shift Labor, Machines to Make Up Time.

Urbana, Ill., June 2 [Special].—Illinois farmers are largely solving their increased labor and machinery problems resulting from recent floods by closer coöperation among themselves, working of machinery "around the clock," and shifting of available labor supplies from less critical sections of the state, Dean H. P. Rusk of the University of Illinois college of agriculture reported today.

Dean Rusk said the machinery problem in the latest state-wide check was found to be not as critical as first reported, altho 30 tractors are still under water in one county. Manufacturers and dealers responded quickly to farmers' appeals and much of the state's farm equipment is now in working order and being utilized, most of it from sunrise to sunset and those machines with lights thruout the night.

Army Offers Help.

"I received today from the army information on how to obtain the assistance of service mobile repair units," he said, "but I don't believe there will be many places in Illinois where we will be forced to call on the army to help repair our machinery."

Paul Johnson, head of the university's extension service emergency labor program, told of how farmers whose lands were still under water helped neighbors where the high waters had receded. Men in the towns who can drive tractors are "spelling" farmers so tractors can be kept in operation thruout the day and, wherever possible, thruout the night.

Johnson said so far Illinois' crops are being handled with little or no loss due to labor shortage. The strawberry crop is finding sufficient pickers available, he said, for the light crop. The cool weather also delayed the asparagus crop and little difficulty has been encountered in harvesting that.

Plan Shift of Workers.

"The real pinch will come when we get into harvesting peas for the canning factories," Johnson said, "but we believe we can solve that by shifting available labor from other sections of the state. There also will be a heavy demand for labor for seed corn detasseling.

Johnson said that 174 farm workers from Jamaica had been put to work in the asparagus fields at Rochelle and were performing excellent work. He said more might be brought into the state later if the labor situation warrants additional outside help.

Return of Beardstown citizens routed from their homes by flood waters has been ordered delayed by the state department of public health, which has not as yet approved sanitary conditions within that area. Spokesmen for the health department and for Adjt. Gen. Leo M. Boyle, state flood relief coördinator, said it would be at least Thursday before the area would be in a habitable condition.

NORTHWESTERN NAVAL ROTC IN FINAL REVIEW

Nearly 350 smartly uniformed members of the naval R. O. T. C. at Northwestern university paraded in their final review of the year yesterday in Deering meadow, Evanston campus, before naval and university dignitaries. Six outstanding members received Chicago Tribune medals. Thirty-seven of the unit will be commissioned ensigns June 16.

Capt. E. A. Lofquist, chief of staff of the 9th naval district, was the reviewing officer. He inspected ranks closely, and in a speech commented that American youth held an advantage over youth of many other lands in that they were not being trained for war only, but also for peace. Franklyn Bliss Snyder, university president, also spoke.

The Tribune awards were presented by Comdr. Smith D. A. Cobb, assigned to the R. O. T. C. unit. Gold medals went to Leo O'Brien, 657 North Austin boulevard, and R. W. Leiss, 1045 Ridge avenue, Evanston; silver medals to J. R. Lindquist of Rockford, Ill., and Robert Brookman, 1541 Norwood avenue, and bronze medals to Borivoj Franko, of Des Plaines, and Sheldon Porte, 3839 Ainslee street. Midshipman Porte was presented with the battalion colors by Miss Anne Glass, Farmingdale, N. Y., after they had been won by the 2d company, of which he is a member.

FARE ROBS CAB DRIVER.

A passenger who alighted from a Yellow cab at 424 St. James place held up the driver, Clarence Larson, 2208 North Clark street, and robbed him of $14 late Tuesday night, he reported to police.

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM

The FARM by Gail Compton

THAT old bugaboo, wild mustard, has appeared again on the farm in greater strength than ever. This pretty gold flowered weed rapidly is becoming one of the most serious pest problems facing middlewestern farmers.

The vivid splashes of gold that decorate the hay and grain fields may form a pleasant picture, but they are only a headache to the farmer. The wet weather has held the weed back several weeks but it is growing now in abundance all thru the fields. Once wild mustard gets a start it spreads rapidly and soon begins to choke out hay and grain. It is especially difficult to control in grain fields because it usually has gone to seed by harvest time, assuring itself a good start for next year.

Just one mustard plant may produce as many as 2,500 seeds. When plowed under these may live for several years and then sprout when brought to the surface.

Seeds May Lie Dormant.

About the only certain method of extermination is to go thru the fields and pull the plants by hand before they go to seed. This has been done in previous years at the farm in spots where the infestation has been severe. Lack of time and labor makes it impossible this year.

Another way of handling a heavily infested field is to clip it with a mower before the plants ripen. This can be done by setting the cutting bar high.

Pasturing fields with sheep has proved effective but this could not, of course, be done in the grain fields. The sheep will eat the weed down to its roots. Persistent efforts along this line eventually will clean up the field.

Spray Proves Effective.

The University of Wisconsin has proved the value of a commercial preparation in treating wild mustard. Called sinox, the compound is a preparation of 30 per cent sodium dinitro-ortho-cresylate and 70 per cent water. This chemical is applied as a 1 per cent solution at the rate of 100 gallons per acre.

The university obtained 98 per cent control of many common farm weeds with the spray. It does not, however, control well established Canada thistle, quack grass or bull thistle. It also should not be used on hay fields as tests show that it will harm alfalfa and clover seedlings, often destroying as much as 40 per cent of the stand.

The large sample garden on the Wheaton farm as it appeared on May 26. Reports of this plot (60 feet wide and 510 feet long) are printed daily in this space. Dominant rows in the garden include cabbages, onions, tomato plants, head lettuce, and four rows of peas.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

THIS is the time for home gardeners to take precautions against the cutworm. These troublesome garden pests are special nuisances in tomato patches and show themselves by knifing thru the tomato stems at ground level. The novice gardener is likely to think that some one has used a pair of scissors to cut the plants, so sharply do cutworms shear off the stems.

Poisonous substances must be used to destroy cutworms, therefore caution must be exercised in placing the baits. The University of Illinois recommends a mixture containing one-half ounce of paris green, a half pound of coarse bran, and about one-third of a cup of light lubricating oil. Used oil can be procured from any gas station for this mixture.

When thoroly mixed this bait can be placed on the ground or on jar lids in the area of the garden being attacked by cutworms. The bait should be set out in the evening and picked up the next morning to eliminate the danger of poisoning children or dogs.

PEACE PLANS WITHIN THE CONSTITUTION.

The appointment of a Republican party commission to study plans for peace provides an occasion for observing again that the only kind of peace that will be acceptable to Americans is one which does not destroy our Constitution. Americans believe—and can prove—that under our form of government men are freer to develop their talents and, in consequence, well-being is more widespread here than under any other governing scheme that is known or projected. That being so, our people can be expected to reject any system of super-government that will take from our people the control over their own affairs and the guarantees of liberty embodied in the Constitution.

That does not mean that the United States must stand aloof from other nations and have no political relations with them. It does mean that any arrangements we may make for coöperation with other countries must fall within the framework of our Constitution.

One such plan—States Across the Sea—was suggested in these columns some weeks ago. We pointed out that if Britain and the British dominions or any other peoples wish a closer association with the United States in the long future and we share the desire, the simplest way of achieving the goal is thru expansion of the American Union to include those political units as states. The Constitution permits this kind of expansion. All that would be required would be a request for admission from any or all of them and an appropriate joint resolution of acceptance by congress. If that were done, no Briton [except the king, the royal family, and the nobility] would lose anything by way of privileges, liberty, or income and no American would have reason to fear that a super-government had reduced the Constitution with its guarantees to impotence.

There is at least one other means by which America could, within the Constitution, coöperate more intimately with foreign nations for the preservation of peace. Among the enumerated powers of congress is the one which authorizes it to "define and punish offenses against the law of nations." We have pointed out in these columns how a body of international law can be created by acts of congress concurred in by other powers.

Thus, congress might enact a law, and other nations concur in it, declaring that no nation shall impose its authority on another by force. Or, if that were thought to be too drastic, we might pass an act declaring that no nation shall attack another without a declaration of war. These suggestions and many others which might be made are put forward only as illustrations of how the procedure might be employed. If this method were used, each country would then be committed by its own law to do something except look the other way when an aggression had been committed. Consultations would follow as a matter of course and there is every reason to expect they would be quite as effective as under any of the schemes of world government that have been put forward by earnest, and not always patriotic, pamphleteers. We do not advocate this method or the alternative States Across the Sea, but we do stress the point that both of them, while providing for coöperative action, have the great virtue of leaving the United States in being and its Constitution in force.

We submit that any American who rejects both of these plans out of hand is lacking in appreciation of the stupendous value of American liberty to himself and of the American form of government as an example to the world of how men can best live together. As for those who would undermine the Constitution, their attitude is little short of treason. Those whose schemes of international government would weaken or destroy the Constitution can properly be suspected of ulterior purposes: either the purposes of Ambassador Davies, who, with his Film of Falsehoods, is trying to reduce us to a Communist state; or the purposes of some of the eastern seaboarders who think they can raise themselves socially if they can return our country to the status of a colony.

THE ACCIDENT ACCOUNT.

An article in the Illinois Labor Bulletin, monthly publication of the state department of labor, compares the industrial accident experience of Illinois with that of the United States as a whole. The comparison is on the basis of man hours worked in a number of leading industries. The number of accidents per million hours worked is called the frequency rate. The number of days of work lost per thousand hours worked is called the severity rate.

The text of the article tells of a particular application of this method of analyzing industrial accidents. In an Illinois enameling plant employing 110 men there were, during the year 1941, seven lost time accidents, resulting in the loss of 880 man days. That was equivalent to 32 accidents per million hours. That was much worse than the Illinois average or the national average for that industry. The severity rate was also excessive, measured by the experience of other plants both in Illinois and in the United States. The enameling industry as a whole has too many accidents judged by what other industries have been able to do in reducing accidents, but this one company had a notoriously bad record, and the figures called attention to its derelictions in unmistakable fashion.

Workmen's compensation payments come high. In 1941 aggregate payments to Illinois workmen on cases closed totaled $8,502,923. That does not represent the total wage loss, however. From studies made in Wisconsin some years ago from data for that and other states, it was concluded that compensation amounted to only 22 per cent of the realized and prospective wage loss of those injured. Applying the percentage to the compensation awards in 1941 in Illinois it appears that Illinois industrial accidents cost nearly 40 million dollars that year.

Money is wasted where there are accidents that can be prevented. The frequency and severity rates show what the average is for each industry. These figures ought to be studied carefully by every production manager. At any time it costs money to train new employés. Now more than the money loss is involved. Replacements aren't available. Every man day lost will delay delivery of materials for the army and navy, and thus help Hirohito and Hitler.

We are happy to note that the record in this state of the industry in which we are engaged is much better than the national average. Printing and publishing newspapers has a low accident frequency rate and one of the lowest severity rates.

RUBBER AND FREEDOM FROM WANT.

Mr. Foust of The Tribune staff visited the synthetic rubber plant that has just been placed in operation at Baton Rouge and was told by A. L. Freelander, president of the operating corporation, that out of present research in synthetic rubber there will come in time a puncture-proof tire that will last for the life of the automobile on which it is placed.

Mr. Freelander explained that synthetics, tailored to meet particular requirements, will serve mankind better than natural rubber, and as a result new uses for which natural rubber is not fitted will be found. This is just what was to be expected when American technology and skill in production were set to work to overcome the loss of the British and Dutch rubber plantations across the Pacific.

We are paying common and semi-skilled labor at Baton Rouge from 62 cents to $1.22 an hour, as compared with 14 cents a day on the Hevea plantations. The workers of Baton Rouge are able to supply rubber at prices not greatly in excess of those charged for the production of the half-starved coolies on the plantations because our implements are towering stacks, and tanks, and high pressure stills, instead of machetes and sap buckets. The advantage in the long run will favor the synthetic plants, as their technology is developed and production methods are improved, tho it should be remembered that great advances are to be expected, also, in increasing the yield of the rubber trees.

As Mr. Foust noted, the complicated masses of machinery in the plant have no look of impermanency. The workmen and officials do not regard themselves as engaged in a temporary war time job, yet he finds this aspect is being soft pedaled for "diplomatic reasons." We have heard some of this before.

Mr. Wallace is supposed to have hampered the synthetic rubber program at its outset by insistence that we avoid permanent competition with the rubber barons of the western Pacific. Just how Mr. Wallace reconciles this attitude with his famed program of a quart of milk a day for everybody in the world it is hard to see. The rubber workers of the tropics aren't going to buy much milk on 14 cents a day unless it is furnished them gratis by the American dairymen.

It is likewise hard to see how Mr. Wallace or the rest of the Washington internationalists can reconcile their championship of the rubber barons with the Atlantic Charter, because the whole basis of the natural rubber industry is the poverty of the native population. In those crowded tropical countries the best land has been preëmpted for the commercial plantations. The native population, as prolific as the jungle itself, has had to import its food and the resultant competition for employment has been so intense as to force wages down to the 14 cents a day level.

It is only by the use of half-starved, inefficient native labor that rubber growing can be a profitable enterprise. If freedom from want were ever bestowed on the Malayans and Javanese, in the form of income sufficient to give them even a minimum standard of living, no tariffs would be necessary to protect the American synthetic rubber industry. Malaya and Java would have to erect a tariff to keep American rubber out of their own ports.

The crux of our rubber question is whether we are to have American labor producing a superior article at decent wages or are to go back to enriching the plantation corporations of London and Amsterdam which make their profits out of exploiting half-starved populations. So far the great humanitarians of Washington have cast their influence on the side of the rubber barons.

VENEREAL DISEASE IN BRITAIN.

The army newspaper, Stars and Stripes, reports that in the first four months of this year more than 2,000 American soldiers in the European theater of operations have contracted venereal disease. The rate is said to be 48 per cent higher than among troops in this country.

Medical officers of our army say that British regulations directed against the spread of syphilis and gonorrhea are a good deal less stringent or, at any rate, a good deal less effective in protecting the soldier than ours have generally proved to be. Accordingly, extraordinary efforts are being made to instruct our soldiers stationed in England in both the danger and the prevention of venereal disease.

That is as it should be, but a further step might be taken by our authorities in urging the British government to more aggressive action. If there are any measures used in the more advanced section of this country, such as punishing prostitution, forbidding solicitation on the streets, and quarantining carriers until they can no longer spread infection, these measures ought to be adopted in England if they have not been already. We do not doubt that the British government can readily be persuaded to enforce reasonable regulations to safeguard the health of our soldiers, particularly as the same measures cannot fail to benefit the British army and civilian population also.

If our efforts should succeed in reducing the prevalence of venereal disease in Britain, perhaps similar measures might be adopted in Washington, D. C., which at present is the syphilis capital of the United States.

It has been suggested that we ought to double federal taxes, bringing the total to 70 billion dollars. This proposal is based on the sound theory that the other fellow would do all the paying.—Kansas City Star.

"We must have bagpipes play our victorious troops into Berlin," a British member of parliament remarks, unwisely. It is such threats, sometimes, that steel a wavering foe.—Detroit News.

STRIKE UP THE BAND!

The Chicago Tribune March broke into the news when a regimental band played it at Memorial day services on an island in the South Pacific. The dedication of this march, which antedates John Philip Sousa and is still in use among earnest devotees of the tuba, the cornet, and the snare drum, is "To the editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE"—so printed on the scores and parts. At the time of its composition, when the World's Columbian Exposition of 1893 was in the bud, that editor was Joseph Medill.

* * *

About two months ago an old subscriber and brass band musician in Indiana wrote to this column, mentioning the Tribune March. He had played it frequently; he admired it; and he wanted to know why in all these years of radio programs he had never heard it over W-G-N.

The rescinding of the taboo against trouser cuffs, with certain haggling qualifications, may be a sure sign that the tide of war has turned in our favor. On the other hand, it may mean that our ships are now returning from Australia with cargoes of wool, which would have been a happy thought a year ago before trousers became reconciled to the edict.

* * *

Among the characters that columnists encounter in their harried lives is the pun-hater. He differentiates between "good" puns and "bad" puns, but he frowns upon the entire species and is not reluctant in expressing his distaste. He will quote Alexander Pope's line, "He that would pun would pick a pocket," and Oliver Wendell Holmes' autocratic table talk, "People that make puns are like wanton boys that put coppers on the railroad tracks."

* * *

But other great minds of literature have defied the pun-haters. "I never knew an enemy to puns," wrote Charles Lamb, "who was not an ill-natured man." Edgar Allan Poe remarked, "Of puns it has been said that those most dislike who are least able to utter them."

THE WAY SPRING CAME.

It came so gently that we scarcely knew
When foolish grumbling ceased; the dreary sky
Held only rain till buds forgot to grow
And hopes that flowered seemed but born to die.
But now, knee deep in June, we see how vain
Our doubt; the burgeoning of spring, endowed,
Brings bright fulfilment to dark days of rain
And crowns the promise of the patient cloud.
So, too, the peace shall find us unawares;
Some day, when war looms endless in our fears,
The precious answer to unnumbered prayers
Shall blossom quietly, and thru our tears
Our hearts shall welcome all that faith foreknew;
The summer's blessed gold, come richly true.

The Death of Dirty Gertie.

[By the Line O' Type's special correspondent in North Africa, dated May 16, 1943.]

To report on the alleged popular song, "Dirty Gertie from Bizerte," there is no such song. There should be one, but there ain't. No soldier that I know, no officer, no roving correspondent has ever heard words or music, only the title. Our local rag, the Stars and Stripes, offered a prize of some sort to any one who could send in the words of only one verse, but got no answers.

So far, we have had no songs in this war, only "Roll Out the Barrel," which is not really a war song and was popular even before the invasion of Poland. I feel there are certain definite reasons for not singing, aside from a certain sadness from the technical standpoint, up to recently. First, we don't march any more, and so have no need for song to help us accomplish the last long mile. Movements, especially in armored units, are all made by motor, and the bumping thereof does not lend itself to any known musical cadence. Inside a tank a guy cannot hear his own thoughts, much less the musical acts of his own voice or any one else's.

Another factor that has ruined the song market is the radio. Practically all our vehicles are radio equipped. We can get not only the United States, but all Europe, including the German broadcasts in English. Corny stuff, may I say in passing. Berlin, however, has a lady announcer with a delicious voice that we would like to meet. She told us that in New York people thought she was English, in London she was taken for an American, in Paris they knew at once she was Spanish, and in the Virgin Islands they thought she was a Russian. A gusty laugh went up at that one across the Sahara.

Imagine the bow gun firing on the foe and the rest of the vehicle crew listening to Bing Crosby or Bob Hope in their earphones. If you didn't see it, you wouldn't believe it.

YEARS AND DAYS.

The years now gone, my grasp they have eluded;
The days—how like a shuttle in their passing!
But I have gained from them a quiet spirit;
Shall I then mourn them?

The years to be—I shall not fear their coming;
Tomorrow—that shall not so soon concern me.
Today is mine, and greedily I hold it,
Seizing its treasure.

Suggestion for an Uncarved Keystone.

I suggest for the bust that should be over the Chicago Public library's doorway on Randolph street the man who might be called its founder. He was Thomas Hughes, the English author whose "Tom Brown at Rugby" is a classic story of school life. Immediately after the Chicago fire, Hughes called England's attention to the city's need of books. He headed a committee which collected a large number of books, and they arrived before Chicago had a building to house them. The Hughes gift was the nest egg of the library's 2,000,000 books or more.

Captain John.

One of the current crop of psychiatrizing jackasses claims that nursery rhymes "are full of hidden, sometimes erotic, signs and symbols." "Symbol Simon met a pieman," one presumes?

Safety Zone Jim.

Since "Dirty Gertie from Bizerte" is a myth [see above], and the American troops in North Africa need a topical song, we suggest "Sahara Sue," by Dan Steele, published here months ago. You will find it in the next Line Book.

WARTS—OFF AGAIN, ON AGAIN.

WARTS are not caused by handling toads. Neither do they come from fondling household pets. They are virus infections which attack the skin, heaping up tiny mounds of horny cells. They may occur singly or in colonies, sometimes in chains.

There are scores of "cures" some of which are to be taken internally, while others are to be rubbed on. But no matter what is used, success will be reported because these protuberances have a fashion of disappearing spontaneously. Even before the seventh son of a seventh son has a chance to display his powers, the excrescences may vanish.

Just why this happens, we do not know. Perhaps the body acquires an immunity to the "bug" by developing neutralizing substances. The chances are that some alteration takes place within the system, which destroys the causative agent.

Laxatives, such as Epsom salts or lime water, are looked upon as sovereign remedies. If they work it is probably a coincidence altho it may well be that the infection is influenced by changes brought about within the digestive tract.

As a rule, we get rid of these unwelcome guests thru the application of a chemical which is strong enough to dissolve the growth but which will not damage the surrounding skin. Salicylic acid in alcohol can be applied lightly once or twice daily with a fine applicator. If very small quantities of the solution are employed, the parts will not become irritated or inflamed.

Should the face be involved, expert management will be demanded. A light dose of X-ray or the Grenz rays, properly screened and filtered, may be effective. Naturally, exposures will need to be guarded as carelessness may result in a severe injury. Capillaries may dilate, inflicting an unsightly blemish. Radium likewise may be utilized.

For those around a finger nail, close to the bed, a thin pencil of carbon dioxide snow has been advocated. Two or three treatments will usually suffice. Located in these regions, warts are extremely annoying because they are so likely to become infected.

Many experts prefer the electrocautery. The coagulating current has one disadvantage—namely, it may be somewhat painful. Furthermore, a burn may leave a scar which is anything but a pleasant sequel.

We ordinarily think of these pests as characteristic of childhood. A study of thousands of cases reveals, however, that more complaints come from 16 year olds than from any other group. After the 26th birthday they are infrequent altho among our elderly friends a type peculiar to a shrinking cuticle may be observed.

We must recall that we are dealing with a disease that can be inoculated and transmitted. Furthermore, a solitary visitor may mean another or a dozen. The virus seems to travel thru the epidermis to adjacent areas. In fact, even after removal, recurrences somewhere in the neighborhood may be encountered.

TRANSPLANTING LIDS.

R. M. C. writes: Is it possible to have eyelashes and eyebrows grafted on after they have been burned off?

REPLY.

True grafting [so that they will grow] cannot be accomplished. The only successful method involves the transfer of skin which contains hair follicles.

KIDNEYS ARE INJURED.

M. L. writes: Is uremia a poison that gets into the blood stream?

REPLY.

This condition is characterized by the retention of substances which the kidneys should excrete. Because they have been damaged, they are unable to function normally.

HAPPY'S RELUCTANT ADMIRER.

Fort Thomas, Ky., May 29.—Since manipulating himself into the United States senate upon the death of Sen. M. M. Logan there has been but little in the actions of Kentucky's junior senator of which one could approve. But it is impossible not to admire the courage displayed in slapping the Great Indispensable in the face by demanding that the administration recognize the Japanese government as America's number one enemy, and that our war in the Pacific be given priority over the European fracas now apparently drawing to a close.

It is probable that Sen. Chandler, like many others, sees only the immediate military danger involved in the administration's humble acquiescence to the demands of Great Britain and Russia to get Hitler first. But pursuance of this course can only result in one thing. After this has been accomplished and peace has returned in Europe we will find ourselves, practically alone, facing a strong and well entrenched enemy in a major conflict. In this connection it is well to remember that the chances of Russia ever entering the war against Japan are extremely remote and that Winston Churchill, despite his glowing promises to congress, recently promised his people at least partial demobilization of their forces with the close of the war in Europe.

Thus, while we are still diverting most of our industrial capacity to the production of materials of war for the defeat of the Japanese, our present friends and foes alike in Europe will be given the opportunity to rehabilitate their peace time industries and to engage in aggressive campaigns to corner a major share of the commerce of the world, especially that with Central and South America. When, at last, we win the victory in the Pacific we will find most of the doors to foreign trade shut in our faces and, probably, our own country flooded with European made civilian needs and luxuries. The only possible outcome of this will be industrial stagnation and widespread unemployment here in America with millions of returning American boys and men tramping the streets looking for jobs that do not exist.

No matter how much we may all thoroly despise Hitler and all he represents, and no matter how much those within the administration inner circles may blindly worship Britain and Russia, the rationally minded among us must demand that the best interests of the American people be given precedence over all else. We must clear our eyes of the sand the cleverest propagandists in all history have thrown in them and look forward to the future with the same coldly realistic vision with which our European allies and present enemies view theirs.

And so, altho a Kentucky Republican, the writer concludes with, "Good boy, Happy! You may have blundered into it but you are in the right groove at last!" LEWIS R. KIMBERLY.

OIL RATIONING WASTE.

Chicago, May 20.—We didn't use any more fuel oil for heating this year than last, but on account of the OPA we had to take it in smaller quantities, thus paying a higher price. The truck had to make several unnecessary trips to our home and I had to stay at home from going to the Red Cross two days each time to wait for the truck.

I try to be a good citizen and coöperate in every way with the war effort, but I'll be darned if I can see any saving in this. People who have the facilities should be allowed to take in their winter's supply at once to save the price of the oil as well as trips for the truck. REGIMENTED.

MEMORIAL DAY PARADE.

Chicago, May 30.—It was a beautiful, colorful spectacle, resplendent with fluttering flags and banners, prancing majorettes, stirring music, rolling drums, and a hundred other things that make you feel you cannot contain your heart another minute, and your overflowing pride makes it hard to keep the tears dammed up within.

Two young sailors stood on a window sill at the Art Institute. At times they indulged in a few jitterbug steps that are a component part of their youth; at others they exchanged pleasantries with all the pretty girls within reach of their voices. However, each time a flag went by they snapped rigidly to attention and saluted. Along the sidelines, hundreds of other young soldiers, sailors, and marines did the same, but one somehow gained the impression that they saluted because they wanted to, and not merely because it was a part of their training.

There were older men, too; veterans of the Spanish-American war, the Mexican campaign, World War I. Some were tall and thin, others short and paunchy, others weatherbeaten, but all with lined faces and touches of gray in their hair. For some it was an effort to keep in step. You knew they were tired, that their bunions probably hurt. Some were stooped and round shouldered. Some carried flags, some canes, some outmoded rifles; others just marched, flaunting campaign hats that recalled memories of San Juan; remnants of uniforms that were present at Chateau Thierry, bluejackets that rode the Atlantic in '17, but the wearer of each strove valiantly to preserve the military bearing he had acquired a quarter century ago or more.

Looking at those determined, care-worn oldsters still carrying on, and the smiling, clear eyed, equally determined youngsters who are taking up where their fathers left off, would cause your heart to break with pride and emotion. I for one couldn't help thinking that if Hitler, Mussolini, and Hirohito were standing on those sidelines with me the war would end tomorrow.

FROM THE U. S. O.

Chicago, May 28.—It has come to my attention that the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., has recently turned over to one of our representatives a check for $1,705.22 representing the net proceeds from the sale of the service pins, which idea was sponsored and promoted by your organization.

Besides thanking you on behalf of United Service Organizations council and more particularly on behalf of the boys who are the ultimate recipients of this beneficence, I write to express my own sincere word of thanks and appreciation. JEFFREY R. SHORT,

THE UMBRELLA WAS RETURNED.

Chicago, May 29.—P. L. Mundy—the writer read your version of the stolen umbrella. Too bad you had not first inquired at the lost and found of the Chicago and North Western, where it was promptly returned. Sorry to have caused you so much bitterness! Unintentionally, during the "black-out" caused by your newspaper being spread out completely against the window in the coach, the writer carried out the umbrella—unconcealed. She must have stood in line several minutes with it, in full view on her arm, when leaving the coach. A neighbor witnessed the writer's dismay upon finding that she had accidentally taken somebody else's umbrella, and the train had already pulled out. A phone call was made to the Chicago and North Western, informing them that the umbrella would be returned Saturday morning. M. V.

PARENTS' FAILURES.

Chicago, May 27.—Anent "All Boys Do It," by Marie Patton, in today's issue of the Voice of the People, we trust that she is not a mother, for it is just such mothers who make policemen necessary.

They are the kind of mammas who make school discipline a dread to most teachers today. The kind of mothers who, more than the children themselves, are responsible for the roughnecks of both sexes among the youngsters of the present. Children of the right kind of parents do not throw rocks at any windows, anywhere, more than once.

We have no brief for the police department but we know that shooting at children would be the very last resort of a policeman. C. F. PETERSON.

MRS. BENN ON THE FLAG.

Chicago, May 29.—I wish to thank you for the illustration and explanatory remarks regarding the flag code which appeared in a late issue of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, as the item will prove very helpful to your thousands of readers.

The citizens of the United States wish to display the Star Spangled Banner correctly and it is only thru ignorance that they display it otherwise. The printing of the article was a patriotic act and will be reflected thruout Chicagoland. The timid citizen who did not know just how to display the flag will now do so with assurance and your paper will be quoted many times as his authority. HARRIETT CONDEE BENN.

Ask Furniture for Cripples' Summer Camp

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

We hope that our readers can provide some assistance to the agency which sends the following appeal. It is an organization of handicapped persons which takes an active interest in the support of a summer camp for crippled children. Their funds are limited but the need is great, perhaps even greater than ever this year, when many mothers are employed and away from home during the vacation period.

"Dear Miss Brown: My recent request in your column brought such an overwhelming response that I am wondering if I dare ask for something else. We expect the camp to be a little crowded this summer, and I doubt if we will have enough comfortable seats for all our crippled youngsters. We would like to obtain several pieces of porch and lawn furniture, particularly the folding type, which can be moved in hurriedly in case of rain and can be stored away easily during the winter months.

"We have found that overstuffed and leather furniture is ruined by the damp winters and the field mice—so we have had to replace most of our furnishings in the last couple of years.

"We will be glad to call for any offers."—C. L.

3. Repair shoes promptly—uppers, soles, and heels.
4. Shine shoes daily with SHINOLA Liquid or Paste. Let SHINOLA'S blended waxes help seal out dirt and weather—help "feed" the leather, keep it limber, prevent deep cracks. See how quickly shoes shine!

Women in War Work

Lillian Mowarwski, welder, at work on torpedo.

Out of a factory once devoted to the manufacture of farm machinery that made possible the harvesting of abundant crops in many countries of the world today goes death and destruction in car lots for the enemies of the United States.

This factory, formerly the farm machinery plant of the International Harvester company, now is producing aerial torpedoes which the chief of naval ordnance has described as the most powerful offensive weapon in the hands of the allied nations.

Almost 2,000 persons are engaged in torpedo manufacture in the main plant. Thirty-five per cent of these are women, and from 50 to 100 women are being hired each week to replace men taken away from the plant to enter service.

Because torpedo manufacture is foreign to persons skilled in the manufacture of nonprecision farm machinery it was necessary to train virtually all the employés in precision workmanship. Those who once worked with tolerance of a few thousandths of an inch now are producing parts with tolerances of only one ten thousandth of an inch.

Thousands of inspections are required for the 3,600 parts in a torpedo, and much hand fitting is necessary as a result of the fine tolerances. Scores of women have been trained in the use of precision measuring devices and the Harvester's inspection force numbers almost as many women as men.

In every department of the plant women are performing jobs considered impossible for them a few years ago. Many work in the machine shop, where a few have been trained in the skilled task of setting up jobs for others to run.

In the department where the drilling and cutting tools are sharpened and repaired women are not strangers. A number have become so skilled that they do as good work as men, and others will be added as soon as they can be found and taught the work.

About the only place in the plant where women are few is in final assembly and testing, where the weight of parts is beyond their capacity. However, there still are a few jobs they can perform and one pair, of whom the company is especially proud, has mastered gyroscope testing to the point that they can do as much work as the men.

Packing hundreds of pounds of TNT, the aerial torpedo manufactured at the plant is 13½ feet long and 22 inches in diameter and has a gross weight of one ton. Driven by a steam turbine, the torpedo carries the destructive force to sink an enemy warship.

Learning that an aerial torpedo costs the United States navy $10,000, one who is permitted to see its manufacture from raw material to the shipping room can understand readily why the cost is so much. Every one of the 3,600 parts which goes into the torpedo is made with the precision of the finest watch.

Not only is the interior mechanism made with precision, but exterior surfaces and parts also must be held in close control to maintain the delicate balance necessary.

Every torpedo produced in the Harvester plant is tank tested under sea conditions before it leaves the plant. It is useless to ship a torpedo unless it is certain to work, according to Lt. Comdr. P. J. Griffin, the naval ordnance inspector who heads a staff of 10 officers and 2 chief petty officers stationed in the plant.

Lt. Comdr. Griffin was assigned to the Harvester plant before any of the 1,500 machine tools, all of which belong to the navy, was installed. Originally scheduled for production May 1, the plant actually produced its first torpedo last November and has been shipping them ever since.

Kate Massee, conductor of this column, is on vacation, and the column is being written by her assistants during her absence.

First Concert in Grant Park Set for July 6

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

The ninth season of free concerts at Grant park, under the auspices of the Chicago park district and the Chicago Federation of Musicians, will open at the band shell opposite Eleventh street Tuesday evening, July 6, with a concert by the Civic Opera orchestra, and will close Saturday evening, Aug. 28, with a concert conducted by Rudolph Ganz.

There will be five concerts each week, omitting Monday and Thursday evening performances, and there will be no concert Saturday evening, Aug. 21, when the 14th annual Chicago Music Festival takes place at Soldiers' field.

Among the additional orchestras and bands to be heard are the Chicago Symphony orchestra, the Woman's Symphony orchestra, the Chicago Philharmonic orchestra, Cavallo's Symphonic band, Armin Hand's band, Thaviu's band, and orchestras under the direction of Jerzy Bojanowski, George Dasch, Herman Felber, Rico Marcelli, Walter Steindel, and others to be announced later.

This announcement was made yesterday by R. J. Dunham, president of the park district, who stressed the importance of music for morale. "The fame of Chicago's open air concerts in Grant park has become world-wide," he said. "Millions of music lovers have enjoyed them in former years.

"The many thousands of service men and their families, as well as the influx of federal government employés now stationed here, will undoubtedly result in unusually large audiences. Presumably, as in past years, the leading broadcasting systems will carry the programs.

Curtailment of the Grant park season from 68 concerts in 1942 to the 38 scheduled this summer and cancellation of the usual summer concerts played at Lincoln, Jackson, and Garfield parks is due to a cut in the Chicago park district appropriation and to the fact that the Chicago Federation of Musicians is not bolstering the 1943 budget.

The free concerts were started in 1935 by James C. Petrillo, president of the federation, and that year the musicians' union paid the bills. Last summer the federation paid about $47,600 in addition to the $32,400 contributed by the Chicago park district.

This year the union is coöperating by selecting all bands and orchestras to appear at Grant park and by paying the announcer, instrument insurance, cartage, and some other incidental expenses.

A little Climalene does a LOT OF WORK

"BE THRIFTY", we said in peacetime. "A little Climalene does a lot of work. Why waste it? Measure it with a spoon instead of just pouring it in."

Now it is doubly important to use Climalene carefully. More people are using it for more purposes—wartime smoke and grime make its fast grease-dissolving, dirt-removing power more needed than ever.

So read the directions, even though you have used Climalene for years. You'll be surprised how little you have to use and how much you can save by measuring it with a spoon.

You will still enjoy these four famous advantages:

1. Gets out heavy dirt
2. Saves hard rubbing
3. Makes clothes whiter
4. Boosts suds . . . saves soap

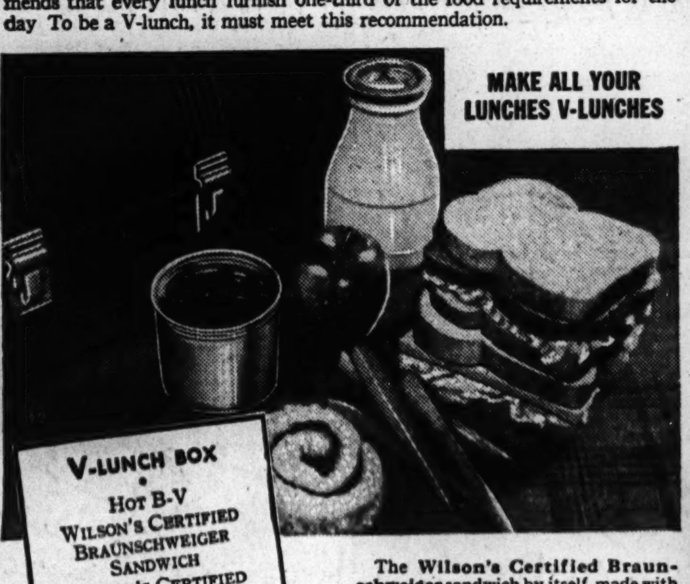
WILSON'S WEEKLY Bulletin

By George Rector
Food and Nutrition Consultant to Wilson & Co.

Wartime industry has increased tremendously the number of lunches carried daily. Because of the importance of good nutrition to health, lessened fatigue and accident prevention, any time and money spent in planning and preparing a nutritionally adequate lunch pays big dividends. The National Research Council recommends that every lunch furnish one-third of the food requirements for the day To be a V-lunch, it must meet this recommendation.

MAKE ALL YOUR LUNCHES V-LUNCHES



One Hot Dish Every Meal

For some time, nutritionists have stated that, even during hot weather, something hot should be served each meal. This may be either a soup or a beverage if a hot dish is not desired or convenient. If the lunch box you pack does not boast two thermos bottles, I would suggest you carry a hot drink or soup in the thermos and purchase milk at the canteen. Wilson's B-V makes a delicious hot drink for this purpose.

Nutritive Value Calculated

This lunch menu meets all the requirements for a V-lunch. Each one of the "Basic Seven" foods is represented except the citrus fruit group which most people prefer to use for breakfast. For an average sized, moderately active man, this lunch supplies ⅓ of the day's calorie requirement, ½ of the protein, ¾ of the calcium, all of the iron, Vitamin A and riboflavin (Vitamin B_2) requirements, ½ of the thiamin or Vitamin B_1 and ¼ of the Vitamin C requirement.

The Wilson's Certified Braunschweiger sandwich by itself, made with enriched bread and two slices of liver sausage, furnishes the day's requirement of both iron and Vitamin A. The Wilson's Certified Cheese sandwich furnishes a high quality protein as well as a generous amount of calcium and Vitamin A.

Women and men who sit at a desk all day will not need quite such a large lunch. Be careful, however, when planning a smaller lunch that it meets all the requirements for protein as well as the other important nutrients.

SELECT VICTORY LUNCH

If members of your family are fortunate enough to be able to buy their lunch at a company lunch room, they will be wise to select the Victory Lunch which so many are serving now.

The adequacy of the food we eat is not determined so much by the amount of money we spend as by the wisdom with which we make our choice of menu.

We can't afford to be absent from work one day, or work at decreased efficiency one hour, if we are to do our full share in winning this war.

Next week, I will discuss the value of protein in the diet.

Nutritionally yours,
George Rector

Whether our refrigerators and ranges are as efficient as we'd like them to be? We will have to make them do until the war is over. We must take good care of them, keep them clean, use them economically.

Many manufacturers of refrigerators and ranges are issuing pamphlets on their care these days, even tho they have no new goods to sell. These little booklets contain much good advice. Several of their important points are given below.

Care and Use of Refrigerators.

1. Defrost when there's an ice coating ¼ inch thick on the freezing unit. This may be done in a hurry, if you like, by turning off the current and filling the ice cube trays with hot water.

2. Wipe out freezing unit, and clean shelves and walls of refrigerator with warm water and soda at the time of defrosting. Do not use abrasives on the lining of the refrigerator. Wash ice cube trays in hot soapy water and scald.

3. Never crowd the refrigerator. A free circulation of air is essential.

4. Keep the door closed. Don't open it unnecessarily, and don't hold it open to study the contents.

5. Keep foods in their proper places. Meats, as well as frozen fruits and vegetables, may be kept in the freezing unit if you aren't particular about having ice cubes. Many women buy a week's supply of meat and store it in this way.

Keep meats directly under the freezer if not in it. Milk, cream and butter go on either side. Vegetables should be cleaned and kept in the hydrator on the bottom shelf. Keep eggs, milk and other dairy products away from foods with a strong odor or flavor.

6. Do not operate refrigerator continuously at a temperature lower than necessary for food preservation, about 45 degrees. Never let temperatures rise above 50 degrees.

Care and Use of Ranges.

1. Keep the porcelain finish wiped off. Wipe it with warm water and soda when it is warm or cool, but not hot. Do not use abrasives.

2. Keep the oven brushed out and wash the lining once a week or so, when the oven is cool.

3. Keep the broiler pan out of the oven except when in use. Heat may cause the enamel to crack.

4. Use utensils which fit the burners. Small ones are wasteful of gas or electricity. Large ones may damage the porcelain around burners.

5. Wash tray under gas burners frequently. Clean burners themselves with a stiff brush. If the flame openings become clogged, insert a small wire or a hat pin to free obstruction. Burners may be removed and washed with soapy water occasionally. They should be rinsed and then dried in the oven.

6. Allow electric burners to burn themselves free of spilled food.

7. Roast meats at low temperatures to avoid fat spatterings [and to produce best results.]

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY

A Secretary Speaks Her Mind.

"Dear Girls: I hope the time will come when every person who intends to work in an office will have to pass a test on 'How to dress and act in an office.'

"It is really a shame the way some of you girls report for work. For example, what could be more ugly than anklets and runover shoes that might be satisfactorily worn on a company picnic but are not suitable for office wear! Many times your legs show bruises or are blue from the cold—and that's not pretty either!

"And O, what has become of the perfectly dressed office girl? Those sloppy sweaters and blouses hanging over your skirts aren't smart and businesslike. Perhaps your high school business course failed to give you this tipoff: neatness is important when you find your place in the business world. Neatness in appearance is quite as important as in your work. The hair should be clean and in place. If you're grown-up enough to work in an office, then don't wear your hair as you did when a child. Hands and nails play a big part in a business woman's appearance. Dirt under the nails, or nails with partially peeled polish, these aren't the mark of a well groomed person.

"Take a few minutes and give yourself a checkup. Is your hair style becoming and tidy? Is your makeup carefully applied? Are your hands and nails well cared for? Is your dress clean and pressed? And your manners a credit to you? Do you leave your personal problems at home so as not to disturb others? Do you work at your job—or do you dash around from one desk to another telling where you were the night before, or so-and-so called and you have a date with Tom, Dick, or Harry?

"Do you bear in mind that your employer is paying you for your services and aim to do your job right? Do you?"—A Secretary.

Before the United States entered the war there were 20 American women physicians serving in England in the British medical service. . . . The many helpful letters with suggestions for remembering the difference between "affect" and "effect" have been forwarded to Lucille S., who called for assistance. . . . Drive Planned for Association House Funds

BY JUDITH CASS.

A campaign to raise $1,000 to carry on the work of Association House thru the summer is being started today, when about 1,000 letters asking for contributions will be received by friends of the settlement. Mrs. Howard F. Lewis, whose husband heads the board of directors; Mrs. Colin McK. Tennant, and Edward D. Benninghoven are chairmen of the drive.

Association House is on North avenue, near the North Avenue Day nursery, and at one time the two organizations were one. Two boards were organized, however, when it was decided to start the day nursery. Unlike the North Avenue group, which is to have a benefit cocktail party on June 22 at the Tavern, the Association House never has had a benefit party, but depends on individual contributions to maintain its service in that area of 80,000 population. It does not have a day nursery, but in order to continue its programs for older children it may have to start caring for children under 5, who often are left with their older brothers and sisters while their parents are at work.

Miss Ellen Holt was one of Association House's founders, and serves as a vice president. A new board member is Miss Evelyn Swift, who is to be married on June 26 to John M. Hadsall, also a director. A number of directors are inactive because they are serving with the army or navy, among them Lt. Frank S. Sims of the navy, a former president of the settlement, and Mrs. Sims; Lt. and Mrs. F. Strother Cary Jr. and Lt. and Mrs. George Schulz, also both of the navy. Mr. and Mrs. Hunter Hicks are other new board members. An infant welfare station is located at the settlement, where there are activities for children from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. daily.

Mary Louise Pierson's Wedding to Be June 10.

Mr. and Mrs. David Robert Pierson's attractive twin daughters, Mary Louise and Alice Claire, will be separated after June 10, which is the date set for the marriage of Mary Louise and Lt. Charles Edgar Bachman of the navy, son of Prof. and Mrs. Gustav Bachman of the University of Minnesota. The announcement of their engagement and the date of their wedding is being told simultaneously, for the ceremony was arranged suddenly to suit Lt. Bachman's orders.

The wedding will take place at 5 p. m. in the Church of the Holy Spirit, Lake Forest, with a small reception following in the Piersons' Lake Forest home. The Rev. Herbert W. Prince will read the service. Miss Pierson, who attended Lindenwood college, and her sister took part in the debutante festivities of two years ago, altho they did not have a formal party. Lt. Bachman is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and has been on duty in Iceland. He will take his bride to Florida to live, however. Prof. and Mrs. Bachman and their daughter and her husband, the Wallace E. Petris, will be here for the wedding.

Mary Farr's Betrothal Is Being Made Known.

A few days ago the engagement of Miss Anne Witherspoon of New York to H. Bartow Farr Jr. of that city was announced, and today Mr. Farr's father, the senior Mr. Farr, is announcing the engagement of his daughter, Mary Blair, to George Bartol Jr., U. S. N. R., of Philadelphia. Miss Farr and her brother are grandchildren of the late Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey J. Blair of Chicago. Their mother was Mildred Blair Farr.

At a recent tea in their Oak Park home, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Turner announced the engagement of their daughter, Marilynn, to Midshipman William E. Sanderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Sanderson of Evanston. Midshipman Sanderson was graduated from Sewanee Military academy at Sewanee, Tenn., and now a cadet at the merchant marine academy at King's Point, N. Y.

Mrs. Leland V. Pierson of Wilmette announces the engagement of her daughter, Nancy Virden, to Corp. Richard Symons Frazer, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Frazer of Winnetka. Miss Pierson, who attended De Pauw university, will be graduated tomorrow from the National College of Education. Next year she will teach in the nursery school of the Lake Forest Day school. Corp. Frazer, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, has

Cotton to Rule on Beach, Out of or in Swim

BY REA SEEGER.

Seagoing and beach lounging outfits, the eye catching swim suits and robes, hats, carryall bags, and sun glasses are here now for the summer. Critics of former years who raised an eyebrow over the revealing sleek elasticicized models now can take time out for other recreations, for the rubberized affairs have vanished with other war time dowithouts.

But crisp super-clean looking cotton, ribbed, and knitted cotton materials have come into their own for this summer anyway.

Not a smidge of anything cotton has been overlooked by the undefeatable swim suit designers. What's more, cheerful color contrasts as well as unusual combines of both color and materials make the current collections something to make or break all the records.

Every one who swims or desires to pose as decoratively as possible on the beach without going near the water will look pretty, there's not a problem suit in the shops. Skirts flare, the princess streamline is still the most feminine and becoming, and the skirt sections provide the right models for the figures that are not bathing contest winners.

Terry cloth robes in snow white, sunny yellow, blue, and a few greens and some gaudy, wide striped patterns are featured in this year's shortened affairs, but they are much smarter looking because they are short. These terry cloth robes serve a double purpose; buy them now, use them for a summer's swimming, then use them the rest of the year as a good blotting bath robe at home base.

Beach footgear also dramatizes cotton, cotton with a canvas texture, cotton to resemble twill and the trick, knitted stuff that stretches to fit the foot. Rope soles and the occasional wooden soles are the only choice.

Thru the Looking Glass

You'll find that cream cologne and airy dusting powder in the same fragrance are excellent companion pieces in muggy weather. Using both intensifies the scent and the cooling effect, we've found.

Some of our favorites of all the cream type colognes are tinted in pretty pale colors. They don't tint the skin, tho, in case you've been worried about the wisdom of using a pistachio green or a honey colored beige one as an after bath lotion. They dry almost instantly and are just about as bracing as the old pre-war type of cologne.

What we find most interesting is that in many instances the perfume lasts longer than it did when the alcohol-cologne was the medium for it! With our tinted pets we find that the perfume lingers longer.

When you use the creamy cologne after your bath you use it just as you did the old type, rubbing it lightly into the flesh. [Don't dab it on fabric, tho!] Top this with a generous dusting of dusting powder in the same fragrance. You'll find that the skin feels beautifully cool, that your girdle slides on smoothly, and that the perfume lasts and lasts.

Using the two rather than just one gives you a much stronger fragrance and one that will linger practically all day.

The colognes are actually not the least bit sticky. But, since they don't contain alcohol, they have a slightly different effect when applied to the skin. The generous coating of powder after the cologne doubles the refreshing quality—and that's what you want in this muggy weather. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Clocks and Sisters.

In case any theatergoers worry about the china clock one of those Russians in "The Three Sisters" breaks every night, we wish to reassure them that a different clock is broken nightly and that each clock is made of plaster. The sound, however, is that of breaking china. This bit of magic was conjured up by Guthrie McClintic, director, who discovered during rehearsal that a smashed plaster clock sounded like a smashed plaster clock and no more. He then ordered some hollow clocks, also of plaster. These he filled with broken bits of china held in place by a strip of adhesive. The smash now sounds like a smash. . . . Incidentally, four "Three Sisters" enterprises are listed in the Chicago telephone directories. Two are laundries, one a beauty salon, one an inn. They are followed by "3 Squares a Day." . . . The most philosophical approach to life as an army private we have heard to date is that of Henry Sember, press agent extraordinary for Miss Cornell and her Russians, who, leaving for induction, says wistfully, "O, well, I always wanted to go camping in the summer . . ."

Fun for All.

The Encyclopedia Britannica offices here were surprised the other day to learn from an Associated Press dispatch that work on translating its 35 million words into Chinese had been started in Chungking. It was the first the E. B. had heard of it. Walter Yust, editor-in-chief, was incredulous and asked a friend, a Chinese scholar, to investigate. Back came the scholar to report proudly that a Dr. Chin of the Institute of Translation in Chungking was contemplating just such a life's work. No one has ever translated the E. B. into any language, not even into simplified English, or, so far as even known, ever hankered to, and Mr. Yust can't understand it at all. "I should think it would be an interesting work," he said a trifle plaintively, "but I can't understand why they would want it, for it doesn't carry the items of interest the Chinese might wish to have." Moreover, it would take a storehouse to hold the Chinese characters required.

Mary Gordon Will Be Wed in East June 9

The marriage of Miss Mary Virginia Gordon, daughter of Mrs. Sadie Slattery Gordon of East 70th street, to Ensign Richard Francis McPartlin Jr., son of Mr. McPartlin and the late Mrs. McPartlin of South Clyde avenue, will take place on June 9 in Frederick, Md. The ceremony will take place in St. John's church, with the bride's mother and the bridegroom's father and sister and brother-in-law, the John T. Johnsons, all present. Mrs. Johnson will be Miss Gordon's matron of honor.

Miss Gordon attended Northwestern university. Ensign McPartlin is a graduate of Georgetown university and of the University of Chicago law school. He just is completing a naval training course at Frederick and will take his bride to Boston to live.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sheppard of Prairie avenue announce the marriage on May 29 of their daughter, Patricia, to Paul W. Runge, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Runge of Milwaukee, Wis. The bride attended Mundelein college. Mr. Runge, a graduate of the University of Chicago, will bring his bride back to live here after a short wedding trip to Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Wolf of Oak Park announce the marriage of their daughter, Miriam, to Harold M. Futransky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Futransky of Briar place. The wedding took place on May 23 at the Drake hotel. The bride will complete her studies at Northwestern university, where she is a junior. Mr. Futransky was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania.

85 Pct. of Hosiery to Be of Rayon; No Rationing Expected

Washington, June 2 (AP).—Eighty-five per cent of the hosiery worn by women this year will be of rayon, the office of war information reported today in announcing there are no plans for rationing stockings.

The selection will be less varied and the emphasis will be on wearing quality. Prices are restrained by dollars and cents ceilings.

Other points developed in the OWI report are: Stockings will average one inch shorter; limited to five colors; must be reinforced in foot and welt for extra wear.

The sheer rayon stocking of pre-war days is prohibited, altho the government permits—but does not encourage—production of a new sheer rayon stocking made of a special type yarn.

Looking at Hollywood . . . . By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., June 2.—The latest development on the Joan Barry-Charlie Chaplin situation is this: They had a cozy little luncheon down by the Chaplin pool today. Now Hollywood is wondering whether it's reconciliation or whether marriage is in the offing. . . . Everybody knows Chaplin pictures have made millions laugh. He's been called a genius. It's implied by many people here and elsewhere that a genius should have special privileges. Chaplin's had many. First, the privilege of making his home, fortune, and reputation in America, without ever making any attempt to become a citizen of our country. He's had an opportunity to contribute to the motion picture relief fund home. He didn't. But he did contribute $100 toward buying a station wagon for the Red Cross. He availed himself of the privilege of using Carnegie hall for the purpose of demanding a second front, when that front had already been arranged by the British and American governments.

Flat Denial.

At a meeting of prominent Jews of Hollywood to discuss the raising of funds to help arm the 200,000 Jews of Palestine who wanted to fight for the British, when Chaplin was called upon, he arose and declared, "I am not a Jew! I am a citizen of the world!" Jews should be proud of their heritage. Christ was a Jew. And for more than 2,000 years Jews and Christians alike all over the world have tried to follow in the footsteps of our Saviour. . . . Now, the case of Joan Barry is this. She was engaged by Chaplin about a year and a half ago to play in "Shadow and Substance." He trained her and gave her screen tests. I understand the tests were very good. Then Chaplin changed his mind.

Happy New Year.

Around New Year's, Miss Barry was picked up in Beverly Hills as a vagrant and received a 90 day suspended sentence. There was a man present who gave her a tourist ticket back to New York and $100 in cash. Miss Barry went halfway to New York, changed her mind, and returned to Hollywood. A month ago she walked into my office and told me her story. That night she visited Chaplin, the police were called, and she was sent to jail for 30 days. . . . By that time she had friends who went to her defense and got her out. But she was still under the jurisdiction of the Beverly Hills police, and Justice of the Peace Holland, thru a friend of Chaplin, took her case. . . . She was whisked to a hospital. No one knew where she was. She finally was released, after many editorials had been written. Then her mother arrived. A settlement was proposed whereby she would get $2,500—$50 a week until her child was four months old.

Calling the Turn.

Miss Barry and her mother came to see me again a few days ago. I asked her why she came to me. Her reply was, "Because of an article you wrote about an unknown girl a year ago. It came out on my 22d birthday." . . . Here are excerpts from that article: "This is written for just one girl in Hollywood. I don't know who you are. You haven't been discovered yet. But I can tell you there's a luscious package waiting for you labeled 'fame.' A gentleman named Charlie Chaplin will be sending it over whenever he's ready. I think you should know what's in it. You'll be that lucky girl chosen by Chaplin to play the top feminine rôle in 'Shadow and Substance.' It's your chance, the opportunity of a lifetime. You can say farewell to that one room apartment with a day bed in one corner and a cook stove in the other. You'll be living in a rosy dream world of shining limousines, sables, and exploding flash bulbs. O, yes, you will. Or maybe you would have, if it hadn't been for war time restrictions. . . . Anyway, you'll be somebody. All that will be in your tinseled package. Something more, too. Something not quite so good. Something you can't foresee. There've been many Chaplin leading ladies before you. All got the same package with the same trimmings." [All—except Paulette Goddard.] . . . I went down the line and told of her predecessors, finishing up with the story of Myrna Kennedy, who was a youngster hardly out of pigtails, busy with her schoolbooks, when her Chaplin chance came along. After she played the leading part in "The Circus," her film career went glimmering.

What's to Become of Her?

Now, Joan Barry is somebody. She's a human being. She's about to become a mother. It looks as tho her chance for the leading part in "Shadow and Substance" has gone, too. Will her child have a name? What is to become of that child and its mother, Joan Barry? . . . Those are the questions Hollywood is asking today. Those are the questions Hollywood has a right to ask and not only hope for an answer but to demand one.

Tate Winters	Bob Mitchum

and Skinnay Ennis and the Groove Boys.

By Mae Tinee.

Good Morning!

Little, but O, my! describes this movie.

"Follow the Band" is only 55 minutes long, but those ticktocks are chockful of sparkling entertainment provided by experts—the King's Men, featured on the Fibber McGee and Molly radio program; the Bombadiers, who lend life to Ginny Simm's radio show [but GOOD!]; Eddie Quillan, who could double for Charlie McCarthy and fool Edgar Bergen, and Skinnay Ennis and his Groove boys! . . . [All for the price of one, kids!]

Eddie portrays a trombone playing hired hand on a goat farm who loves the farmer's daughter. . . . Pop Turnbull wants his gal to wed Tate Winters, a steady going yahoo with no musical nonsense about him. BUT—Juanita wants her Marvin and none else. . . .

The rival thinks up a slick plan. . . . Pop should send Marvin to New York to obtain a membership for Pop in the Dairyman's association. . . . Pop's wanted to belong for lo ye many years, but the association would have none of him—on account of his raising ma-a's instead of moo's. . . . If Marvin is successful, Juanita shall be his. . . . Only neither Tate nor Pop dream that such could be the case.

While Marvin waits to see the head of the association, who's always in conference, he miraculously gets to join Skinnay Ennis' band and becomes the hit of a night club show. . . . Via this remarkable association, Marvin eventually becomes a big frog in several puddles—not the least of 'em being radio.

A lot of nonsense—but a lot of fun. And laughs these days are to be treasured like jewels.

See you tomorrow.

INSTALMENT XVI.

NEW EVIDENCE.

In mid-January Paul and Dr. Lockerbie were returning from the Stringtown neighborhood in the early black winter morning. Dr. Lockerbie had dozed off in his corner, huddled in his greatcoat, the heater blasting hot air against his knees. Paul fought off his own sleepiness.

It was bitter cold but he had the window open a narrow crack on his side so that the cold fresh air would keep him awake.

Coming into town Paul saw a light in the little house where Polly Richards had been killed. Paul had run well beyond the house before he got the car safely parked on the shoulder. He turned off the engine and the lights and took the flashlight from the glove compartment. He got out of the car without disturbing the doctor and walked back past the row of little houses.

Paul knew that this house had been left unoccupied and as it was the night Polly was moved from it, Paul walked quietly. Except for the soft crunch of snow, his feet made no sound. There was a light in the house—a flashlight moved in the second room. Paul stopped on the walk near the window. The street light would mark his shadow if he passed the front window. He saw then the tail of a car parked in the side street beyond the little store. Around him the town lay absolutely silent in the cold, dark winter morning. Paul thought that if he could read the license plates he would be able to identify the car.

The light inside the house vanished. Whoever was within had discovered Paul. There was not a sound save the distant rumble of a truck on the highway. Paul waited, tense, his heart thumping against his ribs.

Without warning a car door slammed, the car at the corner came to life and was gone with a swift change of speeds. Paul started after the car, gave it up and came back. He wrenched the flimsy front door open and went into Polly's house. The small front room was freezing cold. Paul swung his flashlight about, saw that there were marks of fresh snow on the floor. He moved across the room and thrust his light into the middle of the house. In the corner of this room was the old built-in cupboard, or press. The doors of the press were open. They were still moving a little. Paul threw his light into it. There was little there—clear squares of clean newspaper showed where things had been moved out. One square looked as tho a box like a shoe box had been removed bodily.

Paul touched nothing. The rest of the house was empty. The back door stood open—there were rather small footprints in the snow—prints like a boy's. Paul was careful not to step on these.

Paul went back to the doctor's car and drove it home, rousing the doctor when they got there. In the kitchen Dr. Lockerbie and Paul stood at the table and ate the sandwiches and drank the milk left for them. The doctor stumbled up to bed and Paul took the bag into the surgery and emptied it there. When he had finished this work he looked at the clock. It was almost 6. Paul went out again. He pounded on the door of the sheriff's house which was next door to the jail.

"I have to leave at 7," Paul explained when the sheriff came to the door in trousers and nightshirt, "and I had to see you."

"Sit down, Paul. I'll fix the fire, get some more clothes on." He came back presently in a wool shirt, shoes on his feet. He was a big man with a firm fleshy face and cold blue eyes.

"Mr. Anderson," Paul said, "you know that I have never been able to believe that Lem was guilty of that attack on Polly. I've always thought he found her that way, when he came into the house. Why was Polly home at that time of day? To meet some one? You were satisfied and so was the coroner, but I never believed it."

"You know something new, then?"

Paul told him about his conversation with Mrs. Richards, told him what had happened an hour earlier.

"There is absolutely nothing of value in that house," he said, "no reason why any one should be down there unless he was in some way connected with Polly's death. The footprints looked like a boy's. I think Dr. Lockerbie feels the same way I do about Lem."

"You think the doctor knows something?" asked the sheriff sharply.

"Yes, I do," Paul told him.

The sheriff rubbed his unshaven chin.

"You're going to marry Lem's daughter, I hear," he said.

"Yes."

The sheriff was silent, considering.

"Miss Meggs, the county nurse, never believed he did it, either," he said.

"There's two ways to look at it," said Paul. "One of them is that Polly and Lem are both dead—and let them lie. The other is that an innocent man may have been blamed for a crime he didn't commit."

"The most important thing you're overlooking," said the sheriff.

"What's that?" asked Paul.

"That a man capable of murder may be loose in the community—and unpunished," said the sheriff and Paul felt a touch of cold for the man's voice was flat and heavy. He began to realize what he might be releasing. "That is," the sheriff qualified, "if you are correct. Why do you feel so sure about it, Paul?"

"It's more than a hunch," said Paul. "Lem's only fault was drinking—periodic sprees. When he was drinking he was never vicious. Only maudlin. He was far too simple a man to have a complicated, twisted love for any one—a love that might make a man kill his wife. And drinking would not change his whole nature."

"Drinking might not make him commit a murder," said the sheriff, "but the potential capacity for murder might make him a drunkard." The sheriff added: "And, of course, you are greatly influenced by your reluctance to have Isabel's father left under such a black cloud. However, I'll go down to the house and look it over right away. And I'll talk to the prosecutor. If Newman Giles thinks there's enough stuff to re-open the case, he will re-open it." Paul thanked him and left at once.

* *

At noon Paul went around to the "bug" laboratory. Isabel wasn't there but Dr. Conklin was, working at the "slants." The doctor was angry.

"She's fired," he told Paul, glaring at him. "I gave her two weeks pay and sent her home. She hasn't been worth a nickel since you gave her that diamond ring. I told you I didn't want some student's sweetheart in here. But she cried, and Christmas was coming and I let her stay on. She was swell—for a few weeks."

Paul left, troubled. He was mortified to have the doctor in such a temper and he was vexed with Isabel that she had thrown her good job away.

Paul got back to Hilltown at 5. When he went into the back door from the garage he heard a loud, angry voice. Mary Ellen turned from the dining room and signaled him to silence. Paul closed the kitchen door softly. Then he heard the doctor shouting. Paul was startled. Dr. Lockerbie was evidently in a towering rage.

"I tell you I don't know a thing!" cried the doctor, beyond the closed door that led into the offices. "You'll get no nourishment from me!"

"O, I won't, eh?" came back an angry voice. "I'll subpena you before a grand jury—tomorrow morning! You think you're above the law, John, but you'll find out you're not. This is murder—and Mrs. Richards says you know more about Polly than any one!"

"You can serve me with 10 subpenas. I still don't know anything!"

"Doctor, what did Lem want with you the day Polly was attacked?" This was Sheriff Anderson's quiet growl and at once Paul identified the other voice as Newman Giles', the prosecutor's. Paul remembered that it was he himself who had suggested to the sheriff that Dr. Lockerbie knew something about Polly.

Paul could hear the sheriff: "It was Presser's car. No doubt about it. The tire marks were fresh in the snow. No other car around here has a tread like that. And it was his footprint. No other man in town has as small and narrow a foot as his. Why was Will Presser searching Polly's house at 4:30 in the morning? What did he talk to her about a day or two before her death?"

"How would I know?" the doctor demanded. "Ask him! Now get out of here, both of you. I've got sick people to look after!"

The altercation continued, less clearly now and a door slammed.

Paul stood still, a little frightened at what he had precipitated. Will Presser! But what—? Mary Ellen sat down at the kitchen table as tho her knees were weak.

"Will Presser!" said Paul aloud.

Mary Ellen asked in a scared voice: "They can't make John testify, can they, Paul? A doctor doesn't have to testify, does he? He can refuse, can't he?"

"I don't know," Paul said.

The doctor came into the kitchen and looked at Paul with a bleak face.

"Give us our supper in a hurry please, Mary Ellen," the doctor said, and he spoke to Paul in the autocratic tone he sometimes used with refractory patients, "Sit down—don't go away. We've got to go to Clear Creek."

Paul opened his mouth to protest but thought better of it. They sat down together and ate the food Mary Ellen placed before them.

Dr. Kershner to Lecture on Child Refugees

A committee of 32 prominent Chicago men and women is sponsoring the appearance tomorrow at 4:15 in the Methodist temple, 77 West Washington street, of Dr. Howard E. Kershner, executive vice president and director of the International Commission for the Assistance of Child Refugees.

The committee is nonsectarian and the meeting will be of the same character. Dr. Kershner was director of relief in Europe from 1939 to 1942 for the American Friends Service committee.

He will talk on conditions in Nazi dominated countries, particularly the problems of aiding starving children. His first hand experiences in supervising the feeding of children and adults in France, up to the time of the occupation, provides him with unique facts and his message will be important and moving.

"Some people seem to think that the time to help Europe's children is after they are all dead," said Chauncey McCormick, one of the committee, yesterday, "but we don't.

"The infant mortality rate in axis occupied countries is at least 200 per cent higher than before the war," said Mr. McCormick. "The weight of newborn babies is about half of normal because of semi-starvation of the mothers," he added.

Other members of the committee are Dr. Edith Abbott, Dr. Warder C. Allee, the Rev. Charles F. Boss Jr., Mrs. Herbert E. Bradley, Miss Sophonisba Breckenridge, Miss Lucy Carner, Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, Dr. Albert Buckner Coe, the Rt. Rev. Wallace E. Conkling, Harold E. Fey, the Rev. John W. Harms, Dr. Georgia Harkness, Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins, the Rev. Raymond H. Laury, the Rev. Walter J. Malone, Rabbi Charles E. Shulman.

27 Student Nurses Receive Diplomas; Nearly All to Enlist

Fifteen student nurses from Women and Children's hospital and 12 from Henrotin hospital were awarded their diplomas last night in joint graduation exercises at the American College of Surgeons, 40 East Erie street. Nearly all the graduates expect to enter military service immediately.

Included in the group was Mary Jane McFall, 21 years old, of Carlton, Minn., who has four brothers in service, one in every branch except the coast guard. She will enter the army air forces immediately. Her mother was named Minnesota Mother of 1942 and her father works in a war plant.

The commencement address, delivered by Mary H. Buris, president of the Alliance of Business and Professional Women, stressed the rôle women will have to play in the war and what may be expected in the post-war world.

Mrs. Ken G.—, Superior, Wis.: I've a large family and "darning" tasks are heavy. I have found it is a saving on my eyes if I use a darning egg with one half of it painted a dark color and the other half a light shade. I use the dark side for light colored hose and the light side for darker shades.

Miss Eileen F.—, Chicago: If you have a rubber sponge try using it to brush your woolen articles and garments. I have one which I use for this purpose and find it a lot better than even a good whisk-broom.

Mrs. Teresa D.—, Chicago: If your mouse trap doesn't catch mice as fast as you think it should, use my favorite bait and see if it doesn't do the work. I tack some cotton to the bait pan of trap after first soaking it in some bacon grease. The cotton attracts the mice as they can use it for nests—and they like the taste and smell of bacon.

Helen Brown—, Chicago: I save quite a bit of butter these days when it comes to my vegetables if I melt it in a pan and then drop vegetables into the pan. In this way the vegetables get well seasoned with the butter.

Coaxing Child to Eat Causes Meal Troubles

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

I don't believe in the businesslike do-it-because-I-say-so or do-it-because-it's-right school of management directed toward building up a child's day-by-day habits and aimed at accomplishing the necessary routines. But neither do I believe in cajoling to get results. However, of all the undesirable consequences of this approach, none tops the dire consequences that follow the coaxing of a child to eat.

I'm a believer in being tactful, jolly, and friendly about the countless physical, routine things little children and almost-babies have to do.

I believe that bathing, dressing, putting away toys, toileting, and eating need to be invested with pleasantness and interest. But going beyond that, resorting to general bribing and coaxing to achieve all these practical ends, gets you into a jam, and frequently turns your child into an unpleasant young person. But cajoling to make a child eat each meal brings, I believe, the worst results of all. I've not only seen living—and horrible—examples of this fact, but I've had hundreds of reports on it.

Cajoling a child into eating leads to the inch-by-inch meal. Or, shall we call it the bite-by-bite meal? "Just take this little bite of carrots, darling, and I'll sing you a song. O, look! Margie's going to drink all the rest of her milk so she'll be a big, strong girl! Daddy, what have you got for a little girl who's going to eat all of her baked potato? Now open your mouth and, pop, in we go!" This sort of thing, accompanied by stories, funny faces, and other antics is not as rare as you might think. And it is ruination to good eating habits.

So, drop the coaxing method where your child's feeding is concerned. Then withdraw the desperate anxious attention you've been concentrating on the process. This doesn't imply that you should feel indifferent or be indifferent, but the tension of the other attitude defeats your purpose.

Try acting about your child's meals more as you do about those of the grownups in the family. This last is a better clew than you might think, because, you see, it includes common sense and a relaxed atmosphere.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1943: By Ely Culbertson.]

It is amazing how often declarers base their play on hopes which, if realized, would do them absolutely no good. Consider this case:

West, dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ 10 5 4 3 2
♥ A 9 6
♦ 3 2

WEST
♠ J 7
♥ K Q 5
♦ 8
♣ K Q J 10 5 4 2

EAST
♠ K 8 6
♥ J 10 7 3 2
♦ 9 7 5 4
♣ 6

SOUTH
♠ A Q 9
♥ 8 4
♦ A K Q J 10 6
♣ A 7

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
3 clubs	Pass	Pass	5 diamonds
Pass	Pass	Pass

West's three club bid was not the conventional Culbertson bid showing an absolutely solid minor suit, but was, of course, far from illogical. South's jump to five diamonds, however, was [to put it mildly] not shrewd. The right contract for North-South was three no trump or four spades. It would have been far sounder for South to bid three no trump than to contract voluntarily for 11 tricks. If West had had the vision to open the heart king against five diamonds, declarer would have found himself in a hopeless position.

Actually, however, West opened the club king. Declarer won, drew the outstanding trumps, then entered dummy with a heart in order to take the spade finesse. This finesse succeeded, but for all the good it did declarer it might as well have failed. Declarer still had to lose a spade, a heart, and a club and thus his contract went up the flue.

Since South had saddled himself with a bad contract, the least he should have done was discover the line of play that had a good chance to bring home that contract. After drawing trumps he should not have taken out dummy's lone entry in order to try a finesse that would do him no good unless he encountered a miraculous position of cards. Declarer had to get rid of a club and a diamond, and, of course, the only place he could put those cards was on dummy's spades. But the only way he could establish spades thru his method of play was to find precisely the K-J blank under the A-Q, a possibility so remote as to be ignored.

A far more propitious plan was available, namely, to hope that either defender had started with the jack and one spade. If that non-miraculous situation existed, a simple plan would put the contract "on ice." That plan was to lay down the spade ace and then the queen. As the cards lay, West, on winning with the spade king, would not be able to prevent declarer from running the rest of the spade suit, and instead of declarer's going down a trick, he would have made his contract with an overtrick.

CAFE DE VEECK SHOW WOWS 'EM IN MILWAUKEE

Grimm's Serenaders Top Baseball Bill.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., June 2.—"On a good day," said Richard [Red] Smith, who is something of an oracle in Wisconsin sports circles, "this show would draw 40,000 in Chicago's Wrigley field." As it was, Milwaukee was doing all right, what with some 7,500 sitting in Borchert field, drawn here tonight for almost everything except the Brewers' American association game with the Louisville Colonels.

This was the most colossal of ingenious Bill Veecks' extra-curricular programs which are built around the Brewers' home games. In fact, Veeck, known to the association trade as Sport Shirt Bill, tonight became a vibrant, living part of his own extravaganza. Bill, as a member of the Brewers' own swing band, pursed his lips against a whistle bought in a 10 cent store.

Grimm Strums Banjo.

There was his side kick, Manager Charles Grimm, violently strumming his southpaw banjo; Herschel Martin, one time Philly, banging the piano keys; Business Manager Rudy Schaefer laboring with a homemade bull fiddle, which consisted of a three gallon paint bucket, a broom handle, and a well resined piece of cord, and Prince Hank Oana, who once was an outfielder with the Phils and who some day may graduate to the Cubs' pitching staff.

Sport Shirt Bill's show was staged right at home plate and it was a rare sight, indeed, to watch the uniformed ball players exhibit their musical talents. Some of the noncombatants sat on the Milwaukee bench, looking a bit perplexed by it all, but they, of course, didn't have Red Smith's slant. It was good box office.

Mr. Smith is one of sports' most trusted assistants. He is Manager Grimm's chief aid and when the baseball season is over the bulky fellow returns to Green Bay where he serves as a buffer for Curly Lambeau, head man of the football Packers.

Grimm Hit of Show.

"You can do this sort of thing," said Red, "if you have a good ball club. This means the fans are for you. A losing team wouldn't dare send players out there to sing and play. The fans, if any were there, would ride 'em right out of the park."

About this time Grimm was proving to be the hit of the show. The Brewers' own band had just rendered a couple of pieces, midst mighty applause. The master of ceremonies suggested that a few more cheers would coax Charlie into a soloist's rôle. Sure enough, he obliged with a rich baritone rendition of "Mr. Five Foot Two," the that drunken walk toward the bench so familiar to Cub fans.

When four Brewers, Jo-Jo Berry, who was with the Cubs this spring; Dutch Hoffman, Bob Bowman, and Earl Caldwell, timidly left the bench to sing as a quartet, Smith said, with an evil glint in his eye: "This is going to be good; none of those guys can sing a lick." So enough, Smith again was right.

Took Charge in 1941.

Veeck and Grimm took charge of the Brewers in midseason of 1941 when evil days were upon the club. Borchert field, a sprawling wooden structure seating 10,500, looked like a wrecker's paradise. In this dismal setting, the effervescent Veeck went to work selling baseball to the good burghers.

The park was overhauled so that it invited patronage. Then came the young executive' novel promotional ideas and a better ball team. Last year Milwaukee topped all minor league clubs in attendance and Bill was voted the outstanding magnate outside the majors. Grimm is doing all right, too. He has a piece of the Brewers.

Young Veeck is quite the opposite of his father, the late William L. Veeck, who was president of the Cubs until his death in 1933. The elder Veeck was a dignified fellow and a tasty dresser. Tonight his son wore a pair of moccasins, tan gabardine trousers, a tan sport shirt, and his ever present smile.

MUSIC HATH CHARMS

There may be nothing new under the sun, but in Milwaukee at night—that's different. The Milwaukee Brewers of the American association, under the direction of President Bill Veeck and Manager Charley Grimm, are pulling 'em in to their ball games with bands, stunts, vaudeville, free lunch, and even good baseball. Here are Veeck (left) tooting on his jazzbo and Grimm with his southpaw banjo as they knock off a number for delighted fans as one of the preludes to last night's game between Milwaukee and Louisville before 7,500 fans. The Brewers hit a sour note or two and lost, 9 to 7, in 10 innings. [Associated Press Photo.]

Jockey Basham Suspended by Lincoln Fields Stewards

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The Lincoln Fields board of stewards yesterday issued a terse statement worded as follows:

"Jockey C. Basham is suspended for the remainder of the meeting for unsatisfactory riding during the meeting."

This briefly worded ruling, signed by William Hamilton, C. Bruce Head, and Sam McMeekin, was a refreshing departure from the hush-hush policy which used to be followed in many of the most hallowed and sanctimonious centers of racing. It expresses the idea that these three veteran officials are attempting to do the best possible job in dealing with one of the most difficult situations in which human nature figures.

Keep Public Informed.

They are trying to give the Chicago racing public as alert a process of supervision as can be executed anywhere. And in so doing, they are attempting to keep the public informed instead of following the policy of "see no evil, hear no evil, and speak no evil," which has given racing the atmosphere of a confidence game in some centers in the past.

Chalmers Basham is one of the best known jockeys in the Chicago area. The stewards say his performance is simply "unsatisfactory." Various innuendos aimed at his handling of horses boiled down to what is legally known as "rumor and hearsay." No evidence has been made public which could indict him in any court.

Many Ways of Defrauding.

And yet the stewards decided it would be better for the public if Basham handled no more horses during the Lincoln Fields meeting. They are up against the fact there are many ways in which a jockey defrauds Chicago's racing fans of thousands of dollars without doing anything that can be proved criminal under the rules of evidence prevailing in any court.

The last horse Basham rode before the wrath of the stewards descended on his head was Royal Risk, the favorite in the eighth race on Tuesday. It is definitely known the owner of this horse, Harry Golden, was not only trying hard to win with him, but also was betting on him. It also is known Golden was satisfied with the ride which Basham gave the horse in his previous start when many thought that it was Basham's fault Royal Risk was beaten. He engaged this boy to ride him again. When Royal Risk went to the post Tuesday, several of the professional handicappers picked him to win with the proviso "if he gets a good ride."

Off to Bad Start.

Basham either tried to get him out of the gate well or else he's a magnificent actor. During the delay before the start, he kept straightening Royal Risk up, watching the boys on each side of him and keeping his eye on Starter Ruby White. But when the gate was sprung, he was sloughed back to 11th place in some severe crowding. When Royal Risk moved in the home stretch, he had to weave his way around, between, inside and outside other horses to go from 10 place to third.

These facts are presented merely to show what both a rider and the stewards are up against. It is not intended to infer it was because of the Royal Risk ride Basham was suspended. The wording of the ruling implies slowly accumulating wrath.

Followers of the races who do not attempt to pass judgment on Basham's guilt or innocence were gratified to note Chicago officials are rapidly gaining the reputation of being the firmest in the country. The fans are hoping this firmness may induce some of the more lackadaisical jockeys to act as tho they were trying to win with their mounts instead of just going for a canter at public expense.

GOLF LEADERS MEET TONIGHT ON RELIEF PLAN

The Chicago District Golf association will hold a special meeting tonight in the Chicago room of the La Salle hotel at 6 o'clock. A number of leading officials of other golf organizations have been invited to attend the meeting which has been called to discuss further angles of the dime-a-round plan suggested by Tom McMahon, C. D. G. A. president. Thru this plan, every golfer in the country would contribute 10 cents before going out to play a round of golf. The money thus obtained would be directed into various war relief agencies in a number of sections thruout the country.

Among those expected to attend tonight are Ed Dudley of Colorado Springs, Colo., national president of the Professional Golfers' Association of America; William T. Woodson of Flossmoor, president of the Western Golf association; Mrs. F. A. Bunte of Evanston, president of the Women's Western Golf association, and Mrs. G. M. Mellor, president of the Chicago Women's District Golf association.

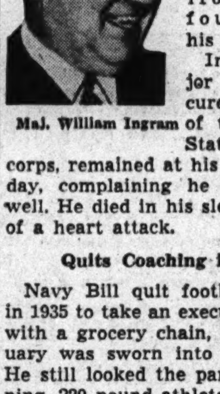
MAJ. INGRAM, EX-COACH, DIES

Directed Navy, Indiana, California Elevens.

Los Gatos, Cal., June 2 (AP).—Maj. William [Navy Bill] Ingram, 46, a great Navy football player who became head coach of the Annapolis navy academy and the University of California, was found dead in his bed today.



Maj. William Ingram

Ingram, a major in the procurement branch of the United States marine corps, remained at his home yesterday, complaining he did not feel well. He died in his sleep, evidently of a heart attack.

Quits Coaching in 1935.

Navy Bill quit football coaching in 1935 to take an executive position with a grocery chain, and last January was sworn into the marines. He still looked the part of a strapping, 220 pound athlete when death took him.

Ingram quarterbacked Navy elevens for three years before being graduated from Annapolis in 1919 with the rank of ensign. In 1922 he resigned his commission and became head football coach at William and Mary college.

After coaching at the University of Indiana for two years, Ingram took charge of football at the naval academy after the 1925 season. The next year his Navy team played a historic 21 to 21 tie with the Army in Chicago's Soldiers' field.

Becomes California Coach.

Ingram became coach at California in 1931, bringing L. B. [Stub] Allison, the Golden Bears' present coach, as his assistant. Immediately he snapped the Bears out of the doldrums, and in his first year at California they won eight and lost two.

Ingram leaves his widow and three children, William A. Jr., 17, recently sworn into the marines by his father; Nancy, 15, and Anne, 10.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Cubs put up a valiant and stirring fight, if you want to call it that, against the wide awake Phillies yesterday, but wound up second best when a rousing rally flopped. The score was: Phillies, 6; Cubs, 5, and the series ended, three victories for the Phils; one victory for our stragglers.

The rally in the ninth was the result of Manager Bucky Harris' kindness toward Schoolboy Rowe. Rowe, quite a little away from the slates and writing tablets that gave him his nickname, had started to wabble in the excessive heat. So Bucky sent out Newell Kimball, big, strong, refreshed and dry of raiment. Mr. Kimball didn't do so well, hence the thunderous belated surge of the eighth placers.

Lowrey Starts Rally.

The Cubs, who had made two runs off the fading Rowe in the eighth, got started against Kimball when Peanuts Lowrey batted for Les Fleming, third Chicago pitcher, and singled to left. Stan Hack flied out, but Eddie Stanky walked. Phil Cavarretta, who had started the Cub scoring with a homer in the sixth, singled, scoring Lowrey. Kimball was yanked and the Cubs were afforded their first look of the season at Lefty Jack Kraus. Kraus walked Bill Nicholson, loading the bases, whereupon Lou Novikoff flied to Ron Northey, Stanky scoring. That had Cavarretta on second with the tying run and Nicholson on first with the winning run. And that's where they were left when Jimmy Wasdell caught Dom Dallessandro's fly.

The defeat was the seventh the new Phillies have slapped on the inadequate Cubs in eight games played this year. The Phillies had been in a road slump of six straight before they got well in Chicago. It was the 25th loss of the season for the cellar boys—but they've won 12.

Start Early on Passeau.

The Phils, who knocked out Claude Passeau in a five run first inning in Philadelphia on May 17, were a bit

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

YOU'D think baseball trainers would take credit for the success of players on whom they've done a lot of rubbing and other soothing work. . . . But not so, Dr. Andy Lotshaw of the Cubs, who currently is raving about Eddie Stanky being one of the best athletes ever to join the Cubs. . . . "I ain't ever tetched the kid," says Andy as the climax of his Stanky raves. . . . Fifty games were played in the Southern association before an umpire had to order an athlete off the premises. . . . Frank Leahy of Notre Dame recently received a letter from one of his old football players at Boston college in which the athlete, who is now in service in the Pacific, described the similarity in preparations for battle in war with battle on the gridiron. . . . The player's name is Lou Kidhart, Boston college right tackle in 1937, 1938, and 1939. . . . The following is an excerpt from a recent letter to his former coach: "We have been in combat against the yellow menace and we went thru them like our off tackle plays went thru our opponents. We kicked hell out of them. You know, war is a lot like football. You train and work hard before the big game and when it arrives you are anxious to trim your foe. If you trained hard before the contest and played heads up football, nobody could beat you, but if you were careless in your training, the enemy really gave it to you. In combat it's the same. The unit that trains the hardest before the battle and fights as it knows how, invariably is the victor. I can remember you screaming at us, 'Drive, Drive!' Well, that screaming did some good, for drive is what it takes to whip the Nip. And we've got it."

Vern Olsen and Johnny Schmitz of Great Lakes, former left handed pitchers with the Cubs, anxiously await the Bluejackets' game against Navy Pier, July 25. . . . They hope the Chicago sailors bring along a marine—Lt. Ted Lyons. . . . The Cubs have been accustomed to the New York and Boston permanent dim-outs, have survived three complete black-outs in New York last summer and make no complaints about day coaches and two instalment train hops. . . . But they are very unhappy about the potato famine now raging in the east and many plan to carry satchels full of spuds next time they go on tour. . . . Every athletic director in the Big Ten conference indorsed the request of Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., to use undergraduates in this year's All-Star football game as long as their participation would in no way jeopardize their scholastic or military status. . . . It is an emergency measure which will be abandoned, of course, after the war. . . . Ernie Sutter, nationally known tennis player from Tulane, has been reported among those seriously injured in North Africa. . . . Kendall Cram, another Tulane tennis star, has been listed as missing. . . . Bob Young, playing manager of the Match Corporation of America, Chicago metropolitan softball champions, refused an offer to join the Toledo club of the American association.

Will You Remember?

Will you remember when the winter spreads
Its white brocade of frost on everything,
The gorgeous purples and the deep dyed reds
Our vision drank so avidly in spring?
Will you recall the fragrant paths we trod
When the first robin's note was in the air,
And dandelions dappled the green sod
Flinging their golden nuggets everywhere?

Will you remember when the snowflakes blow
And all the world is desolate and chill
Those summer evenings when the moon hung low
To light the winding pathway up the hill?
And will you sometimes hunger for the bliss
That filled our souls in that last goodnight kiss?

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 2.—Jakie Wade, the slat like Carolina tobacco grower, sprayed his left handed twisters over the Yankees today, and the effect was delightful insofar as he and his White Sox associates were concerned. The Yanks curled up under Jakie's pest killing application, and the Chicagoans galloped to a neat 2 to 1 decision, made all the more noteworthy for them because they couldn't tie it until the eighth, after which they let loose with a decisive ninth inning thrust.

Wade's second start of the season was so high grade that only five Yank hits were recorded. Two of these were by Charley Keller, and two were the accomplishments of Johnny Lindell, the reformed pitcher. One of the latter's hits was a fifth inning triple that put the league champions in front until the Sox came thru with their belated spurts against Hank Borowy.

Borowy Helps Chicagoans.

Until the eighth the Sox were able to muster only four hits, bringing them dangerously close to being assessed for the rubber decision in the three game series. In the eighth they passed their modest total with two hits which in themselves probably wouldn't have produced a dividend, but Borowy let go with a wild pitch that promoted the tying run. Then two were gone in the ninth before Borowy had cause for worry. Luke Appling put him on the spot by doubling to center and in recognition of Joe Kuhel's fondness for stadium homers he was passed. Next came Mike Tresh with a single to center. Appling hiked home and that proved sufficient for Wade.

The Sox attack made the first of its few peeps in the opening inning. Thurman Tucker singled with one out, but it so happened that not another Chicago base runner showed up until the fifth inning which Wally Moses jimmied open with a single. After two were out Tresh also singled, Moses getting to third with the aid of a fumble by Lindell. Wade's pop to Bill Johnson wasn't of any help. Then Don Kolloway led off with a single in the seventh, and this looked promising only for a few moments. Moses flied out and Appling banged into a double play.

Wade Dodges Trouble.

A portion of the little trouble encountered by Wade in the first four innings came at the start. Keller doubled and Joe Gordon walked with two out in the opener, but Nick Etten grounded gently to Kolloway. In the second Lindell, who led off with a single, was doubled on Hemsley's tap. Lindell's next appearance opened the fifth, and he tripled over the head of Guy Curtright, scoring an instant later on Hemsley's single. The only Yank hit thereafter was a harm-

FREDDY FIDUCIA DUE TODAY FOR BOLDEN BATTLE

Franklin Has Trouble Finding Sparmates.

Freddy Fiducia, Newark heavyweight, who was scheduled to arrive yesterday, will reach town today for his 10 round bout with Nate Bolden in Marigold outdoor arena Monday. He will be accompanied by Jimmy Johnston of New York, his manager.

Meanwhile Bolden continued workouts in the Ringside loop gymnasium yesterday by sparring three rounds with Clarence Brown. Nate, who defeated Tony Musto of Blue Island in Chicago Stadium on April 16, is confident of beating Fiducia, who lost a decision to Musto in Madison Square Garden in 1939.

However, Bolden can't afford to take Freddy cheaply. In addition to conquering Tommy Tucker and Wallace Cross, Fiducia has beaten Lem Franklin.

Franklin worked out early yesterday, but inability to obtain sparmates forced him to do only light loosening up exercises. Jack Hurley, Lem's manager, wasn't worried, tho, saying that his protégé did enough boxing last week to equalize things. Franklin meets Gus Dorazio on the same program.

Ralph di Battista, light heavyweight boxer from the Glenview Air station, will appear in a five round amateur bout in the Madison Athletic club tomorrow. His opponent will be Johnny Beasley of the Savoy A. C. Tim Dalton, 1943 Chicago Intercity Golden Gloves lightweight winner, is paired with Lofton Mitchell in an additional event of five rounds. Dalton, who survived a knockdown to beat Mitchell in an earlier meeting, was unable to go thru with a rematch against Lofton last Friday because of a cut eye.

Calumet totaled 61 in taking the senior meet with the other teams finishing in the following order: Hyde Park, 40½; South Shore, 32; Morgan Park, 24 and Parker, 13½.

Bowen Nine Wins South Section Title

Bowen High school clinched the baseball championship of the south section in the City league by defeating Parker, 7 to 0, yesterday in Bessemer park. It was the 14th victory in 15 games for Bowen, which cannot be tied for first place even should it lose its final game of the season today. Calumet, second place team, lost two sectional games to Bowen this season, and the winner is given preference in the final standings in the event of a tie for any position. Joe Baker, on the mound for Bowen, yielded only two hits in scoring his seventh victory in eight games.

Hirsch remained in the running for a south section qualifying berth in league play by winning a double header from Harper in Grand Crossing park, 8 to 1 and 12 to 0. This made Hirsch's record read 10 victories and three defeats with three games, two with Calumet, yet to be played.

Steinmetz Beats Tuley.

Steinmetz scored five runs in the seventh inning to beat Tuley, 7 to 5, in Humboldt park and continue as the pace setter in the west section race. Steinmetz has won 10 of its 13 sectional games. Crane, in second place, won a 2 to 1 nine inning battle from Wells in Humboldt park to remain right behind Steinmetz with 10 victories and four defeats.

Lane Tech, which clinched the north section title Tuesday, won a double header in Winnemac park by defeating Amundsen, 8 to 3, and Senn, 9 to 4. The two victories brought Lane's total to 17 this season and 97 consecutive in north section competition. Lane has not been defeated by a north section rival in more than five years.

Schurz Wins.

Schurz knocked Taft out of its second place tie with Von Steuben in the north section race, 7 to 1, in Winnemac park. It was Taft's fifth defeat in 15 games while Von Steuben has won 10 and lost four. Scores:

DETROIT TRACK TOO HEAVY; CARD CANCELED TODAY

Detroit, Mich., June 2 (AP).—The Detroit Racing association today suspended tomorrow's program at the state fair grounds because of track conditions which have caused difficulties in filling the entry list. Association officials said racing would be resumed Friday.

The suspension of the meeting, which is in the 10th day of its scheduled 73 day run, followed a conference of Edward T. Strong, general manager, and trainers who have been reluctant to make entries because of the heavy condition of the track.

Entries are scheduled to close daily at 10:30 a. m., but for several days have lagged into the evening.

DODGERS DEFEAT CARDS, 3-2; ADD TO LEAGUE LEAD

Gain Series Split with Night Game Victory.

St. Louis, Mo., June 2 (AP).—A bad start by Max Lanier, in which he gave up three hits and two runs in the first inning, helped the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 3 to 2 triumph over St. Louis tonight and left them in possession of a one and one-half game league lead over the Cardinals, with whom they broke even in a four game series.

After St. Louis scored a run in the fifth, the Dodgers came back to tally what proved to be the game winning run in the eighth when Dolph Camilli counted on Mickey Owen's single. The Cardinals tried desperately to tie up the game in the ninth. Stan Musial walked and Danny Litwhiler, fresh from the Philadelphia Phillies as the result of a five player deal yesterday, singled. Curt Davis relieved Max Macon, the starting Dodger pitcher, and Walker Cooper fouled out. Litwhiler moved to second when Ray Sanders grounded out. Musial scored on Jimmy Brown's single, and when Litwhiler also tried to tally he was out on Billy Herman's throw to Mickey Owen.

Senators Beat Indians, 13-1; Tie with Yankees for Lead

Washington, D. C., June 2 (AP).—The Washington Senators moved into a mathematical tie with the New York Yankees for the American league lead tonight as they swamped the Cleveland Indians, 13 to 1. The Senators collected 17 hits off four Indian pitchers.

The victory advanced Washington to within 8 percentage points of the pace setting New York Yankees in the tight American league race altho they are tied on a won and lost bases.

The Senators made 17 hits off Cleveland's Jack Salveson, Paul Calvert, Al Reynolds and Mike Naymick. Seven Washington runs came in a wild eighth inning. Every member of the Washington club drove in at least one run.

Milo Candini, a rookie right hander, held Cleveland to eight blows and was never in serious danger. Catcher Jake Early hit a triple and three singles to lead the Washington attack. Score:

BOSTON, ST. LOUIS DIVIDE.

Boston, Mass., June 2 (AP).—The Red Sox and St. Louis Browns made their four game series and all-avertime affair today by splitting a doubleheader. The visitors took the opener, 7 to 4, in 12 innings and the home forces the 3 to 2 second game 10 innings.

The Browns battered Joe Dobson and Mike Ryba for five hits and three runs to wrap up the first game in the 12th. Yank Terry pitched a four hit game to gain his first 1943 victory in the second contest, but one of those blows was Chet Laabs' fourth homer of the season, with Milt Byrnes on base, in the first inning. The Red Sox also scored twice in their side of the first and Al Simmons' single and Jim Tabor's triple provided the deciding run in the 10th. Scores:

Haegg to Land Tuesday; Won't Run Until July 1

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, June 2 (AP).—Gunder Haegg, Sweden's record breaking long distance runner, is due to arrive in New Orleans, La., Tuesday, but he says he will be in no condition to participate in a series of races with outstanding American runners until July 1. The long ocean voyage on the tanker has hardened Haegg's springy leg muscles and caused him to gain weight, a correspondent of the Aftonbladet reported.

easier on the Mississippi ace in yesterday's opening inning. They made only one run right off. Danny Murtaugh opened with a double to left, took third on Northey's fly to Dallessandro and scored on Wasdell's line single to left. Babe Dahlgren also singled in the opening session, but the effort went to waste except to give him a record of nine hits in 18 times at bat during the series here.

Murtaugh also scored the second run. Danny led off the third inning with a single to right and Northey was hit by a pitched ball. The runners moved up on Paul Busby's sacrifice, after which Murtaugh counted on Wasdell's fly to Novikoff.

Murtaugh Drives in Two.

Maybe the heat mowed down Passeau in the fourth, his last inning of struggling. Gabby Stewart opened with a single and advanced on May's sacrifice. Mickey Livingston and Rowe walked, loading the bases, whereupon Murtaugh busted his third straight hit, a single to center, Stewart and Livingston scoring. The bases again were loaded after Passeau walked Busby, but Wasdell flied to Dallesandro and Passeau was invited to the cooling splash of the bathhouse.

Cavarretta's homer at the start of the sixth was a roaring shot over the right field catwalk and into Sheffield avenue.

The Phils checked off the Cavarretta homer by making a run off Henry Wyse in the seventh. They did it on singles by Busby and Dahlgren and a forceout.

The Cubs made a pair of runs in the eighth on a single by Nicholson, a triple by Dallessandro and a pinch fly by Ival Goodman and the Phils came back with a run and a 6 to 3 advantage in the first of the ninth, scoring what turned out to be the winning run on a single by Busby and Dahlgren's third hit, a double to left.

At Rochester, Naylor will replace Dain Clay, whom the Cardinals sent to Philadelphia in yesterday's three for two deal. The other players involved were Danny Litwhiler of the Phils and Buster Adams and Coaker Triplett of the Cards.

SOX BEAT YANKS IN NINTH, 2-1, ON TRESH'S SINGLE

less single by Keller after two were defunct in the eighth.

Kuhel singled to left in the eighth to start the buildup for Borowy's helpful wild pitch. Tresh forced Kuhel, but Wade did a little better. He singled to left, advancing an extra base along with Tresh on Keller's fumble of the hit. Jim Grant was complimented with an intentional pass, and the strategy worked properly because Tucker forced Tresh at the plate. But Manager Joe McCarthy hadn't made provision for the subsequent wild pitch which caromed off Hemsley's glove and skidded into the Yank dugout, Wade scoring. Curtright fanned for the third out. The even happier ninth came next.

WARNEKE OPENS DODGER SERIES FOR CUBS TODAY

Veteran Pitcher Seeking First Victory of 1943.

The ferocious Brooklyn Dodgers, who tanned the Cubs, 13 to 6, 4 to 0, and 3 to 2, in Brooklyn on May 15 and 16, will arrive in Chicago this morning for their five game series with the Cubs, starting with a single contest this afternoon. Lon Warneke, still gunning for his first 1943 victory, will pitch for Chicago in the series opener.

Despite the low estate of the Cubs, reserved seats for next Sunday's double header between the Dodgers and the Cubs in Wrigley field are going like hot cakes, as the sayin' is.

Buster Adams and Coaker Triplett, the outfielders the Phillies thought they obtained when they sent Danny Litwhiler and Earl Naylor to the St. Louis Cardinals, failed to show up at Wrigley field yesterday as expected. No reason was given for the failure, but the Phillies will be in St. Louis today. The Phils asked the Cubs to postpone yesteray's game, it is said. When the request was refused, the Phil's proceeded with a squad of 17 men, eight under the legal maximum.

Haynes to Hurl Sox Opener in Boston Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 2.—The White Sox went away from here immediately after today's game for Boston, where they hope to make their season's first appearance tomorrow in a five game series with the Red Sox. Joe Haynes, who thus far has confined his 1943 work to relief jobs, will make his first start tomorrow.

Eddie Smith, the Sox lefty, was over in Columbus, N. J., today in answer to a summons from his draft board. This indicates the 29 year old athlete, who is married but childless, is a prospect for Uncle Sam. Other vulnerable Sox are Orval Grove, Don Kolloway, and Jimmy Webb.

Bill Johnson, the Yanks' third baseman, was called to the plate before the game and a delegation from the home town of Montclair, N. J., gave him a war bond. Mule Haas, the Sox coach, also from Montclair, stood around patiently thinking they might have something for him but his guess was wrong.

DR. DAFOE DIES OF PNEUMONIA; QUINTS MOURN

Vow They'll Pray for Man Who Saved Them.

Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe.

NORTH BAY, Ont., June 2 (AP).—The death today of Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, 60 years old, deeply moved and saddened the Dionne quintuplets whose lives he saved nine years ago when he brought them into the world.

"We will ask God to take care of his soul," said Emilie, at Callander. "Yes, we will pray for him," said Yvonne.

Brought here by ambulance this morning after being in poor health for several months, Dr. Dafoe died of pneumonia a few minutes after arriving.

News Shocks Oliva Dionne.

Oliva Dionne, father of the girls, was working in his fields when told the news.

"I am surprised and shocked to hear of Dr. Dafoe's sudden death," he said. "It comes as a great shock to all our family."

The world suddenly became aware of Dr. Dafoe nine years and five days ago when at four o'clock in the morning in a frame farmhouse he attended Mrs. Dionne and the five babies, premature by two months. Not only did he have to attend Mrs. Dionne, but he had to improvise beds in a basket and nourish the weak babies thru an eye dropper.

The day after they were born he said, "Give me two weeks or the time necessary to bring them to their normal birth time. They are doing better than I expected. I really thought they would die yesterday morning."

Resigned Post in 1942.

But aid soon poured in from Canada and the United States, incubators were installed, nurses found, money provided, and despite an attack of jaundice, the five girls lived thru their first difficult weeks.

"The little doc," as he was known in the district, followed the methods he had used in years of rural practice and continued his regular rounds even after his name became as well-known as those of his charges.

It was on Feb. 14, 1942, that Dr. Dafoe finally gave up his connection with the quintuplets. He offered his resignation to the then Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario, "because his position has been made almost impossible by reason of the fact that the children are not allowed to speak English." Later he explained that he resigned because "I felt that my usefulness had come to an end."

With swimmers near by unaware of his plight, Robert Johnson, 9 years old, drowned yesterday in the pool of the Division street Y. M. C. A., 1621 Division street. He was a member of the Junior C's, a boys' swimming group. He apparently was seized with cramps. His body was discovered by George Podolsky, 45, of 5036 North Albany avenue. Robert was a son of Mrs. Gertrude Thomas, 1920 Washington boulevard, and a fourth grade pupil at James Otis school.

FOUND DEAD IN APARTMENT.

JOHN STEVENS, WORLD KNOWN ENGINEER, DIES

Southern Pines, N. C., June 2 [Special].—John F. Stevens, 90 years old, a former Chicagoan, internationally known as a civil engineer, died at his home today. He was a native of West Gardiner, Me.

Stevens left his mark upon such memorable works at the extension of railroads across the Rocky mountains, the building of the Panama canal, and the rehabilitation of the Siberian and Chinese Eastern railroads in World war times. Named by President Wilson as chairman of the Russian railway commission in 1917, he balked Japanese schemes to seize the Chinese Eastern railway across Manchuria in 1919.

He was chief engineer of the Panama canal from 1905 to 1907, when construction of the canal was begun and was a key figure in that great project. He was given numerous high military and civil decorations and his engineering work for the Great Northern railroad is commemorated by a bronze statue of him in Marias Pass, where the railroad crosses the Rockies in Montana, and the name of Stevens Pass in the Cascades.

BRIDE COMPLAINS SHE'S PRISONER; HUSBAND IS HELD

Oak Park police interrupted the honeymoon of Gordon Weaver Jr., 18 years old, and his bride, the former Miss June Leeborg, 19, last night as the result of a letter to her father complaining that she was being held prisoner.

The Weavers eloped to Omaha, Neb., two months ago and have since been living at his parents' home at 808 North Humphrey avenue, Oak Park. A few days ago she wrote to her father, John Leeborg, 1433 Edgewater avenue, and he took her complaint to Oak Park police.

They questioned the newlyweds. Mrs. Weaver Jr. said that her husband threatened her constantly, kept two pieces of pipe which he threatened to make into bombs, and forced her to inhale from a bottle of supposed chloroform so that she "wouldn't be able to leave him during the night." On advice of Dr. Gilbert Pond, village health commissioner, police sent young Weaver to the psychopathic hospital. His bride was turned over to her parents.

WARNS OF RULE OVER SUGAR IN POST-WAR ERA

Lamborn Condemns Federal Policy.

Post-war sugar rationing is a strong possibility if the government continues to exert restrictions on production, O. H. Lamborn, president of Lamborn & Co., Inc., sugar brokers, yesterday said in addressing the National Confectioners' association in the Palmer House.

"Astounding as it may appear, the United States government, in administering a program of cane purchases and beet subsidy, has effectively restricted, or hampered thru tardy action, production of sugar in vital supply areas, in spite of the food crisis, without regard for world-wide shortage in carbohydrates, and in the face of a potential demand of tremendous proportions as the countries now dominated by the axis are redeemed," Lamborn said.

Beet Crop Is Short.

"The current domestic beet crop will fall short of last year's outturn by upward of 500,000 tons. Cuba had sufficient cane standing in the field on Jan. 1, 1943, to have permitted her to produce 4½ to 5 million tons. Nothwistanding she is obliged to limit her production to only 3,225,000 under a contract entered in between the Commodity Credit corporation and Cuba."

Lamborn declared that the trend toward projecting war time sugar control into peace is evidenced in two major ways: First, by the government "consciously or unconsciously" restricting production, and second, "by a gradually developing program which seems to be designed to impose upon the American people, under cover of the war time emergency, a permanent change in our dietary habits."

United States Defining Food.

Reference to candy and sugar as foods of low nutritional values in a recent pamphlet issued by the department of agriculture, Lamborn asserted, "leaves one aghast in the light of definitions" of food authorities, which he quoted to his audience.

"In the face of this and similar government propaganda, is it not reasonable to ask whether some sinister 'plan' exists, whereby our people are to have withheld from them, by decree or otherwise, the foods which they desire?" he asked. "Shall we 'slide-rule' people into eating what a government nutritionist conceives to be good for them? Shall the theorists, with axes of their own to grind, using the opportunity presented by the war emergency, force habits on the people to be carried over into the post-war period? In general, shall we make guinea pigs of the American people, if it can be put across during the war emergency, with the hope of translating these theories into permanent habits?"

McNutt Rule Seen as Steel Output Peril

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 2.—The nation's steel production will be seriously interfered with as a result of the new 48 hour work week edict of Paul McNutt, war man power chief, for the industry, the steel industry committee of the war production board declared today.

In a letter to H. B. Batcheller, director of the WPB steel division, the advisory committee said McNutt's order "will have the effect of setting up a vast unworkable burocracy which must inevitably seriously interfere with steel production. Its operation is bound to result in confusion, delays, and failures of operating schedules to the point that the industry's war effort will be imperiled."

Oppose Union Consultation.

The steel regulation, issued yesterday, directed that labor unions be consulted on hiring and discharge actions taken by steel plants. This provision was particularly criticized by the industry committee, which said that the union in a plant will have to be consulted on each specific case.

"In order to keep mills operating at current capacity levels," the statement said, "the steel industry must hire about 20,000 new workers monthly to provide for the turnover, which is averaging about 4 per cent monthly. This turnover is expected to increase sharply with greater inroads of the draft. Already the industry is having difficulty finding the thousands of new workers it must have monthly. That difficulty will be multiplied, if indeed the task is not made impossible by the delays and restrictions that will result from the war man power commission's instructions."

Suggestions Ignored.

The committee also disclosed that it submitted on May 13 detailed suggestions to McNutt for making the 48 hour week workable, but that the bulk of these suggestions were disregarded by the WMP chief in issuing yesterday's order.

Declaring that it is seeking only to make the 48 hour week effective, the committee said it is preparing a new list of suggestions for modifying McNutt's order, so that capacity steel production and full use of man power may be attained.

LATE RECOVERY PUSHES PRICES OF RYE HIGHER

A late rally yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade sent rye futures about 1 cent a bushel higher than the early low and closing prices were at the top. Rye gained ⅛ to ¼ cent and wheat and oats finished unchanged to ⅜ cent higher. There was no open market trading in corn futures which held at ceiling prices.

The late rally in all pits was attributed to moderate commission house buying which found offerings light. Shorts covered on the advance.

Meanwhile, official returns indicated an office of price administration order permitting holders of futures contracts in corn to exchange them for cash corn any time during the life of the contract had some effect in loosening the tight cash corn situation.

Low Mileage Commercial Car Tire Inspection Eased

Washington, D. C., June 2 (AP).—The office of defense transportation today relieved low mileage operators of commercial vehicles from frequent tire inspections. Regulations were amended to provide for an inspection every 5,000 miles or six months, whichever occurs first, instead of 5,000 miles or 60 days.

Lift Gasoline Output Quotas for Farm Use

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 2.—Fuels Administrator Harold L. Ickes today authorized an increase of 5 per cent in gasoline production for civilian uses by refiners in eight middle western states to avert a threatened shortage of gasoline for farm uses.

At the same time, Ickes boosted by 50,000 barrels daily the amount of crude oil that refiners in district 11, covering 15 midwestern states, may turn into petroleum products. This brings the daily crude oil quota for the district up to 1,165,000 barrels.

The permitted increase in gasoline production applies to refineries in Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Missouri.

Refiners in this area are now permitted to produce motor gasoline at the rate of 90 per cent of the level for the last half of 1941, compared with a limitation of 85 per cent established May 8.

Ickes asserted that stocks of petroleum products in the midwest have reached a "critically low level," especially in the amount of gasoline available for farm machinery.

Icks said that refiners engaged exclusively in producing aviation gasoline and other war products will be allotted enough crude oil for capacity output of these products.

WPB CUTS RAYON USE TO 70 PCT. OF 1941 AVERAGE

Washington, D. C., June 2 (AP).—Manufacturers of rayon hosiery and other civilian products formerly made of silk and nylon were cut approximately one-sixth below their present quotas today by the WPB.

Effective July 1, the order cuts quotas from 85 per cent of average consumption during the first half of 1941 to 70 per cent, and was made because of large military requirements for rayon, it was explained.

The order will not affect the present stocking supply, textile quarters said, because most hosiery manufacturers have been getting no more than 70 per cent any way.

List Foreign Assets, U. S. Orders Public

A census of all property owned in any foreign country by persons subject to the jurisdiction of the United States will be taken by the treasury, and filing of the required information will be mandatory, the treasury announced yesterday thru the federal reserve banks.

The purpose, as outlined in a treasury statement, is to provide the government with accurate information on foreign property owned in the United States, so it can act with greater knowledge in all international economic and financial affairs now and after the war, including problems relating to American owned property in countries to be occupied by military forces.

Deadline Is Aug. 31.

"The information will be of assistance in the activities of the foreign funds control division of the treasury and in the work of other divisions involving economic, financial, and commercial relationships with foreign countries and their nationals," the treasury said.

Forms and instructions for filing are being sent to the reserve banks. All persons, corporations and institutions having property abroad must file the reports with the reserve banks by Aug. 31, or in the case of persons abroad, with consuls not later than Sept. 30.

The forms, designated TFR-500, require a listing of holdings of tangible or intangible foreign property as of May 31, 1943, including all assets and obligations due from foreign governments, foreign nationals and foreign corporations, except repudiated obligations. N. B. Dawes, assistant vice president of the Chicago Reserve bank in charge of its foreign funds control division, said that such items as defaulted bonds and trade balances due exporters from abroad should be listed.

Refugees Also Must File.

A European or other refugee in the United States will be required to file any property abroad which had not been confiscated before he came under American jurisdiction.

Currency, securities and negotiable instruments created by the United States or any agency or person in the United States also must be listed if such property was situated in a foreign country on May 31.

Certain persons, such as American citizens in enemy occupied areas or military men serving abroad, are exempted, and certain other exceptions are made, but otherwise those failing to report holdings of foreign property are subject to criminal penalties.

John H. Kraft, executive vice president and chairman of the executive committee of the Kraft Cheese company, yesterday was elected president. He succeeded his brother, J. L. Kraft, founder of the company, who became chairman of the board.

John H. Kraft.

The new president is a director and member of the executive committee of the National Dairy Products corporation, of which Kraft has been a member company since 1930. He is also president of the National Cheese institute.

J. L. Kraft will devote much of his attention to long range dairy industry developments bearing on the national and international relationships of the company.

REALTY BOARD GRANTS JANITOR WAGE INCREASE

Janitors and helpers in Chicago fireproof apartment buildings, members of the Chicago Flat Janitors' union, last night were granted a $25 a month wage increase, effective July 1, by the Chicago Real Estate board. WLB approval is required. Helpers who are paid $135 a month and janitors who get up to $400 or more, will get the same wage boost.

The union took advantage of a cancellation clause "in event of war" in its five year contract ending 1945, and demanded a new contract with higher wages.

URGES VICTORY FUND HEADS TO AID NEW GROUP

Morgenthau to Pick War Loan Chiefs.

C. S. Young, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, acting at the request of Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, yesterday sent a telegram to victory fund committee leaders thruout the 7th reserve district, urging them to accept an active part in the new state war finance committees. Other reserve bank presidents took similar action in their districts.

State war finance committees will direct treasury security sales to the public and to corporations in the next war financing campaign, which is expected next fall. The state committees represent a merger of the war savings staff and victory fund committee organizations. Morgenthau directed the merger last week, in a move which was widely criticized by bankers as sidetracking the reserve and commercial banks and securities houses, major producers of war funds in the December and April financing.

Asks All to Continue.

Morgenthau, in the telegram which he asked the reserve president to send to regional chairmen, regional managers and county chairmen of the victory fund organization, said the new war finance organization "will operate under state chairmen and on a state basis," as previously announced.

"It is my earnest hope that the active members in both merged groups will accept an active part in the new state war finance committees," the telegram said.

No official announcement of selection of the heads of the Illinois war finance committee has been made, but it was said in some quarters that Harold Swift, chairman of the Illinois war savings staff, may be named chairman of the new organization, with Norman Collins as vice chairman. Collins is state director of the war savings staff.

Expect Some to Step Out.

It is expected that some of the leaders of the Chicago district regional victory fund committee organization that has been sidetracked will step quietly out of the picture, but no disclosure of the plans of Francis F. Patton, executive manager of the district committee, has been made.

The treasury, aware of the bitter criticism which its junking of the victory fund committees created, is expected to send several representatives to the meeting of the Investment Bankers association which will open Sunday in New York. They probably will include Theodore R. Gamble, who is assistant to Morgenthau and who is reported slated to be the national head of the new financing machinery.

3 Chicagoans on Meat Board; Packers Fight Price Rollback

7 from Industry

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 2.—Three Chicago meat packing officials today were named members of the newly created 12 man war meat board being set up by the war food administration to remove kinks from meat distribution.

Harry E. Reed, chief of the live stock and meats branch of the food distribution administration was made chairman of the board, which will hold its first formal meeting in Chicago next Monday.

The Chicago members are A. L. Scott of Swift & Co., to serve as a board consultant on beef supplies; Gus Robert of the Cudahy Packing company, consultant on canned meat supplies, and Walter A. Netsch of Armour & Co., consultant on veal, lamb, and mutton supplies.

Seven Represent Industry.

The board membership includes five government officials and seven meat industry representatives. W. O. Fraser, assistant to Reed in the FDA, is vice chairman. Other government members are Col. Paul P. Logan, subsistence branch of the quartermaster general's office; John J. Madigan, meat rationing chief of the office of price administration, and Wells E. Hunt, OPA meat price executive.

Other industry representatives are John Heinz, Baltimore; George C. Abraham, Memphis, Tenn.; Harold H. Meyer, Cincinnati, and Ralph H. Daigneau, Austin, Minn.

The board's offices will be at 5 South Wabash avenue, Chicago.

Warns of Failures

Washington, D. C., June 2 (AP).—Urging abandonment of the 10 per cent rollback on retail prices of meats, butter, and coffee, representatives of meat packers told a senate agriculture subcommittee today the program will force many small packers "to the brink of failure."

Wilbur La Roe Jr., general counsel of the Independent Meat Packers' association, said the administration decided on the rollback when John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, "entered the picture" and that its purpose was "to help the administration out with its labor policies."

Argues Consumer Saves Little.

Contending the 10 per cent price cut in meat prices would save the average consumer "an infinitesimal amount of $2.40 a year," La Roe demanded to know "how that could help the coal miner or any one else?"

Homer R. Davison of Chicago, vice president of the American Meat institute, said the subsidy program to compensate processors for the price rollback would add "millions of dollars to the public debt" and would discourage rather than promote meat production.

"If the subsidy program is adopted, many small meat packers, brought to the brink of failure by inequitable regulations, may be forced to close their doors at a time when every facility of the meat industry is needed in the war effort," he said.

BIG INCREASE MADE IN MEAT SHIPMENTS TO ALLIES THIS YEAR

Washington, D. C., June 2 (AP).—E. R. Stettinius Jr., lend-lease administrator, disclosed today a large increase in lend-lease shipments of meat to the allies and estimated that current shipments amount to about a quarter of a pound of meat per week for every person in the United States.

He said in the first four months of this year meat shipments, nearly all of which went to England and Russia, totaled 577,300,000 pounds. This constituted 7.6 per cent of the American meat supply, compared with last year's shipments of about 5 per cent.

Most of the exported meat was pork, which is currently in largest supply. Beef, which is scarcest in American butcher shops at present, was the smallest factor in lend-lease shipments, it was said.

Name Carroll Assistant Food Rationing Director

Washington, D. C., June 2 (AP).—Jean F. Carroll today became assistant director of OPA's food rationing division. He formerly was branch manager in the St. Louis area for a large grocery chain and also was consultant to the army quartermaster corps.

FLOYD B. ODLUM IS MADE R. K. O. BOARD CHAIRMAN

New York, June 2 (AP).—Floyd B. Odlum, Wall street financier, today was named chairman of the board of the $70,000,000 R. K. O. corporation, shortly after being elected to the board at the company's annual meeting of stockholders at Dover, Del.

As early as January, Odlum's Atlas corporation, an investment firm listed as dealing in "special situations," was reported to be holding 44 per cent of the preferred stock and 46 per cent of the common stock of R. K. O. Since that time the Radio Corporation of America and Rockefeller Center, Inc., sold large R. K. O. holdings to Dillon, Read & Co., which subsequently re-sold the stock to unnamed buyers.

Odlum succeeds Richard C. Patterson, who was elected vice-chairman.

Government Asks Bids on Large Poultry Order

The food distribution administration is soliciting offers of approximately 3 million pounds of frozen dressed poultry to meet urgent dietary requirements of convalescing wounded allied soldiers and other hospital cases, the Great Lakes regional office of the FDA announced yesterday. Roasting chickens, ducks, tom turkeys, and other fowl are needed.

SENATE PASSES TREATY POWER EXTENSION BILL

Rejects 3 Curbs on Administration.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 2.—A resolution to extend the administration's authority to negotiate reciprocal trade agreements for two years was passed by the senate today and sent to the White House after all attempts to impose restrictions failed in the face of administration claims of war time necessity for wide discretionary power.

The vote was 59 to 23, with 41 Democrats and 18 Republicans supporting the resolution and 14 Republicans, 8 Democrats and 1 Progressive opposing it. Sen. Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] voted against it and Sen. Scott M. Lucas [D., Ill.] went along with the administration, as usual.

Maloney Amendment Loses.

Earlier, opponents failed in three attempts to amend the reciprocal trade agreements act to give congress expressed authority to pass on the agreements.

The Maloney amendment to require ratification of the agreements by a two-thirds vote of the senate, the constitutional procedure on all treaties, was rejected, 44 to 33. The Reed amendment to permit congress to veto any agreement within 60 days by a simple concurrent resolution was defeated, 28 to 49.

A proposal by Sen. Pat McCarran [D., Nev.], to bar imports under the trade agreements at less than the cost of production for competing goods in the United States was rejected, 32 to 47.

Seeks Curb on F. D. R.

"In some way there must be a restriction placed on the unlimited discretion given the President," asserted Sen. Robert A. Taft [R., O.].

McCarran recalled that under the constitution the senate is empowered to ratify treaties and contended that the trade agreements—negotiated by the President but not submitted to congress—in reality are treaties.

"If any part of the constitution can be set aside today in an emergency then it can be tomorrow that the whole constitution can be set aside," he asserted.

TRACK SUPPLIES FIRM DISCLOSES VAST SALES GAIN

Net Income for Fiscal Year Rises.

Sales of the Pettibone Mulliken corporation, Chicago manufacturer of railroad track equipment and other products, climbed 79 per cent in the fiscal year ended March 31 and profits increased slightly, President E. J. Seifert told stockholders yesterday in his annual report.

Net income was $466,347, equal to $4.30 a share on the common stock, compared with $436,806, or $4.03 a share, in the preceding year. Provisions for federal taxes wer more than four times those of the 1942 fiscal year, totaling $1,945,000, against $383,000. This year's profit was after a reserve of $250,000 for contingencies. Sales were $12,914,058, against $7,223,601 in 1942.

Regular Line Sales Rise.

Seifert told stockholders that shipments of regular line products, exclusive of ordnance manufacture, were about 30 per cent above those of the preceding year. The backlog of unfilled orders for the company's usual products is the largest of all time, he said, and more than double the year ago total.

Other reports included:

OMNIBUS—Net income of the company, parent of the Chicago Motor Coach company, increased to $263,327 in the quarter ended March 31 from $107,567 in the corresponding period a year ago. Provision for federal income tax increased to $25,216 from $9,980 in 1942.

AMERICAN ROLLING MILL—This Middletown, O., maker of sheet steel products reported profit slumped to $7,780,988 in 1942 from $11,228,474 in 1941. Earnings per common share, after preferred dividends, were $2.01 and $3.21, respectively. Sales reached a new high of $180,978,867, compared with $169,178,239 in 1941.

STANDARD GAS—This utility holding company, whose executive offices are in Chicago, reported net consolidated income of $2,313,109 in the quarter ended March 31, compared with $2,170,680 a year earlier. Profit in the 12 months ended March 31 totaled $5,780,914, compared with $3,725,316. Provision for federal, state and foreign income taxes and federal excess profits taxes increased 15.08 per cent in the quarter and 23.91 per cent in the 12 months over similar periods a year ago.

SAVAGE ARMS.

Will you please send me a financial review of the Savage Arms corporation?—A. S.

Answer: Savage Arms corporation normally is one of the largest domestic manufacturers of small arms, its products including shotguns, rifles, and 22 caliber target pistols. Ammunition also is manufactured.

In addition to firearms and ammunition the company developed a line of washing machines, commercial ice cream cabinets, household ironing machines, and dry cleaning machines, which contributed relatively little to sales and earnings.

Currently the company is engaged in manufacturing war materials, including machine guns, and production facilities have been expanded considerably. Plants are owned in New York and Massachusetts.

Sales and earnings have expanded sharply in the last three years. A comparison of net income and earnings per share for the years 1938 to 1942, follows:

	Net Income.	Per sh.
1942	*$1,641,967	*$2.45
1941	*3,426,629	*5.11
1940	1,028,401	6.13
1939	349,307	* 2.08
1938	60,434	0.36

*After deducting a $1,000,000 reserve for contingencies and post-war adjustments, equal to $1.49 a share, in 1942, and $750,000, or $1.12 a share, in 1941. No consideration was given in the 1942 income statement to a post-war refund of excess profit taxes of approximately $1,000,000 since this refund may be affected by renegotiation of contracts.

Net income for the first quarter of 1943 was reported at $216,549, equal to 32 cents a share, as compared with $500,529, or 75 cents a share, for the first quarter of 1942.

Savage Arms has no funded debt, outstanding capitalization consisting solely of 670,860 shares of $5 par common stock. Dividends of 25 cents were paid March 10 and May 13 and a total of $1.75 was paid in 1942. Dividends have been paid each year since 1936.

STEELS AND RAIL STOCKS SLIDE; AUTOS SET HIGHS

Price Changes Are Small in Most Cases.

New York, June 2 (AP).—Steels and rails led a moderate decline of stock market leaders today, altho a large number of issues headed by the motors managed to hold even or advance a bit. Price changes were narrow in most cases.

Activity picked up around noon when plus signs were fairly plentiful, then tapered off. Transactions amounted to 1,310,490 shares, against 1,259,600 Tuesday.

Lack of support, rather than particularly heavy selling, appeared to account for the soft spots. Indications were that many investors were just standing by pending clarification of the soft coal wage controversy.

Against the trend, gains of fractions to 2 points and new highs for the year were scored by General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, Oliver Farm, Philip Morris, American Can, and Johns-Manville.

BOND MARKET NARROW.

New York, June 2 (AP).—Investment demand continued today in the high priced sections of the bond market, but the more actively traded issues moved within narrow limits.

The utility bonds in the Associated Press averages set a new 1943 top at 103.6 and the low yield [high priced] group equaled its high for the year at 114.4. Sales of $9,710,800 compared with $7,757,300 on Tuesday.

CHICAGO PRICES RISE.

Chicago Stock exchange prices advanced yesterday on turnover of 51,000 shares. Among the more actively traded issues were Libby, McNeill & Libby, up ⅛ to a new 1943 high of 7½; Armour, up ⅜; Miller & Hart, down ⅛, and Chicago corporation and Central and Southwest Utilities, unchanged. Fourteen issues reached new highs.

HOG PRICES DIP WITHIN 5 CENTS OF YEAR'S LOW

A decline which carried hog prices to within about 5 cents a hundred pounds of the lowest in almost six months brought big buying orders from the nation's biggest packing companies yesterday, which resulted in some steady closing prices.

The average, $14.25, was off only 5 cents, but was only 5 cents higher than the 1943 low. Prices follow:

Hogs—Receipts, 24,000; shipments, 500.

Bulk of sales	$14.20@14.30
Month ago	14.50@14.65

*Top yesterday, $16.00; average, $15.50.

Tool and Diemakers

For the past three generations this company has had the distinction of having unusual prosperity during depression periods. This we feel is mainly due to the fact that our products, because they are low in cost, reach every home in America and the four corners of the earth as well. From time to time as we take on new lines, we are compelled to increase our staff of tool and diemakers. It has always been a source of much concern that we obtain the right men in order that our products might retain the same high standard that they have enjoyed all these years. Right now we are looking for men who have very definite domestic responsibilities and wish to settle down to a permanent job. On all of these jobs the men themselves will decide on how much overtime they will put in. Please give complete details in first letter as every applicant will receive honest consideration. This company not only preaches the Golden Rule but practices and enforces it as well. Address B N 123, Tribune.

MONEY FOR INCOME TAXES
DUE JUNE 15
Higher living costs and larger pay roll deductions may make it difficult for you to pay the 2d installment of your Federal Income Taxes on June 15th. If so, get the cash you need from Commonwealth. Our monthly rate is only 3% on balances of $150 or less, and 2½% on that part of the unpaid balance over $150, which makes the cost quite moderate for short term loans. Repay us in convenient installments . . . it is decidedly more convenient and far less burdensome than making a large lump-sum payment, and besides, you can rid yourself of other troublesome bills at the same time. Get any amount, $20 to $300.
